VOTING MONDAY

Liberals Set Sights On Three Byelections

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Voters in three rural constituencies in Eastern Canada go to the polls Monday to elect new members of Parliament.

A Liberal sweep of the three byelections would bring the minority Pearson government closer to its long-sought Commons majority. Opposition gains, on the other hand, would be a blow to the government's prestige.

It is the government's first test at the polls since the general election of last Nov. 8.

The seats at stake are Burin-Burgeo and Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador in Newfoundland and Nicolet-Yamaska in Quebec's Eastern Townships.

The Newfoundland ridings have elected Liberals by heavy majorities since the province joined Confederation in 1949 Nicolet-Yamaska has been held by Progressive Conservatives since 1957.

Campaigning has been minimal in the sprawling, remote Newfoundland ridings, but a hot five-way fight developed in Nicolet-Yamaska, a dairy farming area.

BRING IN BIG GUNS

Liberals dispatched teams of cabinet ministers, senators, MPs and party organizers to the Quebec riding in an all-out bid to wipe out a margin of 5,644 votes piled up by Conservative Clement Vincent in the November general election.

Mr. Vincent resigned his seat last May to run in the Quebec election. Now agriculture minister in the Union Nationale government, he is campaigning hard for the Conservative candidate, along with many Union Nationale supporters.

Long a Liberal seat, Nicolet-Yamaska was captured for the Conservatives in 1957 by the late Paul Comtois, who later became federal mines minister and lieutenant-governor of Quebec. He died in January when fire razed his official residence.

The Liberal candidate, Florian Cote, a 37-year-old farmer active in agricultural organizations, has based his campaign largely on Liberal farm programs and an alleged Conservative split.

10,000 Perish From Starvation

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—More than 10,000 persons starved to death in 35 villages checked between last November and April on the small island of Lombok, figures showed today.

Dr. Arbain Yusuf, provincial health director for the island, said the figures were the result of a detailed study in only 35 of more than 150 villages in the island's famine belt.

Yusuf's report appeared to give new credence to a student claim from the island that more than 29,000 people died in the same period throughout the whole famine belt.

Lombok, with a population of 1,500,000 people, also is seriously hit by disease.

However, only half the island is short of food. The northern part of the island has two crops of rice a year and the people are hoarding it from those starving just a few miles away.

Yusuf already has predicted 100,000 people will be facing starvation by December unless aid comes soon.

By January, he said, 80 per cent of them will be dead unless given help.

Key reason for the starvation of Lombok is the lack of water in the south. The south relies on rain to grow its one crop a year but last winter's rain was light and the crop small. All that food now is nearly gone and there will be no more until next May when the next crop is harvested.

The north, however, gets water from the mountains. But the northerners use it all for their crops and none is turned in to the south.

TWINS CLINGING TO LIFE AFTER 6 HOURS SURGERY

BULLETIN

TORONTO (CP) — Surgeons at the Hospital for Sick Children today successfully separated the McGee Siamese twins in an operation that lasted from 9 a.m. until 3:25 p.m. EDT.

TORONTO — Canadian Siamese twins Sherry Ann and Crystal Ann McGee, clinging desperately to life, were still on the operating table at Toronto's hospital for sick children after six hours of vital surgery today.

The first bulletin on the twins' progress, released this afternoon by hospital administrator John Law said the three-month old babies were both in satisfactory condition.

At that stage of the intricate operation the large medical team, led by Dr. James L. Simpson, had successfully separated the twins' fused livers and was making a start on the crucial heart operation.

The twins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McGee of Guelph, Ont., who were at the hospital an hour before the 9 a.m. operation managed slight smiles of relief as first word came of their daughters' condition.

As the teams of surgeons, heart specialists, anesthetists, after-care specialists and nurses assembled in the hospital's largest operating room, a hospital spokesman said the twins where "as strong as they will ever be" for the operation.

The normally muted hospital corridors were almost silent at tension from the drama that was beginning spread throughout the building.

The twins were born June 2.

Months of study, testing and practice preceded the operation, but there was much that could be learned only as the work went on.

China Power Battle Aimed at Mao Ouster

CBC Faces Strike Threat

TORONTO (CP) — Cameramen and other technicians may vote early next week to strike against the CBC and disrupt television broadcasting.

Spokesmen for the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians said Friday night their 1,785 members likely would reject the majority wage recommendation of a conciliation board.

The walkout could hit CBC production centres across the country as early as next Friday—seven days after release of the report.

The board proposed three wage increases of 7½ per cent with the first retroactive to Jan. 1 and the last coming Oct. 1, 1967. The union nominee to the board filed a separate report urging a three-part wage increase totalling 28⅛ per cent over two years.

A CBC spokesman said the corporation had accepted the board's proposal.

The corporation is negotiating with four other unions: the Canadian Wire Service Guild, representing newsmen; International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees; Association of Radio and Television Employees of Canada, representing announcers and clerical workers; and the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists.

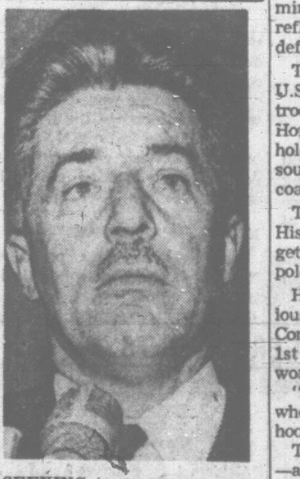
All four unions say they will not cross NABET picket lines if a strike is called.

CANADA VISIT BY LBJ SEEN

WASHINGTON (CP)—There are strong suspicions here that President Johnson may make his first formal visit to Canada next year, the country's 100th birthday.

The probable attraction, it is assumed, will be Expo 67 at Montreal where the United States will have a $9,000,000 pavilion.

His two visits to Canada—to British Columbia in 1964 and Campobello Island in New Brunswick last August—were for hours only.



SEEKING to encourage more Japanese immigration to Canada Immigration Minister Jean Marchand arrived in Tokyo today for an official four-day visit. On Monday he will meet Japanese Foreign Minister Shiina.

VENERABLE BUDDHIST WOULD HALT REVOLT

SAIGON (Reuters) — Influential Buddhist monk Thich (venerable) Tham Chau today called for a temporary suspension of the Buddhist campaign against the South Vietnamese government.

Tam Chau said in an interview that the struggle against the Saigon regime should be halted until a national Buddhist conference could be called to discuss the unified church's relations with the country's rulers.

Tam Chau said the failure of the Buddhist anti-government campaign this spring had weakened the church and he hoped "there will be a reconciliation between the government and the Buddhist church."

Kenya Worried By Arms Buildup

LONDON (AP)—Vice - President Joseph Murumbi of Kenya says a Soviet arms buildup in northeast Africa threatens a stranglehold on the Suez Canal.

In an interview Friday after the close of the Commonwealth conference, Murumbi said the Russians have recently shipped a large supply of arms into Somalia, the desert republic on Kenya's northern frontier.

"These supplies are far in excess of Somalia's internal needs," he asserted. "It is obvious they are going to use them."

"The real danger," he said, "is that the Russians will establish themselves in the horn of Africa and thus win control of the Aden straits and the canal and place the oil interests of the west in the Arabian gulf in danger."

MiG DOWNED BY MISSILE NEAR HANOI

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots downed a Communist MiG in one of two dogfights over North Viet Nam Friday, but two American planes were lost in other action over the north, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

The Soviet - built MiG was knocked out of the sky by a heat-seeking Sidewinder missile in an engagement northeast of Hanoi in which three Americans were outnumbered by four MiG-17s. The pilot of the crippled MiG bailed out.

An air force spokesman said the two downed American planes brought to 375 the number lost over North Viet Nam.

Party Purge Continuing

HONG KONG (UPI)—Powerful "enemies" within the Chinese Communist Party are plotting the overthrow of Mao Tse-Tung, the official magazine of the central committee said today.

It indicated Red China was in the throes of a titanic power struggle with Mao's purge of his opponents far from over.

The authoritative publication Red Flag repeatedly defined the "enemies" of Mao and his apparent heir, Defence Marshal Lin Piao, as "including partyholders in the highest posts."

They were not named, however.

Observers here said logically this would be the clearest indication yet that President Lin Shao-Chi and those closest to him are leaders in the struggle for power being waged in mainland China.

Lin was regarded for years as Mao's heir-apparent and his recent downgrading in favor of Lin Piao appeared to support this thesis.

The editorial was published in Peking newspapers and relayed by Radio Peking in domestic broadcasts monitored in Hong Kong.

Observers here said the editorial indicated that the youthful Red Guard movement had failed to intimidate elements within the party which had voiced opposition to some of Mao's policies.

(Soviet newspapers today carried denunciations of Mao and his "cultural revolution" by the British, Spanish, Czech and Bulgarian Communist parties. The British charged the campaign was aimed at the "deification" of Mao and wiping out opposition to his "fanatical, anti-Soviet" policy.)

HIGHEST LEVEL

The editorial in effect was an admission by Mao and Lin Piao that they still faced powerful and dangerous opposition.

Observers said it also made clearer than ever that the power struggle began at the highest party levels and obviously goes down to the rice roots.

WIRE BRIEFS

Okanagan Launched

CHATHAM, England (UPI)—The Oberon-class submarine "Okanagan" was launched at Chatham dockyard today for the Canadian Navy. It was the third sub of its class to be launched at Chatham for Canada and will be ready for service in about a year.

Fishermen Mutiny

TOKYO (AP) — Four crew members of a North Korean fishing boat mutinied in the Yellow Sea, killed seven military guards on their craft and sailed into Japan seeking political asylum, the Japanese Maritime Safety Agency reported today.

YOUNGEST CONG PRISONER

Boy, 14, Booby-Trap Expert

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP)—The faces of the prisoners were mirrors of the war in Viet Nam, reflecting innocence, apathy, defiance and fear.

They had been captured by U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops driving through The Horseshoe, a Viet Cong stronghold pocked with caves 15 miles south of Da Nang near the seacoast.

The youngest prisoner was 14. His ankles were strapped together, the straps tied to a tent pole.

He stared, wide-eyed and curious, as marines of Charlie Company, 1st Battalion of the 1st Marines went about their work.

"He looks like a schoolboy who got caught playing hookey," a marine said.

The boy had attended school—a Viet Cong demolition school where guerrillas taught him how to make bombs with TNT, how to plant mines, and set up elaborate booby traps.

He was seized by Vietnamese soldiers as he lay submerged in a pond breathing through a reed. At first he denied working with the guerrillas. Then he agreed to lead marines to a cave where he said the Viet Cong had tortured their captives.

LED INTO TRAP

Instead of taking marines to a cave, however, he led them into a mine field he had laid. One marine was wounded when a mine exploded. After more questioning, the boy told of his schooling in explosives and showed the marines where he had placed a dozen mines and booby traps.

Nearby, a 20-year-old prisoner in black shirt and shorts squatted under a tent, his arms bound behind him, and glared at passersby. He accepted a cup of water but refused a cigarette.

Once his lower lip curled as if he might cry but he shook his head and thrust out his chin.

Vietnamese troops had taken him on a leash, back into the area where he had been captured, to see if he would point out any guerrilla caves or mines. He did not co-operate.

A third prisoner, a 45-year-old man, peered at his feet. His information, marines said, had led to the capture of the 20-year-old youth. Yet, the man was believed to have been the Viet Cong security chief in Ha Gia hamlet.

Now, his hands tied and his back turned to the two young prisoners, he inhaled on a cigarette put into his mouth, and rubbed a bare toe against another, appearing as contented as if he just had his morning tea.

Hot Dogs Too Hot To Handle?

By JIM HUME

Times City Hall Reporter

After that hectic swing through the hinterlands of B.C. with NDP leader Robert Strachan the quiet corridors of city hall appear more somnolent than every.

Back at my first meeting in committee room after a month's absence — two weeks holiday and two exhausting weeks in the wake of a hurry-hurry-hurry socialist — the steady but sometimes pontifical pace at "the hall" hadn't changed much.

Hume

A decision to get on with the re-decking of Johnson Street Bridge (cost $61,000) passed through committee without a murmur.

* * *

A decision on whether council should permit the Victoria Hornets juvenile football team to sell hotdogs at McDonald Park bogged down in a morass of mustard and relish.

It was ever thus. The big ones pose few problems, the little ones seem to cause council members to boggle in their tracks.

I hope the Hornets aren't waiting with bated breath for a council decision. If they are they'll have little wind left to play their games for their questioning letter was received and filed — after a great deal of discussion.

Only Ald. Michael Griffin, father of a gaggle of boys and girls and therefore an expert on hotdogs, was in favor of letting the Hornets peddle their half-time snacks.

For the rest of the public works committee — and for city manager Dennis Young — the hotdog stand posed a serious health problem.

When would they buy the hotdogs? Where would they store them? How would they cook them?

Soft drinks would be fine, hot coffee would be fine, prepackaged sandwiches would be fine. But the lowly weiner nestling between its bun well laced with trimmings, ha, that would be almost as bad as polluting the Gorge or the waters of McCaulay and Clover Points.

And no respecting municipal administration would permit that to happen.

* * *

With a month of disuse it might be thought that the crystal ball used from time to time to fearlessly forecast the future has grown a cover of dust.

Not so.

The easy task given the sphere this week was to tell us what the future held for Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior medical health officer for the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health.

A cloudy forecast with, so far as Victoria is concerned, no reading beyond the end of December.

It should be said that if Dr. Whitbread is perturbed about the growing antagonism by Victoria council members towards his administration he is doing a remarkably competent job of covering it up.

But, and we should be polite on this, relations between the medical officer and his senior governing body, are far from amicable.

To date there is little doubt that council's growing concern has been well justified. But there is a shadow of doubt hanging over the latest rap on the knuckles administered Thursday morning.

That was when Dr. Whitbread asked permission to attend the one day health board conference in Penticton. Permission, as reported earlier, was refused almost petulantly.

* * *

Maybe there is method in the council decision to back Dr. Whitbread into line on small as well as larger issues. But Thursday's decision did smack of "I won't let you play with my ball" particularly when it is remembered that a whole flock of elected officials and city employees will be in Penticton for three days next week attending the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention.

The other candidates are Georges-Henri Forcier of the New Democratic Party and Georges Grenier, who is waging his 15th campaign on behalf of his own monetary theories.

CREDITISTES SIT OUT

The party vote in Nicolet-Yamaska last Nov. 8 was Conservative 11,734, Liberal 6,090, Creditiste 365 and NDP 210. The Creditistes are not contesting the seat this time, saying it is not worth the effort since it disappears in the redistribution effective at the next general election.

In Burin - Burgeo, only two candidates have entered the race. Don Jamieson, 44, a St. John's broadcasting executive and close friend of Premier Joseph Smallwood, leads the Liberals against Conservative Eric Hiscock, 45-year-old insurance agent.

Mr. Hiscock ran as Social Credit candidate last November and collected 444 votes, compared with 11,350 for Liberal Chesley Carter and 3,373 for a Conservative. Mr. Carter was named to the Senate in July after serving 17 years in the Commons.

In Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador, the NDP is making its debut in Newfoundland federal politics with candidate, Lorne Snell. He is opposed by Liberal Andrew Chatwood and Conservative Thomas Pitcher.

Last November, Liberal Charles Granger trounced Mr. Pitcher by a margin of 12,207 votes. Mr. Granger entered provincial politics last month and now is minister of Labrador affairs.

Standings in the 265-seat Commons: Liberals 128, Conservatives 96, NDP 21, Creditistes 8, Social Credit 5, Independents 3, vacant 4.

The fourth vacancy is Hull, Que., caused by the death of veteran Liberal MP Alexis Caron Aug. 31. No byelection has been called yet.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Rain and gales occurred over most of southwestern B.C. this morning as a disturbance crossed the south coast. The rain has been heaviest along the West Coast of Vancouver Island where Spring Island has had 1.15 inches. However elsewhere on the south coast the rain has been quite light with less than one tenth of an inch in the last 24 hours. Some shower activity is expected in the interior late today as the disturbance moves inland. Behind this weather system the winds will gradually subside in coastal areas and the rain will ease off to scattered showers.

Reeve Bryant Surrenders Election Post

Esquimalt Reeve Ray Bryant has informed the federal government he will be unable to continue as returning officer for Victoria.

"My added responsibilities as reeve of Esquimalt make it impossible for me to carry on as Victoria riding returning officer," Mr. Bryant said today.

"I explained my situation to Ottawa when I was approached to continue in the job."

As a consequence of the major redistribution of federal ridings which became law in July — and will automatically take effect when the next writ for a federal election is issued — appointments must be made of returning officers for all 264 ridings represented in the new house.

Reports from Ottawa indicate that 103 appointments have already been made.

The appointments will likely not be announced until the next general election.

Carvers Honored

A special award has been made to Victoria totem carver Henry Hunt for three totems carved by him and erected on the Route of the Totems.

The award, given for the best of 19 totems, was presented to Mr. Hunt at the unveiling of his third totem at Swartz Bay Thursday.

Other carvers honored in the B.C. Centennial committee-sponsored competition, designed to provide the best examples of the Indian art along the route from Victoria to Kelsey Bay, were Simon Charlie of Duncan and James Sewid of Alert Bay.

Mr. Charlie was recognized for the use of a different technique in his work — the carving of a totem around its entire girth.

Mr. Sewid was honored for marshalling a team of novice carvers to help him in his project.

Judges in the contest were anthropologist Wilson Duff and Indian artist and elder statesman George Clutesi.

New Accountant For Securities

Earl T. Jewitt has been appointed audit accountant in the B.C. securities branch, Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced Friday.

Mr. Jewitt was formerly comptroller with the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Toronto. He will do the accounting in the securities office, with particular emphasis on the examining of prospectuses.

Analyst's Comments

By HAL MALONE

FIRST RACE—Donna doesn't seem to like any part of mud but on a firm track she could be the one they'll have to beat. Spuddy drew the post for his early speed. Bo Jester takes a while to get going; if Finley can rouse him in time he could be a factor. Night Rambler could show late if he gets in. But we see it . . . DONANA (Night Rambler, Bo Jester).

SECOND RACE—Except for one question, Ana Cha Tay looks good enough to repeat her mud win here. The question: will anything run with her out of the gate? Lees Time has the speed but sometimes forgets to make the turns. Murrayville, if he gets in, has shown quickness against slightly better. Arigato seems to be coming up to a good one and Casey's Dream gets closer but they both would benefit from an early speed duel . . . ANA CHA TAY (Arigato, Casey's Dream).

THIRD RACE—Most of these like to go to the front but not all have the stamina to stick it out. Feldspar, Miss Onslaught, Sans Brazil, Katsie Chief and Slippin In will probably be tooth-and-jaw out of the gate and the one in the best position when they go into the first turn could lead them a merry chase. If they knock one another off the race could be set up for Kimbrook who hasn't charged strongly enough to win. But he's dropping down and his class may carry him home . . . KIMBROOK (Miss Onslaught).

FOURTH RACE—Ordinarily a speed horse breaking from the outside isn't our dish, especially on a track with tight turns. But unless something comes alive Malheur Kitten could be winging alone. Whaang Leather showed zip last year and Dark Ginger does not come out of the gate with ankles tied together. Son of Donn could scare people if he has a late rally left and Glad Roman comes from left field, but usually too late . . . MALHEUR KITTEN (Son of Donn).

FIFTH RACE — Sid-A-Way switches to Trejos today and if Rogelio can pick his way through the traffic that could be it. Jet Copter, Dark Doll and Miracle Cross are usually somewhere close but like most of these they don't have impressive kicks. Evidently throws a good one now and then and the same goes for Mr. True Blue . . . SID-A-WAY (Miracle Cross).

SIXTH RACE—It will be interesting to see what they do with Some Standard. They took the mare off the pace last out and she closed for third. That strategy would seem to suit her better from the outside. The main speed could be Western Monarch, but he has to overcome the post. Scuzem shakes them if he's at his best and Farjean comes off a win but the others aren't gems of consistency . . . SOME STANDARD (Western Monarch, Souzem).

SEVENTH RACE—All Danger was so impressive in his last—he was on the extreme outside while driving—that he has to be feared most here. Bonus Ghost, Mystic Flash and Shezadorin assure crisp fractions. The handicapper obviously thinks The Mouse has some tiger blood in him — why else 123 pounds? These are a little tougher than All Danger beat but if Cormack can save ground and do some broken-field running that may be good enough . . . ALL DANGER (Mystic Flash, The Mouse.)

EIGHTH RACE — If it stays fast—she seems to skate when it even gets cloudy overhead—Never Last may prove she was misnamed. She's proven it twice this year—on dry surfaces. Mustard Call should be the principal danger late. Ginguna has a look with these. . . . NEVER LAST (Mustard Call).

Friday Night Celebrants Face Sad Day

A Friday night on the town brought Saturday morning courtroom appearances for three men charged with driving offences.

George Morgan, 1468 Thurlow, was fined $300 and received a four-month licence suspension when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Court was told Morgan was caught by Saanich police shortly after midnight at Agnes and Blanshard where he was in an argument with three other occupants of his truck.

He told police he had "possiby" 16 beers.

Magistrate J. A. Byers passed the same sentence on a man who went through a stop sign on Vancouver St. at 8:15 p.m. Friday.

Delmar Gossel, 502 Richmond, pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

HIT AND RUN

Sentence on Mervin Kurst, 1111 Oxford, charge with failing to remain at the scene of an accident will be given Friday after an examination of his driving record.

Court was told Kurst hit a car parked on St. Patrick St., but denied being involved in the collision when checked later.

Police said he was intoxicated when questioned at his home.

PAINTER, 82, HURT IN FALL

An 82-year-old man who fell seven feet from a scaffolding Friday while painting his house is in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Albert Brownsey, 3424 Doncaster, suffered two broken ribs in the mishap.

Reds Expected to Ease UN Peacekeeping Deficit

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Russia and Hungary are expected to make voluntary contributions soon to ease the United Nations peacekeeping deficit, UN informants say.

They anticipated the contributions would be forthcoming in the next week or two, to fulfil vague, general commitments made over a year ago. The UN General Assembly session opens Tuesday.

Eastern European sources expressed belief the contributions would be made before next weekend by Hungarian Foreign Minister Janos Peter and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Some Eastern Europeans said the purpose was to encourage U Thant of Burma to accept a second term as secretary-general and to spotlight the United States as the main barrier to his doing that.

Thant gave notice Sept. 1 that he had decided against a second term. His current term expires Nov. 3. He cited such problems as a UN deficit, poor prospects for future UN peacekeeping activities, lack of universality in UN membership and the threat of a major war over Viet Nam as influencing his decision.

The Soviet bloc and France created the financial deficit by refusing to pay disputed UN General Assembly assessments for peacekeeping purposes. They differ with the majority over how to authorize new operations in that field.

3.3 MILLION TO GAZE ON BENNETT

A painting of Premier Bennett will appear on the front cover of all editions of the Sept. 30 issue of Time magazine.

The world section of this issue of Time which has a circulation of 3,344,000, will be devoted to the four western provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

"Premier Bennett was chosen for the cover picture because he is the most dynamic of the leaders from this region," a Time spokesman said Friday.

Most of the material on Western Canada was gathered by Ed Ogle, chief of Time's bureau in Calgary.

Premier Bennett's portrait was painted by Henry Koerner of Pittsburgh.

. . . CHINA

Alluding to the successful diversion of some of the Red Guard activities by the intended targets, the magazine said, "the problem if direction is the most important thing in the current cultural revolutionary struggle."

"We must, according to the teachings of Mao Tse-tung be very able to distinguish who are our enemies and who are our friends," Red Flag quoted Lin Piao as saying.

UNITE MAJORITY

"We must unite the majority for destroying the bourgeois elements and for completely destroying those power holders who tread the path of capitalism inside the party," Lin Piao said.

"Therefore," Red Flag added, "the revolutionary masses and revolutionary youth must master this primary direction of the current cultural revolutionary struggle."

"One longtime expert of China said it was significant that the editorial referred to the intrigues in the present tense.

"This certainly seems to indicate that they have not been successful in eliminating many important opponents," he said.

STAYING IN HOT WATER
IS A MODERN ESSENTIAL

A constant supply of hot water has become an accepted thing in home, office or factory.

Gone are the days when the supply of hot water vanished when the kitchen stove went out.

Today, streamlined and thermostatically-controlled hot-water tanks make it possible to wash the dishes, take a bath or wash the floor at any hour of the day (or night, if you like bathing after dark).

There are times of course when, to the great alarm of the housewife, the supply fails.

At such times the husband usually has a bit of a tinker (foolishly) with the tank. But eventually, he sighs and calls a plumber.

Why? Because a modern hot-water tank is not just a receptacle for water. It is a complicated bit of equipment which requires skilled attention and a high degree of technical knowledge to understand.

That skill and knowledge is provided by the journeymen mechanics who today make up the vast army of plumbers and pipefitters who keep our homes and communities functioning.

'Stop Savage Action'

GRENADA, Miss. (AP)—A federal judge has made permanent his order that Grenada officials protect Negro children from "savage and senseless" attack by white men.

Judge Claude Clayton, issued his order Friday night in Oxford, 45 miles to the north. He said the violence Monday and Tuesday was "the shame of all who occupy leadership, both officials and civic, in the county and the city of Grenada."

He referred to attacks on Negro children outside newly desegregated schools by white men swinging axe handles and chains.

The ruling came after two days of testimony on the violence. In many instances, police merely watched the attacks, witnesses said.

Grenada officials would be exposed to contempt of court action by failure to obey the injunction. The possible consequences were emphasized when Judge Clayton sentenced Grenada Constable Grady Carroll to four months in prison for contempt.

Carroll had refused to accept a federal court subpoena and punched a lawyer who tried to serve it on him.

Meanwhile, civil rights leaders have scheduled four daytime protest marches in this north Mississippi city of 8,000.

Hosea Williams, a top lieutenant to Dr. Martin Luther King in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the drive now centres on adequate housing, a "living wage," and equal justice.

4 to 1 Odds Against Viet Cong

SAIGON (Reuters)—The Combined forces of five allied nations in South Viet Nam now total more than 1,000,000 men, and the buildup continued this week with the arrival of troops from the fifth foreign country, The Philippines.

An unofficial compilation of the latest figures issued by the military command here today gave the following breakdown:

United States: 308,000 men.

South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and The Philippines: 41,000.

Regular South Vietnamese armed forces: 317,000.

South Vietnamese paramilitary "regional force" and "popular force" militia: 280,000.

American-led "special forces" troops (mostly Montagnard hill tribesmen): 31,000.

National police: 55,000.

These figures, which do not include 57,000 armed South Vietnamese rural pacification workers and 70,000 men of the U.S. 7th Fleet, total 1,032,000.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces in the country are estimated at 282,000.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN INDIAN ACT URGED

VANCOUVER (CP)—Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing will be asked to consider sweeping changes in the federal Indian Act giving tribal councils more power over administration of funds and property.

Delegates to a two-day meeting of the regional Indian Advisory Council approved resolutions urging changes in the Indian Act. The delegates, elected by tribal councils and bands, represent more than 45,000 Indians throughout B.C. and the Yukon.

"We're not at liberty to say specifically what the charges are that we are recommending, but they are quite substantial," a spokesman for the advisory council said.

The spokesman said the charges deal primarily with property administration and funds, but also touch on such subjects as federal aid to Indian housing, health and welfare and community development.

RUSK WILL TALK WITH GROMYKO

New Attempt by U.S. To Contain N-Arm

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk plans a new effort in New York next week to persuade Russia to conclude a treaty against spreading nuclear weapons—without linking that issue to West Germany's role in the Atlantic Alliance.

"If the Soviet Union and others want to talk about the problem of proliferation," Rusk told a press conference Friday, "they will find that the United States is willing to go all the way to ensure that there is no proliferation of nuclear weapons."

Rusk is scheduled to go to New York this weekend for conferences with other foreign ministers on hand for the opening of the United Nations General Assembly Tuesday.

One of those he is known to be most interested in meeting is Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko. Officials say the nuclear weapons issue and other disarmament questions will be high on the agenda of any Rusk-Gromyko meeting, along with the question of peace possibilities in Viet Nam.

The United States and its NATO allies have discussed setting up an allied nuclear weapons system which would include Germany, but various plans have been shelved.

A reporter asked Rusk whether chancellor Ludwig Erhard might be told by President Johnson that Germany is not "to get a finger on the trigger" of nuclear weapons under NATO.

The secretary replied that the United States has never discussed in NATO or elsewhere "any arrangement that would involve . . . the transfer of nuclear weapons into the hands of non-nuclear powers or the transfer of control of those weapons into the hands of non-nuclear powers."

In past negotiations the Soviet Union has consistently linked the treaty proposal and the German - NATO question, contending that the United States intends to provide West Germany with nuclear weapons.

BID for presidency of Quebec Liberal Federation, at its annual convention in Montreal Nov. 18, will be made by Eric Kierans, former Quebec health minister. Others seeking post will include Marc Briers and Philippe Casgrain, both Montreal lawyers.

Viet Peace Efforts By Asians Welcomed

WASHINGTON (CP - AP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk says the United States welcomes efforts of Asian leaders to arrange Viet Nam peace talks.

Rusk was asked at a press conference Friday about a call by visiting Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos for "a continuing dialogue between North and South Viet Nam and step by step movement toward negotiated peace."

The secretary replied, "We, of course, would welcome any contacts that would elicit from Hanoi a readiness to talk about a peaceful settlement in Southeast Asia."

"It is not my impression that the government of The Philippines has found thus far a response from Hanoi. But this is one of the possibilities that ought to be kept open. All possibilities ought to be kept open."

Marcos, appearing before the National Press Club in Washington, said a negotiated peace is the only logical solution to the Viet Nam struggle.

ANNIHILATION POSSIBLE

"Victory is the ultimate aim, yes," he said, "but we must remember that there would be total annihilation of the world if there is continued escalation of the war."

Marcos also said he is gravely concerned over the apparent failure of economic reforms in South Viet Nam.

At his press conference, Rusk described Communist China as "a major obstacle to settlement" of the war.

West Germany Rejuvenates Armed Forces

BONN (Reuters)—West Germany Friday swept aside 14 of its older military leaders to make way for new blood.

A defence ministry statement said 14 senior officers in all branches of the armed forces have reached retirement age and will be replaced by younger men.

Observers said it was the biggest move made by West Germany yet toward rejuvenating the leadership of the 436,000-man Bundeswehr and a comprehensive step towards replacing the blood-and-iron tradition of the military's past with the youth and brains of the younger generation.

Six army generals, four air force generals, two admirals and two medical corps officers would have reached retirement age of between 56 and 60 by the end of this month, the ministry said.

Among them are Maj. - Gen. Hermann Aldinger, squadron general at the Luftwaffe office, Lt.-Gen. Wilhelm Meyer - Detring, commanding general of the 1st Army Corps, and Vice-Admiral Heinrich Gerlach, commander of the fleet.

At the height of the recent defence crisis—in which three top generals resigned — Defence Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel promised to inject fresh blood into the Bundeswehr.

The defence ministry is aiming to project a "civilian in uniform" image for the armed forces.

Martin To Open New Clinic

Health Minister Eric Martin on Monday will open the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society's new treatment clinic in the Gorge Road Rehabilitation Hospital.

The ribbon-cutting is scheduled for 8 p.m.

During the opening ceremony Douglas Rotary Club president George Steele will present a check for $10,000 to CARS on behalf of the club.

The CARS Clinic last year provided 3,269 treatments in the clinic, in patients' homes and in private hospitals.

CARRIERS BOYCOTT ONTARIO NEWSPAPER

WELLAND (CP)—About 40 newspaper delivery boys are boycotting the offices of the Tribune in a bid for increased wages and better working conditions.

Carrier Robert Ott, 13, said Friday the boys are seeking an increase of two cents a customer over their present five-cent level—the Tribune is 10 cents daily or 50 cents weekly—and also want the newspaper to provide free canvas bags, now sold for $1 each.

He said the boys also want permission to wait inside the Tribune office while awaiting papers in cold weather.

Commonwealth Weathers Test, Says PM on Return

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson returned from London Friday night, satisfied that the Commonwealth had weathered one of its toughest tests ever.

There were times when it appeared as though "the conference, if not the Commonwealth, was going to break up" over the thorny question of what to do about Rhodesia, Mr. Pearson told an airport news conference.

But the representatives of the 26 countries were able to work out an arrangement "which minimizes the difficulties and maximizes the areas of agreement."

ASKED ABOUT REPORT

He was asked whether he had yet received a copy of the report of Mr. Justice Wishart Spence on the Gerda Munsinger affair.

"No, I have not."

In an obvious reference to reports that the findings of Justice Spence's investigations into the relationship of the German blonde with former Conservative cabinet ministers had been forwarded to him in London, he added:

"I hope sometime someone will believe me."

He also was asked about the announcement in the Commons shortly after he left Ottawa that the medical care insurance program's effective date would be set back a year, to July 1, 1968.

The reporter who asked about this said that among some Liberals postponement of a plan that was a major party election plank was sparking insurrection.

"That's your word," Mr. Parson said in reply. He added that he knew about Finance Minister Sharp's speech postponing medical care before he left for London and had approved it.

He was questioned about another move by Mr. Sharp, asking the Steel Company of Canada to reconsider its recently announced hike in steel prices.

Mr. Pearson said because of the rapid developments, he was not informed about this step until Mr. Sharp had taken it. But he was very much in favor.

Then he spoke for several minutes about the achievements of the London conference, where he was given a major share of the credit for keeping the split over what to do about the white supremacist Ian Smith regime in Rhodesia from growing into an unbridgeable chasm.

The conference was "the most difficult, complex and the most rugged I have ever attended."

Success Must Be Mutual

PREMIER JOHNSON'S RECENT statements have brought renewed prominence to the "Quebec problem" by drawing a new boundary line for French-Canadian political aspirations. That line is apparently short of the complete sovereignty demanded by the separatist element in Quebec. But it is far out in front of the concepts of Confederation held by most English-Canadians; it is likewise far in advance of many of the intents embodied in the British North America Act, Canada's constitution.

One belief should be firmly held in any discussion of Quebec's future: there can be no thought of a political separation to the point of Quebec's becoming a sovereign state. In any long-term thinking, such a break-up could be nothing less than disastrous for the province and for what was left of Canada. The only acceptable discussion for any Canadian must revolve around the conditions on which Quebec will remain within Confederation, and not be concerned with speculation as to whether or not dissolution will take place.

On that basis, the problem becomes a matter of compromise, of reaching agreement on how much autonomy Quebec can successfully exercise within the Confederate framework. Mr. Johnson's position does not seem to have been proposed as a final one: there is considerable room for negotiation. But agreement will call for understanding and compromise on both sides; for long-term rather than short-term planning; for statesmanship rather than politicking.

Nor can the Ottawa approach be one of endless concession and retreat. The federal case must be to seek to preserve a nation — meaning a nation of ten provinces and not a nine-province remnant. But our nationality cannot be preserved by complete appeasement of any part if the demands of sectionalism are destructive of the whole. There are areas in which Quebec's surging racialism can be expressed without serious detriment to the national structure; there are French-Canadian demands which have both logical and constitutional support and could serve to strengthen Confederation rather than weaken it.

Mr. Johnson warns against federal intrusion into provincial affairs, and names university grants and medical care insurance as examples. He also seeks full provincial control of old age pensions, family allowances, research grants, aid to education and similar governmental services. Under the BNA Act such items are concerns of the provinces and there is no constitutional argument on this score.

The federal government's participation in such developments over the years has been mainly because of the large financing involved and because of the desirability of maintaining uniformity in the benefits to be derived by Canadians no matter in which province they may live. In conducting such programs entirely on its own, Quebec might lose out in the latter regard, but that is something which the people of the province would eventually recognize.

Mr. Johnson's insistence on 100 per cent retention of revenue from personal income taxes, succession duties and resource corporation taxes takes little account of the needs of a national government and may be only a bargaining stance. It is not known how many of the people of Quebec support all of Mr. Johnson's ideas, although he claims that 80 per cent of voters in his province would approve what he calls a "two-nation constitution."

It is not too much to assume that the same proportion would also subscribe to Mr. Johnson's declaration that his efforts are "not at all aimed at dismantling Canada." This, of course, assumes also that his aims are not contradictory.

On that basis there is every hope that cool heads and reasonable negotiation can produce an acceptable solution. It will not be the Canada we have known over the past century, but it will not necessarily be a lesser one. It could prove to be even more viable in a world which has changed as much as we have since 1867.

A Test for Mrs. Gandhi

THE FORTHCOMING ANNUAL conference of India's Congress Party, the ruling group in the country, will provide a severe test of the political strength of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi — and indirectly could have grave consequences for India's relations with the West.

When the Indian Parliament adjourned September 9, it was apparent that the legislators were irate over the course on which Mrs. Gandhi had led the country in recent months. Devaluation of the rupee, at the insistence of the International Monetary Fund and, indirectly, the United States, was an unpopular move. Even more humiliating for many proud Indians were the concessions which India was forced to give to American business firms in order to attract investment in fertilizer production so vital to Indian agriculture.

Significantly, observers report, few of Mrs. Gandhi's fellow Congress Party members stood up in Parliament to defend the government, and none of the cabinet members would stand to defend other cabinet members when they were under opposition attack. None, apparently, wished to be associated with the administration when the claim was being made that it was too pro-Western and that the Congress Party's socialist ideals were being sold out for American dollars.

Now the Congress Party president, Mr. Kumaraswami Kamaraj, the powerful politician who engineered Mrs. Gandhi's succession as prime minister, has announced that he has cancelled a long-scheduled visit to the United States. Since he spent several weeks last month touring the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, Mr. Kamaraj's decision not to go to the United States can be taken as a sign that he has sniffed the political winds and decided that a pro-American stance would be an unwise one to take at this time.

The main task of the Congress Party conference will be to hammer out a platform for the Indian elections next February. Two main issues are expected to be nationalization of the banks and ceilings on the earnings of the very wealthy. As well, there will be further debate on devaluation and foreign investment.

If Mrs. Gandhi cannot accept the Congress Party election platform she will have little choice but to resign. She has no direct mandate from the people, only from the party, and she has to face another session of Parliament before the general elections, an impossible task without majority party support.

A Voice That Is Stilled

A DECADE OR TWO AGO the name of Mr. Leonard Brockington had become almost a synonym for excellence in public speaking. He had an impressive mastery of the turn of phrase and the art of delivery. In a wartime and postwar era of orators, Canadians could note with pride the position held by their fellow-countryman among the gifted in the field.

A man of many talents, speech was the medium through which he lent grace to the Canadian scene. A close associate and adviser of Prime Minister King, a man of high organizational capacity, and a successful business man in private life, he gave fluency to a nation frequently considered inarticulate.

At 78, the voice has been stilled. It is nevertheless remembered by those who heard it and took heart when times were critical in war and who found inspiration in it on great occasions.

Clear Water

TORONTO DAILY STAR

CANADA should examine the fine print of President Johnson's invitation to an international conference on water in Washington next May.

In outlining the purpose of the conference. Mr. Johnson said the United States hopes to "focus universal attention on mankind's need for water and to stimulate practical co-operation among all the nations of the world in meeting those needs."

If an international conference is at all necessary, international sponsorship through such an agency as UNESCO would be better than one sponsored by the United States, or any other single county, no matter how noble the intentions.

Canadians particularly cannot help but be wary of Mr. Johnson's conference. While the existence of water shortages in other regions, such as Africa, India and South America is recognized, Canada is well aware of the water shortages building up in the United States, primarily through mismanagement and abuse of the resource through pollution and waste.

The suddenness of Mr. Johnson's invitation demonstrates Canada's vulnerability to American pressures to share our water resource.

The U.S. is already spending hundreds of millions of dollars to clear up its water pollution problem.

American experts insist that even with pollution under control a water shortage will still exist.

Until an economical way is found to remove the salt from sea water for domestic and industrial uses, Canada is the logical source for fresh water in the States.

But Canada has yet to determine just how much water it has and how much it may need in the future.

Until such information is obtained, Canada is in no position to make any international commitments.

MR. SHARP AT THE WHEEL

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Trust the Driver, or All Jump Over the Cliff?

AS often happens if the situation is bad enough, the problems now agitating the Canadian economy have been suddenly identified and simplified, by one man. At this turning point in a dangerous mountain road, we are lucky that Mr. Mitchell Sharp occupies the driver's seat. But can he hold it? Will a frightened govenment let him hold it? Will a bewildered Parliament let him drive? Still more important, will his passenger, the nation, endure the bumps ahead or leap out the back door over the cliff that we usually call inflation?

Hutchison

We don't know yet. Evidently we don't know Mr. Sharp very well, either. Until a few days ago he was generally regarded as a staid civil service type, an economist and technician, an educated but unimaginative organization man who had stumbled into politics without really understanding them. He had no charisma, as the public relations hucksters call it, no sex appeal on television, no actor's face and no future at the apex of leadership. This judgment must now be reversed. Mr. Sharp himself has reversed it overnight.

A man sufficiently honest to admit, within six months, that his spring budget was based on faulty premises, and sufficiently courageous to push a new budget through a divided cabinet in what must have been a sanguinary battle behind the soundproof doors — such a man is obviously much more than a skilled mechanic or an efficient filing clerk. Reluctantly, against all his natural instincts of shyness and modesty. Mr. Sharp has made himself the symbol of the nation's badly shaken sanity, the focal point of its return to reality, if return is still possible.

But his fight is not won by any means. The powers within the Liberal establishment that ensured economic disorder from the beginning are still powerful and, like the Bourbons, have learned and forgotten nothing. If they are to regain their domination, lost with Mr. Walter Gordon's departure, they will have to destroy Mr. Sharp. No doubt they are working on it.

Ostensibly the struggle between the national treasurer who is trying to do the possible and his adversaries who are demanding that Canada do the impossible will be decided in the cabinet, the caucus and the Liberal convention next month.

Decision by Public

This however, is a short view of the political process. In the end the struggle will be decided by the public. Hence the essential question facing Mr. Sharp is whether the public will back or reject him as he attempts, rather late, to lock the barn door before all the horses have escaped.

The question is simple enough in essence. If it were understood one could safely predict the answer from a people who are not as crazy as they have recently looked in the eyes of the world. But the question is not understood, mainly because so many politicians, in all parties, have combined to disguise and obscure it.

The favorite device of Mr. Sharp's enemies (aided by the careless short-hand of the Ottawa journalists) is to describe him as the leader of the Liberal right wing, and Mr. Gordon as the leader of the left. These cliches had little meaning in the past. They have none today in practical politics.

Historically the right meant the power of the privileged classes, the defence of the status quo, the resistance to change. The left meant the aspirations of the common people, the drive for a fairer society, the determination to change the status quo.

If we must define Mr. Sharp in such old-fashioned-terms he is plainly to the left of centre, (but a man who fortunately has not lost his sense of time, arithmetic and actuality. He is prepared, as I understand him, to give the Canadian people every social reform that they can possibly afford, but now he finds that their resources are not sufficient to pay for all his hopeful plans at the moment — unless, of course, they are financed by counterfeit, printing-press money. Therefore, he postpones some of them, raises taxes to stop the printing press and asks Canadians to begin living again within their means. That will be a new experience for the younger generation but a necessary one.

It is absurd to call Mr. Sharp's policy rightist in ideological terms when he is trying, above all, to protect the common man, especially the poor man, but it certainly is the right policy in moral terms. And the real issue before us is moral, as great questions always are. In short, do we have enough morality left in our national character to meet the facts of our life as a people, to pay our bills honestly and to repent our economic sins. We shall soon see the answer in the fate of Mr. Sharp.

It has taken him almost a year to reach his own point of decision. Perhaps he should have reached it sooner but we must remember that until Mr. Gordon precipitated the debacle of the 1965 election Mr. Sharp did not control the treasury or command the ear of the prime minister. When he replaced Mr. Gordon he inherited all the miscalculations and vast commitments of his predecessor. As late as last spring he was still misled by his experts who, like the experts in Washington, London and elsewhere, had totally misread the economic barometer of the world.

Risking Career

The revealing thing about Mr. Sharp, as it seems to an outsider, is not that he made serious mistakes (who didn't?) but that he has the candor to admit them and the will to correct them at the risk of wrecking his public career. For this assuredly is the risk that he has now taken, with open eyes, and with his strongest enemies inside his own party.

We have yet to hear the story of the secret warfare behind the scenes, though we can hear the sound of scuffling and the dull thud of falling bodies, but we are about to witness, on the open stage, a curious human drama. In it Mr. Sharp is cast as the hero by his friends, as the villain by his enemies and possibly as the victim by the chances of politics.

However the unwritten script unfolds, at least we must now see that in Mr. Sharp we have an historic figure, since his success of failure must affect us all for many years to come. We may also have the makings of a leadership lacking far too long in Canada. Anyway, this man has decided to gamble everything on the nation's common sense.

FROM OTTAWA

By MAURICE WESTERN

Politics of Federal-Provincial Disagreement

THERE is always something chaotic about the opening day of a federal-provincial fiscal conference. While the provincial premiers are as one in their desire for more money from the national treasury, they are so divided by regional interests that anything resembling a consensus appears beyond the realm of possibility.

Western

If these divisions did not exist, Mr. Sharp's position at the present meeting would be in some ways even more difficult than it is.

He confronts the premiers at the end of a long era of concessions which have profoundly modified the federal-provincial relationship without achieving lasting solutions. The demands upon him are in fact greater than ever although he has less than ever with which to satisfy them if the essential powers of the federal government are to be maintained.

Fortunately for the minister of finance, some of these demands by the various provinces tend to cancel each other out. The controversy over equalization, for example, has divided the conference into three camps.

In the middle are two satisfied provinces, Quebec — which now qualifies, in effect, for Atlantic province treatment — and New Brunswick. On the one side are Ontario and British Columbia, with Mr. Robarts critical of the formula as over-generous and Mr. Bennett desirous of scrapping equalization altogether. On the other side are Manitoba and Saskatchewan, both protesting that the new arrangement drains too much from hitherto accepted principles of equalization.

Shared Discontents

There are however a number of shared discontents. It seems to be a very general grievance that the federal government, by intruducing its own proposals at this time, has short-circuited the tax committee which had not completed its work according to its terms of reference. This obviously is a convenient supporting argument. Mr. Sharp received protests about procedure because the premiers are unhappy about his proposals.

Certain streams of unhappiness have converged in a manner which is, to say the least, remarkable. The suggestion that the nine provinces should take over responsibility for hospitalization, health grants and the new Canada assistance program has aroused a minimum of enthusiasm. It has been freely criticized as a form of federal contracting out. Even Mr. Johnson is distinctly unhappy about the possibility that Quebec's example may be followed by other provinces. It would be a "roundabout way" of bringing Quebec back into the "common mould". She occupies at the moment a unique position and Mr. Johnson's argument, briefly stated, is vive la difference.

But the great clash at this conference concerns the personal income tax. The attack on Mr. Sharp is led by Mr. Robarts and Mr. Johnson. They are not, however, arguing the same case.

Mr. Sharp's case for preserving at least 50 per cent of the income tax field for Ottawa is largely based upon the conviction that the federal government cannot further weaken its control over one of the great levers for regulating total demand in the economy.

Mr. Robarts agrees that the federal government does have a responsibility for regulating the economy and taking effective anti-cyclical fiscal action. He questions the 50 per cent, claiming that it is an "arbitrary" limit. In part, the difference is one of judgment. It seems clear, however, that Mr. Sharp has not drawn a line merely on the basis of close economic calculations. His objection is to "continuous" abatements of federal income taxes. If he does not stand now on 50 per cent, where will the government stand?

The point is that Mr. Robarts' approach is pragmatic and uncolored by ideology. Mr. Johnson's case is based on the concept of associated states. There can be no meaningful "dialogue" between Mr. Johnson and Mr. Sharp because a great chasm separates them.

It is significant that Mr. Johnson takes particular exception to point four of Mr. Sharp's principles governing federal-provincial fiscal relations. This begins: "They should give to the federal government sufficient fiscal power to discharge its economic and monetary responsibilities, as well as to pay its bills." The Quebec premier rejects the view, common to all the other provinces, that the central government must play this key role in stabilizing the economy. His argument is that the same result could be obtained through federal-provincial consultation and co-operation.

This certainly fits the theory of associated states. Why worry about Ottawa's prerogatives if everything can be achieved through co-operation? Mr. Johnson says: "Specifically, public investment policies, domestic or foreign borrowing policies, monetary and trade policies as well as fiscal policies must be reconciled by means and methods whose lack has been a source of incoherence or inefficiency during the past few years. On some of these matters; as on many others, the Constitution of 1867 remains silent."

Johnson Handicap

And on some, including monetary and trade policies, it is very explicit. But Mr. Johnson suffers from a curious handicap. Whenever, in reading the constitution, he comes to federal powers, the document seems to blur before his eyes.

If the theory of co-operation should be accepted, Ottawa would always be at the mercy of the 10 provinces. Not controlling the economic levers himself, a minister of finance would be helpless unless he could persuade all the governments to use them at the same time and in the same way. But they represent at present four different political parties and there is not even a guarantee that governments of the same persuasion will see eye to eye. Mr. Kierans, as Quebec Liberal minister of finance, was frequently embroiled in quarrels with Ottawa about economic or monetary policy. Mr. Thatcher's views about the course followed by Mr. Gordon were emphatic but not flattering.

Mr. Johnson's theory is a prescription for chaos. But the mild-mannered Quebec leader is an able man and reputed to be a highly practical man. It is strange that, in his confrontation with Mr. Sharp, he is the advocate of a program which affords no basis for negotiation. There is bound to be a suspicion that it was deliberately so designed and that Mr. Johnson is less intent upon influencing Mr. Sharp than he is upon conditioning Quebec voters for another election in which Ottawa will be the whipping boy.

Nature Rambles

By FREEMAN KING

FOR a delightful ramble during the early fall, stroll around the Lyre trail at Francis Park.

Look at the spore patterns on the sword, lady and the poly-pody ferns, see how each one differs, particularly the lady fern which perhaps has the most beautiful of them all.

You may be lucky and find some of the bracken fern with spore cases. This is not common as this plant can reproduce by sending up new shoots from under the ground.

See how the mosses and lichens have come back to their live greens and greys now that we have had some rain.

There are several old "nurse" logs along the trail. See how they played host to many flowering plants which now have faded and cast their seeds.

It is interesting to note that the old fallen logs of the Garry Oak do not harbor shrubs or trees, though mosses and lichens and a few flowering plants are able to establish themselves. This is due to the tight, hard grain of the oak.

One can see where the squirrels have been harvesting the cones from the Douglas firs, and many have gone into a hole in an old snag to store the winter's food supply.

As you wander along note the difference in the webs that the various spiders make. Some are circular in shape while others are built in the form of a dome. Others are close to the ground with a dark tunnel leading into the spider's lair.

See how the red ants are preparing for the winter, they are busy "thatching" their nest with thousands of needles from the firs. This is to help shed the rain.

Millions of Chinese Count Their Blessings

By DENNIS BLOODWORTH

(Mr. Bloodworth, Far East correspondent for the London Observer, continues his examination of China's "Great Cultural Revolution" in the context of the country's past history. This second of three articles is based on material from a forthcoming book by Mr. Bloodworth.)

"Good government does not hold the people so firmly as good education," said Mencius, a disciple of Confucius.

"Good government gains their wealth, good education their hearts". To the Chinese, who invented both paper and printing, propaganda and indoctrination are the devil they know only too well.

Chanted slogans and mechanical responses, memorizing by rote and the reiterative skills of the parrot and the cuckoo, rewritten history and literature, and deer-is-horse brainwashing — the Chinese have long since had to live with these.

They do not think it curious if the government advises them that tadpoles make good contraceptives, for the information is derived from traditional Chinese medicine. Nor do they smirk if they are told that the Chinese first discovered America 1,500 years ago, and "this shows that there has been a long traditional friendship between our two peoples," for they are a little hazy about history of the Devil's Own Country anyway.

Hardship Years

They glumly watched the fatal imbecilities of the Great Leap Forward and suffered the terrible years of hardship that followed, yet they quietly heard out the country's leading statistician when he excused his pipe-dream production figures by declaring that the proper purpose of his department was to "fully utilize statistical data to reflect great successes."

They have seen over-enthusiastic party cadres drive roads through houses and across rich fields, and others so inspired by the national appeal to make back-yard pig-iron in the villages that they decimated the chicken population in order to get feathers for primitive forge fans.

They may resent the innumberable political meetings they have to attend, but they are not going to start a revolution over any of these things. For they can count their blessings.

United State

They find themselves in a united state at peace with itself. Soldiers are disciplined, taxation is equitable, a man can eat at least two meals — if frugal ones — each day. There is work for all, and there are schools for the children.

The establishment of the Communist regime followed half a century of division, unrest and disaster. Today people have food and security and the inalienable right to dream, and this at once means that far more than half of the families of China are better off than they were before the Communist conquest.

For the time being at least, the Chinese are thankful for small mercies and are prepared to live by rice alone.

"You can kill a Chinese peasant by letting him sit down," says an old proverb. This has been the measure of his misery. Chinese may not like sleeping in factory dormitories, or feeding with strangers, or putting their children in creches, or public confession, any more than would a European — but the European never had to sell his children to buy his next meal.

It is not poverty that is to be feared, said the sages, but the imbalance between riches and poverty.

The Chinese looks around at his fellow-men and is ready to tighten his belt and face adversity cheerfully enough with the rest.

The formerly landless peasant does not feel his lack of land; the gregarious Chinese with his crowded family does not recoil as violently as an Anglo-Saxon from comunal living; and the man who can sleep on a wooden bench while three transistor radios are playing simultaneously in a Chinatown shop can stand loudspeakers incessantly blaring Communist propaganda and viciously scratched recordings of second-rate martial music, without becoming insane or insomniac.

Explaining The Puzzle Of China

The Communists have denounced family love as a form of expoitation ("parents treat children as capital assets; children wait for their parents to die in order to inherit unearned income"), sons have been set to spy on fathers, men are encouraged to accept sterilization, and newly-weds are sternly enjoined not to think in terms of more than two children.

Families are split up, and the student-sons are sent to till the land, or even to play pioneer in virgin fringe country a thousand miles from home.

The China expert raises his hands in horror at this blasphemous assault upon the sacred family system, and predicts an explosion. But the explosion does not come, because although millions of Chinese, especially among the older generation, may be deeply distressed by all this modern "Pekinoiserie," they balance it against the assets and decide there is no reason to riot.

The Chinese family was in any case never permanently united. The children of the semi-serfs in the villages were often sold to distant households, or were forced to set out to make their way in life independently.

In the bigger families the sons left to take their examinations for the mandarinate, the daughters were married off elsewhere, the scholar-officials were sent to distant posts for years on end—or even exiled, if they were in the wrong faction.

In later centuries Chinese emigrated to America and Britain, to Singapore and other centres in Southeast Asia. Those that remained behind were content as long as they had food and clothes and shelter. They might be sentimental, emotional, maternal, but they were not people who could afford frills and furbelows on their feelings, and they had always had to learn to make do with memories most of the time.

The women of Communist China stand arms akimbo and argue whether their life should be in the factory or the home. None really believed that the "Saturday Night System" introduced in 1958, whereby all the women in a workers' dormitory would stay out late except the one whose husband was coming to visit her, was precisley glamorous.

But many welcome a collective life that enables them to dump their children in a day-nursery, and no girl wants to go back to bound feet and a baby every year.

Communist China has given equality to women, and freedom from their parents to the young. And both like it.

Still Strong

The strength of Chinese traditional customs and prejudices may nevertheless be judged by the very weight of the Communist attacks upon them. The son is being warned against the dangers of Western influence, against winkle-pickers, tight trousers, pointed shoes, loafing, spending, under-working and over-playing and thinking anything other than the Thought of Mao Tse-tung.

For while the old may cling tenaciously to their customs, the young are — equally inconveniently — like the young everywhere. Some are ready to give whole-hearted loyalty to their country and party, are content to do what others do and only ask not to be sent too far away, but others dream of Beatle haircuts, a bulging bank balance and a book-case full of bourgeois and non-Communist works now condemned as "poisoned weeds."

Few Yearn

Few of these children of the individualistic and go-ahead "Jews of Asia" yearn for private enterprise on a grand scale, however. The mercantile tradition is not universal. The poor of China never had enough money to run more than the market side-lines in vegetable, poultry and pigs that they are allowed to run today.

On the other hand the mutual-aid tradition of the Chinese anti-state, with its fine network of family and clan, guild and village loyalties woven originally as a defence against cruel and corrupt administration, fits the Chinese admirably for their new world of trade unions and party cells.

Mao's problem has, in fact, been to transfer the hierarchical loyalty of the Chinese for his family and his closed club to the new network of the party, and to the equally sealed society of the Communist master-nation.

To Compete, You Practice On a Limber Springboard

By ART STOTT

Stott

I DIDN'T hear Tony talk on "New Canadians" the other day, but Pat did. She was impressed by his fluency, his logic, his research and his beard.

My information comes second hand. It could be as reliable as reports on the Hindu rope trick. But if my informant absorbed the salient points of the address—and in the relative standards of intelligence in our house I rate her high—Tony drew attention to the fact that most Canadians in our population now are young. To them, anybody over 40 belongs to a period of history not quite analogous with the civilizations of ancient Greece, Rome or Persia, but a long way back and more than a bit out of touch.

The "New Canadians," our people from their teens up through the 20s and possibly into the 30s, are bilingual. They have one language to communicate with us elders, one to talk among themselves. Their culture is new and immediate. Tradition and security are inconsequential. They are interested in the here and now, recognize more fully, perhaps, than any other generation the Hegelian theory that nothing is constant but change and they are fluid or flexible enough to adapt.

How Tony's points were elaborated, I do not know. But I do know that these are the people who are going to be running Canada in the next few years. It seems reasonable to me that before they take over the reins they will grow a little more conservative. That is a normal accretion of age. In the process they may gain in judgment, lose in valuable crusading zeal.

It seems entirely possible, though, that they will preserve more of the capacity to cope with change than generations before them. Their environment is suited to elasticity in concepts.

Permit me a remote comparison for illustration. At one time springboard diving absorbed a great deal of my interest. When I started, we were accustoming ourselves to the idea that a limber board provided a better lift than a firm one. In turn it gave more momentum to a diver's body, allowed him to reach greater heights and furnished added time—in split seconds—and distance in which to perform a particular stunt.

But a limber board took some getting used to. With a stiff board, you had a sense of stability and you knew that you had to do your somersaults and twists in a strictly limited time and distance. That, in turn, limited your performance.

As you learned how to use it, extracting all the help you could from the impetus if supplied and which you learned to control, your advanced in the advancing sport. When I started, some top-notch divers missed two-and-one-half front somersaults. When I finished a third of a century ago, run-of-the-mill competitors considered it a routine dive. Now the leaders in the game do three-and-one-half somersaults.

The analogy is imperfect. It is meant to suggest, however, that the "New Canadians" learned to perform, or will learn to perform, on what we older citizens consider the instabilities of unstable times. They make their adjustments unconsciously.

They will be hampered by some of the concepts we have bequeathed them. True, they discard many old values, many old cultural forms, many accepted theories. But they have made their own certain principles of the affluent and acquisitive society. They have learned such philosophies as "What's in it for me?" from the generations ahead of them, and a large number are less impressed with what they are worth than what they can get. Our generation has exploited them. Theirs will exploit us.

If they are to survive, they'll have to develop a social organization that reconciles human conflicts which may not be new but which are exaggerated in this stage of human history. And if we want to survive with them, since it's going to be their world—if it isn't already—we'd better become a little more adaptable ourselves.

It's time to start practising on the more limber springboard.

Liberals Feeling Sense of Urgency About Leadership

By PETER C. NEWMAN

OTTAWA—Quebec's decision at this week's federal-provincial conference to escalate the confederation debate to some kind of ultimate "crunch" has already had many ramifications, not the least of them a newly developed sense of urgency among federal Liberals about their leadership situation.

Newman

Lester Pearson's great strength in his party after the unhappy election results of last November was his supporters' belief that he was the only man who could have held — and could continue to hold — the country together in the face of the French-English confrontation. But now there is a growing sentiment in some sectors of the party that Pearson's co-operative federalism is an exhausted ideology, and that it will take a new leader to solve the jolting dilemma confronting the nation.

Beyond this immediate consideration is the slowly swelling realization among the power brokers of the Liberal party that by delaying the process of succession their chances of winning a majority in the next federal election campaign are being placed in jeopardy. When a prime minister retires, he takes his good qualities with him and bequeathes to his party only the elements of weakness which have marked his stewardship.

Even before the drama of the federal-provincial confrontation this week, the climate of the Liberal leadership debate had already been considerably changed by last week's deferment of the medicare scheme.

Deep Disillusion

At first, the dispute over medicare seemed to be little more than the customary rebellion of an impatient progrssive minority. But now there is much more deeply felt disillusionment over the arrogance which prompted the Liberal cabinet to jettison a party commitment without even pretending to consult the MPs who were elected on a platform that included a firm promise of medicare by July 1, 1967.

This feeling is particularly acute at the present time because the Liberal party is less than a month away from its much-touted policy rally. Many backbenchers are beginning to feel that there is no point in going to the trouble of hammering out a whole new set of policies when cabinet can throw them out the window without notice at any opportune moment.

This surge of resentment over method which coincides with an ideological issue has created a drive to find a left-wing Liberal who would back issues such as medicare and at the same time democratize the party's decision process.

However, any attempt to field a left-wing candidate will depend, for its success and strategy, on Walter Gordon, the former minister of finance.

Although Gordon has quietly taken himslf out of the race, he still has more disposable power inside the party apparatus than any other Liberal in the country next to the prime minister. The organizational makeup and the ideological thrust of the Liberal party which defeated John Diefenbaker in 1963 was shaped by Gordon and it remains loyal to its architect.

Narrow Choice

Gordon has yet to make his choice, but his ideological commitments narrow the selection to the only left wingers presently in the cabinet: Health Minister Allan MacEachen, manpower minister Jean Marchand, and forestry minister Maurice Sauve.

All three men have leadership qualities but none have a broad power base from which to operate.

The man who's trying to move himself into a position squarely between the party's left and right factions is John Turner. He's far from being a radical but he does qualify as a social reformer.

It's tempting to picture Turner as the Bobby Kennedy of the Liberal party, but he has yet to demonstrate courage under fire or to reveal the outlines of his political philosophy. Still his candidacy could provide a rallying point for the party's—and the country's—younger political generation.

Quebec's Liberals Uneasy

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Quebec Correspondent

OTTAWA — Daniel Johnson came to the federal capital as a new breed of spokesman for the Quiet Revolution; quieter than a Jean Lesage or a Rene Levesque and more revolutionary.

McDowell

The Quebec premier's brief to the federal - provincial conference on tax -sharing arrangements went farther than any such document before it toward saying that Canada must be based on two nations if confederation is to survive. But the manner of the man who submitted it is all cool, soft-voiced moderation. He shies away from any ringing statements and shows none of the flamboyance of a Jean Lesage of a Rene Levesque.

The tone of gentle reason has led to some uncertainty in Ottawa about how far Mr. Johnson is prepared to push his request for 100 per cent of income tax and succession duties, and the equivalent of 100 per cent of corporate income tax, in return for radically expanded working autonomy for Quebec.

Vote Issue

What the Quebec provincial Liberals fear is that a rebuff in Ottawa would give Mr. Johnson an election issue to set the heather ablaze in Quebec.

They fear that he could greatly fatten his present narrow legislature majority by going to the people with a plea for the mandate to force a constitutional showdown with Ottawa.

Members of the Quebec delegation to the conference have been privately taking the stand that the federal government seems at the start to be acting "like an ostrich" in refusing to see that the constitutional aspects of the Quebec brief are so vital in the eyes of the province that the issue "could mean the breakup of Canada."

NEWS HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK

Reviewed by Peter Murray, Times Wire News Editor

With the help of Lester Pearson, Britain's prime minister Harold Wilson succeeded once again in wriggling out of a tight squeeze over the Rhodesia situation.

The Afro-Asian members of the Commonwealth came to London determined to force Wilson's hand and win assurance of sterner measures against the white-minority government of Ian Smith.

They managed to budge Wilson's position slightly, but as the result of some adroit diplomatic manoeuvring left without any firm guarantee that Smith's days are numbered.

The final communique, drafted by the Canadian delegation, steered a middle course between the Afro-Asian demands for use of military force and Wilson's economic squeeze policy.

Britain agreed that if Smith isn't persuaded to end his 10-month rebellion by Dec. 31 it will agree to a program of stepped-up sanctions enforced by the United Nations.

In the meantime negotiations will continue, but Wilson promised there will be no deal to give Rhodesia legal independence without written guarantees in the constitution ensuring an eventual takeover of the government.

Wilson rejected demands by some African delegates that immediate independence be granted on a "one man, one vote" basis.

At one point the split seemed so wide there were fears of a conference breakdown and possible collapse of the Commonwealth.

Pearson described the sessions as the most emotional and difficult he had encountered in more than 30 years as a diplomat.

Although the conference was intended to deal with a range of world topics, Rhodesia almost completely dominated the discussions. On the final day the 22- member countries did turn to other subjects briefly, and produced a surprise communique condemning France and China for staging nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

●

Meanwhile there were few signs that Smith is considering throwing in the towel. Still prospering despite the voluntary economic sanctions against his regime, Smith was reported considering the idea of turning Rhodesia into a republic.

He may have been encouraged by the fact that neighboring South Africa this week chose an even tougher advocate of white supremacy, John Vorster, to succeed the assassinated Hendrik Verwoerd as prime minister.

Vorster, former justice minister who drafted many of South Africa's apartheid laws, was the unanimous choice of a 163-member caucus of the ruling Nationalist Party to lead the country.

In an ominous acceptance speech the one-time Nazi sympathizer dedicated himself to carrying out the government's racial policies "in every respect, whatever the consequences."

●

China's leaders ordered the youthful "Red Guards" to call off their nationwide purge after they began to meet resistance from workers and peasants in the countryside.

Reports reaching Tokyo said army troops had to be called in to restore order in some areas after the militant teenagers clashed with villagers.

The official reason given for abandoning the purge was the need to complete the fall harvest, But the Japanese reports indicated the regime was facing mounting opposition outside Peking to its so-called cultural revolution.

Meanwhile the shakeup in China's leadership continued and reports persisted that Premier Chou En-lai is slipping in the hierarchy as Defence Minister Lin Piao assumes increasing power.

●

The NATO allies agreed to establish their new supreme headquarters in Europe in the Belgian village of Casteau, near Brussels.

The new site was made necessary by France's decision to evict the headquarters from Paris by next April 1. Cost of the planned new complex: $42 million.

●

Standing in the B.C. Legislature were little changed by Monday's general election. Social Credit retained the 33 seats it had in the last House while the NDP climbed by two to 16 and Liberals added one for a total of 6.

●

Elsewhere, in brief:

An election of sorts was also held in South Viet Nam and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky claimed was the 80 per cent turnout of voters in the face of Viet Cong harassment represented "the beginning of the end for the Communists;"

A federal-provincial conference in Ottawa heard a proposal by Finanace Minister Sharp to drastically overhaul the nation's tax-sharing arrangements. Details will be hammered out at another meeting next month.

Fewer Feel Television Good Influence in Home

By The Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

Over the past decade, television has been losing ground as a good influence on family life.

In 1956 nearly seven in ten persons (66%) felt TV to be a good influence in the home. Today that proportion is just short of five in ten persons—48%.

Age plays a part in assessing the influence of television. A majority of young people (55%), in their twenties, still feel TV is a good influence on family life. But those over 50 years do not agree. Only 44% of older people say TV is a good influence.

The question: "From what you have seen or heard, do you feel TV is a good influence on family life or not a good influence?"

	1956	Today
Good influence	66%	48%
Not a good influence	19	27
Can't say	15	25

Roman Empire Role Drained Famous House

THE HABSBURGS, by Dorothy G. McGuigan, Toronto, Doubleday, 1966. 462 pp. Index. Photographs. $7.95.

Reviewed by Dr. R. H. Roy

For many centuries the House of Habsburg (or Hapsburg) was a force to be reckoned with in Europe.

At the height of its power, the Hapsburgs controlled Spain and its overseas empire, most of Italy, and much of Holland, Belgium, Austria, Germany, Czechoslovakia and Eastern Europe.

It was the staunch protector of Roman Catholicism against Protestantism, and of Christianity against the Moslem Turks.

DRAINED POWER

For centuries a Habsburg was also the Holy Roman Emperor, a prestigious rank but one which drained their power.

Mrs. McGuigan became fascinated with this royal line when she was living in Vienna, and as a trained historian she set out to describe the rise and fall of this famous house.

It was a difficult task she set herself — not that there was insufficient color in the family, for in fact it blazed like an autumn forest, but rather the problem was how to fit so lively a group within 450 pages of text.

Professional historians will quibble over some of her pages, but in essence she is writing for the layman and Mrs. McGuigan writes very well.

AT HER BEST

As could be expected, she is at her best when she deals with some of the outstanding members of the house — Charles V, Philip II, Maria Theresa and Emperor Franz Josef I.

The Habsburgs played a major role in shaping Europe's history, and their story is a chequered and as captivating as European history itself. The good and the bad, the bigoted and the brave, go clanking through the national histories of a dozen European states.

Mrs. McGuigan tells a graphic tale which will leave most readers asking for more.

Giles — Man of Tomorrow?

GILES GOAT-BOY by John Barth. Toronto, Doubleday, 1966. $7.95.

Reviewed by GRANT McORMOND

Like Swift's Gulliver's Travels, John Barth's Giles Goat Boy may be described as a "universal satire," intended, like Swift's work, "to vex the world rather than to divert it."

From the moment one first opens Giles and is faced with the "Publisher's Disclaimer" and "Cover Letter to the Editors and Publishers" one is alerted to the fact that here is an author happy to use the Swiftian technique of confusing, denying, and even denouncing his own authorship.

But the arguments which Barth advances in the preliminary and final sections of the work, both for and against the ideas and techniques he has employed, confusing and complex as they may be, are not nearly as confusing, complex and subtle as the material of the story itself.

The name "Giles" is esplained as an acronym for "Grand-Tutorial Ideal, Laboratory Eugenical Specimen," and while the exact meaning of this scientific jargon is never precisely explained, it seems that Giles may be viewed as the perfect modern man; the modern reincarnation of Christ.

Instead of being the Son of God, however, Giles is the result of a mating between WESCAC and a mortal.

WESCAC, and its opposing eastern counterpart, EASCAC, are monstrous creations of men, combining the features of the ultimate computer with the ultimate power of atomic energy.

Together they dominate the thinking, hopes and fears of all students at the university (mankind in the world).

Vague, distant, and unimportant is the Founder (God); too removed and idealistic is his interpreter of long ago, Enos Enoch (Christ); too strong and active is the ever-present participant in life, Dean o; Flunks (Satan).

While John Barth's basic idea of reducing this world to a university and the ideological struggle between East and West as a rivalry between the East and West Campus is quite simple though ingenious, the ramifications of this scheme become very complex.

In Giles Goat-Boy is condensed a history of civilization, with special emphasis on the twentieth century.

The sociological, scientific, cultural, religious and artistic evolution of man are all discussed, at times humorously, at times satirically.

The further one reads in Giles Goat-Boy, however, the clearer it becomes that the author is fundamentally a moralist.

The complex conflict within man between his bestiality and his spirituality is intensified and further complicated by the opposition between his emotions and reason and that between his natural self and his sophisticated, cultured self.

Into the artificial, hypocritical, tradition-bound life of the campus wanders the Goat-Boy, one of mysterious origin, raised naturally among a herd of goats.

NO BARRIER

For him there was no barrier between his desires and their realization save only that of physical capability.

The artificial bounds circumscribing human actions were neither reasonable nor necessary.

Convinced that he is a hero, a Grand Tutor, a second Enos Enoch, he feels it is his destiny to preach this new morality on campus, and as important, to alter the aim of the all-powerful WESCAC and EASCAC, whose present aim seems entirely destructive.

His role, then, is to replace hate by love, fear by courage, and weakness by strength. Mr. Barth's readers may at times be confused, however, by the manner in which the new morality tends at times to resemble what is today considered immorality.

For again like Swift, Mr. Barth has generously spiced his work with scenes of sexual activity that may be disconcertingly frank and shocking to some readers. He recognizes the importance of Freudian psychology, along with religion and science as one of the important forces shaping modern thought.

Many readers will be discouraged by the mere length of the work for it is over 700 pages long; others may find the introductory pages confusing and irrelevant; still others may give up when faced with the sheer complexity of the narrative.

Those who are not easily discouraged, however, will find John Barth's Giles Goat-Boy an extremely stimulating and rewarding experience.

MERCHANTS AND SCHOLARS: Essays in the History of Exploration and Trade; ed. by John Parker, Toronto; Copp Clark, 1966; 258 pages; $7.50.

Reviewed by Dr. G. Reid Elliott
(University of Victoria)

This is not escape literature. The book will appeal primarily to serious students of the earlier years of the European thrust into Africa, the Western Hemisphere, and Asia.

The editor, in his introduction, indicates the purpose of the book—to show how scholars through compilation and analysis of existing information (including mapping) stimulated the interest and aided the efforts of explorers and explorer-merchants.

ACCURATE INFORMATION

The latter, in turn, provided additional, and often more accurate, information. The interpretaion and dissemination of this new information stimulated further enterprise.

The alliance of the market place and the ivory tower is no recent phenomenon.

It should be noted, in passing, that the enterprisers who exploited and supplemented the accumulated knowlege were not always on the side of the police. But pirates and privateers proved to be adequate researchers and reporters.

Some of the 10 essays provide information so technical that they will be appreciated only by specialist in such fields as cartography and industrial production. Others have a more general appeal.

Perhaps the average Canadian will be most interested in those treating of English enterprise in the Gulf of St. Lawrence prior to the founding of Quebec or in the abortive efforts to use Iroquois Indians as slave-oarsmen in French Mediterranean galleys.

DISAPPOINTED

Others may be interested in the unsuccessful attempts of Spain and of England to control the Straits of Magellan.

Admirers of Cook may be a bit disappointed to learn that his voyage of exploration to the South Pacific might easily have been anticipated by the French some 30 years earlier.

RASH OF CRASHES

Did New Lights Fool Drivers?

A two-car crash at an intersection with new stop lights sent three people to hospital for treatment Friday afternoon.

Saanich police said a car driven by Percy MacNutt, 82, of RR 2, Sidney, collided with an auto driven by John Grazley, 19, of 3991 Century Rd. at Quadra and Tattersal.

Grazley and a passenger, Barry Sale, 20 of 3996 Century Rd. were treated for back injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital and released. Mrs. MacNutt was also released after treatment for unspecified injuries.

Police said the MacNutt vehicle was northbound on Quadra and Grazley's auto headed east on Tattersal. Damage was estimated at $1,200.

Traffic lights had been installed at the intersection about a week ago, police said, and had been on flashing red and amber signals to get local traffic accustomed to the new signals.

The lights were adjusted to the regular red and green phases Friday.

Mrs. Nancie Wicks, 68, of 1638 Quadra is in "fair "condition at St. Joseph's Hospital after suffering a broken leg and head cuts when struck by a car as she crossed Blanshard at Fisgard Friday evening.

Driver of the car, southbound on Blanshard, was Gary Anderson of HMCS Mackenzie.

BACK HURT

Leona Cousins, 18, of 171 Crease Ave., was treated for an injured back after a two-car collision at Hillside and Shelbourne just after midnight.

Police said a car driven by Wendy Rae Craig, 1327 Carsnew St., was turning west on Hillside from Shelbourne when it went out of control and collided with an auto driven by Gordon Linn Dobbie, 118 Menzies.

Damage was estimated at $850.

CITY HALL NOTES

Douglas Widening Starting

Work on the widening of Douglas Street between Hillside and Bay will commence early in 1967.

The Victoria finance committee decided Thursday that money would be available to carry out the project prior to the bringing down of the 1967 budget.

Mr. Young noted that there was growing concern in the city engineer's department regarding the steadily increasing heavy traffic during rush hours.

Most of the work will include the provision of parking bays in the two-block area.

The two empty stores on the Centennial Square Arcade may become display centres for ethnic and-or art groups in the city.

The Centennial Square Merchants Association asked city council to approach ethnic and art groups with the view to using the vacant stores to display works of art or costumes.

The merchants noted that with Christmas not too far away empty stores on the arcade would provide a dull spot in the otherwise active square.

"If ethnic and art groups used the two stores for displays they would provide a great deal of light, movement and activity," the request stated.

Mayor Toone said he thought the suggestion excellent and the city manager was requested to investigate the possibilities.

The establishment of a daycare centre at 326 Henry Street was approved in principle by the Victoria health committee.

Preliminary plans have been approved by the building and health inspectors of the city.

The committee, while giving the nod to the early proposal, asked for more detailed information on the building itself and the operation of the centre before making a final committment.

'University Holds Key To Reason'

University is where society's difficulties can be resolved, University of Victoria president Dr. Malcolm Taylor told students and faculty at the fifth academic assembly Friday.

He told the new students they are entering a place where people are expected to reason together.

He also paid tribute to the university's scholarship winners and the donors.

Chancellor Judge J. B. Clearihue, who retires as university chancellor at the end of this year, recalled the growth of the university community in Victoria in the last official function.

He was a member of the first graduating class of the former Victoria College in 1903.

'Cracker Ban Won't Hurt Merchants

The prohibition of the sale of firecrackers in the Victoria area isn't likely to put any local merchants out of business.

A spokesman for The Orient, 1411 Government, wholesaler for fireworks here, said "if firecrackers go down, roman candles go up."

While firecrackers will no longer be sold, he said orders for other kinds of fireworks have increased.

One of the many grocery and novelty stores supplied by the store, Morley Co. Ltd., 552 Fisgard, said "we didn't sell any last year either and it didn't hurt much."

The regional board of the capital district has announced it will take a series of advertisements about 10 days before Hallowe'en warning that the sale of explosive firecrackers is illegal.

Six-Month Sentence Confirmed

A Victoria man who was jailed six months for driving while his licence was suspended failed in an appeal in Victoria County Court Wednesday.

The appeal was dismissed by Judge Montague Drake.

Keith Darwin Ford of 1661 Fell Street received the six-month sentence from Magistrate William Ostler last June 20 when convicted for the fifth time of driving while his licence was suspended.

He was sentenced to an additional 14 days in jail on a charge of impaired driving.

Ford was arrested at the Oak Bay Marina after police chased a speeding car on Beach Drive.

Lemay's Wife Loses Bid To Leave Jail

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A federal court refused to act on a writ of habeas corpus Friday seeking the release of the wife of one of Canada's most wanted fugitives.

District Judge Roger D. Foley Jr. ruled the writ on behalf of Lise Lemay, 29, wife of Georges Lemay, 41, arrested last month in a downtown casino, was filed prematurely.

CRUSADE SURPLUS—Represented by Cash in Bank		2,202.98

NOTE: In addition to the funds referred to in the above report, Sunday offerings totalling $5,134.81 were given to the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association for use in its ministry in Canada. This was approved by prior agreement with the local Crusade Executive Committee and announced before each Sunday collection.

WE have examined the Statement of Income and Expenditure to the Leighton Ford Crusade from the inception of the fund to July 31, 1966 and have received all the information and explanations required by us. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, and according to the best of our information, the explanations given to us and as shown by the books of the fund, the foregoing Statement of Income and Expenditure presents fairly the financial results of the Leighton Ford Victoria Crusade in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

FOCUS

By BRAD NUGENT

A local band packs its gear next week and heads south.

The new Take Four, a group which has been called the "backbone" of Victoria Rock and Roll is booked into Seattle September 23 and 24.

They originated in February of last year as the Take Four and even then, as they started to climb the rungs, were pegged as the No. 1 group on the Island.

With a name change around Christmas time they became the Victorian Sect and concentrated on the then-popular British sound and style.

* * *

When the charts suddenly switched to a more American sound last June the guys decided that it was best to leave the British sound and style to the British and so returned to our local music scene as the new Take Four.

Since then they've developed a sound and a style which I've found similar to that of one of the biggest new groups in the States, The Young Rascals.

They've enlarged their repertoire to meet the demands of all types of crowds, hitting upon almost every type of music kicking around including the American, Big Band, Rhythm and Blues and Motown sounds.

The members Cal Batchelor (electric bass), Bill Pick (organ) Bernie Mueller (lead) and newly aquired drummer Bruce Wright have played with Gary Lewis and the Playboys, The Sonics, Don and the Goodtimes and a number of other top Americwn groups which have appeared in Victoria.

* * *

Now they have climbed a rung that not too many Canadian groups achieve — a U.S. booking.

In fact they are the first Island group to play the States in almost three years.

When we think of the number of big-name bands a city like Seattle can call on for dances and shows it figures that someone in Seattle must be pretty sure that the Victoria group will sell. No promoter I've ever met or heard of wants to lose even a dollar on a gig. And usually the easiest way to lose a few bucks is to book a band that nobody in the city has ever heard of.

Anyway, the Take Four are making a promising start by playing at one of Seattle's biggest nite-spots the B.F.D.

Fortune Teller by The Rolling Stones.

Mr. Spaceman by The Byrds.

BITS AND PIECES

By the way, the booking of the new Take Four into Seattle was done by a Victoria agency Russell Enterprises whose list of accomplishments include dances and shows in town with Paul Revere and the Raiders, the Guess Who, The New Beats, the Sonics, Don and the Goodtimes and the Canterbury Tales. . . . Coming soon a battle of the bands dance with Blues By Five, Winpenny Blues, The Lost Souls, The Phantoms, The Runabouts, J. J. and the Syndicate, The Bakerloo Line, The Noblemen, The Fugitives, the US's, the Beau Gentry and many other local groups. . . . October might see the Shindogs in town for a dance.

Veteran Actress Plays Lead

Appearing as Content Delville in the next production of the Victoria Theatre Guild, Marriage-Go-Round, is Elizabeth Mayne, a long-standing member of the Guild.

Originally trained at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, London, she toured in repertory through England and Scotland.

In the 1950s she spent a season with the old York Theatre Company in what is now the McPherson Playhouse, appearing in The Hasty Heart, Blithe Spirit, Arsenic and Old Lace, and Clutterbuck. She had principal roles and leads in these and in Guild plays such as The Little Foxes, Separate Tables, The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse, The Women, Jane and Two Dozen Roses.

Betty and her husband Tommy have been active in running Guild affairs for years and in directing Guild plays, one of which was Duet for Two Hands, presented at the B.C. Regional of the Dominion Drama Festival.

Marriage-Go-Round, directed by Bert Farr, is scheduled to appear on the Langham Court stage Oct. 7 to 15.

Opera Opens In a Blaze Of Glory

By STANLEY JOHNSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera opened its new $45,700,000 home at Lincoln Centre in a blaze of glory Friday night, and the audience cheered when General Manager Rudolf Bing announced from the stage that the musician's strike which threatened future performances had been settled.

The audience was already dazzled by the gala opening night with Samuel Barber's new American opera Antony and Cleopatra.

Bing had just come from backstage where he and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, guest of honor at the opening, had met with the parents of star Leontyne Price. They are Negro tenant farmers in Mississippi.

With most of New York's "best-dressed" unable to get tickets, fashion reporters described the audience as "rich but tacky."

Mrs. Johnson, at her best in an alabaster chiffon gown by George Stavropolis, was an exception.

FOCUS ON BUILDING

The building itself, the magnificent finale to the cultural complex of Lincoln Centre, seemed to overshadow the opening night.

The fountains, the Marc Chagall murals and the audience took almost as much attention.

New York Times critic Harold Schoenberg called the opera a "Big complicated package: Big, grand, impressive and vulgar."

John Chapman of The Daily News said it was an "eye popper" but not exactly an "ear soother."

The props included three live horses and a river barge.

Terms for settlement of the strike of the 100-man orchestra made them, union chief Max Arons said, the highest paid players in the world.

It will bring salaries to $345 a week by 1968 for five performances a week as compared to the present $260 a week for seven performances.

When the opera ended, with 14 curtain calls, New York's Mayor John Lindsay gave a champagne reception for 1,800 in the grand tier lobby. There were about another 1,800 crashers.

WHAT! that's me—or is it? No wonder Bill Hosie (centre) is confused. On Saturday afternoons he becomes Sammy Shlupp-shlupp (left), the toothless wolf in Bastion Theatre's Three Little Pigs. At night he is old Andrew (right) in the musical comedy, School for Wives which Bastion opened for a two-week run at McPherson Playhouse, Friday.

Those Talented Hosies Revel to Heart's Content

By AUDREY JOHNSON

School for Wives (and Others!) Adaptation with music and lyrics by Marge Adelberg from the play by Moliere.

McPherson Playhouse

Christopher	Michael Higgins
Andrew	Bill Hosie
Agnes	Dorothy Hosie
Alfred	Ian McIntyre
Georgette	Sylvia Hosie
Flower Woman	Nancy Hind
Horace	Art Penson
Ormond	John Heath
Henry	Hugh Henderson

A veritable constellation of talented Hosies present one of the best reasons for visiting McPherson Playhouse during the next two weeks to see the Bastion Theatre production of School for Wives.

Vancouver's Marge Adelberg has taken Moliere's stylish satirical comedy and transformed it into a musical pastiche in which Bill, Dorothy and Sylvia Hosie with Ian McIntyre revel to their hearts' content.

In plucking the branch the arranger has pretty well defoliated it in fact, for there is little left of Moliere outside the simple skeleton of the plot.

An elderly man, cynically convinced of the faithlessness of women, raises his beautiful ward in seclusion to be his chaste and obedient wife.

He is fooled however, through the connivance of a pair of avaricious and hypocritical servants.

It is however, certainly good fun with a bright, pleasantly tuneful score that most people will forgive for being largely derivative.

Peter Mannering has directed with the inventive assistance of Eugene Gallant and Sylvia Hosie in special sequences.

Sylvia and Ian form a first-rate comedy team as the two servants. They play with real verve, their timing is sharp and their action — in contrast to some of the rest of the cast — is crisp and well defined.

To her outstanding talents as an actress, Dorothy Hosie adds a sweet voice; her duets with her brother, Bill, were among the best moments in the evening. These duets were also the best musical writing in the show.

Although we were at times well aware that he was a young man under the make-up, Bill Hosie provided a generally effective characterization as the elderly guardian, investing it with a touch of pathos within the broad humor, singing well and giving a fine display to team work from beginning to end.

Art Penson is as lithe and lively as ever in the role of the young lover, although as an actor he would benefit considerably by voice and speech training.

He also designed the highly colorful set and costumes.

There are irrelevancies, the sudden interpolation of effects that seem antipathetic to the general style of the show such as the irritating step-kick routine maintained by Bill and Art through one patter number in the second act.

It is extremely difficult to understand the lyrics of many of the songs, often because they are drowned in the sound of the four-piece pit orchestra. But Howard Denike does much to help the show move briskly along.

None of these low factors prevent School for Wives being the most entertaining production Bastion has mounted in the McPherson since The Boy Friend.

It will contine nightly at 8:30, except Sundays, through Oct. 1.

Which Pig's Afraid Of Huffing Wolf?

Three little pigs — their three little houses of straw, willow and brick, and of course that huffin' and puffin' wolf, are coming by popular demand to the McPherson Playhouse.

All summer, in the alfresco setting of Butchard Gardens, Ralph Kendall's original version of Three Little Pigs has kept young and not-so-young visitors entranced, and it is exactly the same presentation, complete with gaily painted circus wagon, that Bastion Theatre is bringing to the McPherson stage for three performances only.

Audiences always join enthusiastically in trying to help the pigs and mislead the wolf.

In Kendall's play, the pigs' adventures also include a Prince and Princess and a wicked leprechaun.

Starring in the show are Margaret Martin, Ian Pool and Barry Flatman as the three pigs, Bill Hosie as Sammy Schlupp-Schlupp the toothless wolf, Barbara Dunn as the Princess, Lawrence Eastick as the Prince, and Michael Higgins as the leprechaun.

Three Little Pigs will be performed Sept. 17, Sept. 24 and Oct. 1 — one matinee each Saturday at 2 p.m.

Any seat in the house is 75 cents, and advance tickets are now on sale at the McPherson Box Office, 386-6121.

SANDY'S NEXT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Sandy Dennis, who made her film debut in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" will next star in "Up the Down Staircase."

Tenors, Basses Sought

Two adult projects under the auspices of School Districts No. 62 and 63, will keep a Victoria singer and conductor busy with rehearsals and performances this winter.

Baritone soloist Derek MacDermot who has also done some notable work in directing musical shows in this area, will have a choir and an orchestra in his charge, both resuming activity at the beginning of October.

In the Sooke-Metchosin district, choir rehearsals will commence Oct. 4 and will be held every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Metchosin School.

Mr. MacDermot is particularly interested in hearing from tenors and basses in the area. Anyone interested should phone him at GR 8-1996.

The Peninsula Orchestra will continue performing under his direction, rehearsing Wednesdays at 7:30 in the Claremont Secondary School.

First call is for Oct. 5 and Mr. MacDermot says he will welcome especially some more woodwind players.

However, in either case, all types of singers and instrumentalists can be used in the ensembles.

Repertoires to be worked on will be of a fairly light nature, the director states.

JAY NORTH SIGNED

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jay (Dennis the Menace) North has signed to become a vocal star for Hanna-Barbera Productions series "Space Ghost."

FILMED IN B.C.

'Me Tarzan' Talk Flips the Trap

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP) — The Trap, an Anglo-Canadian experiment in movie-making which tells a blood-and-guts story of pioneer days in the backwoods of British Columbia, was greeted on its world premiere here with mixed reactions from London critics.

The movie, shot in color on location in the remote forests of northwestern British Columbia, was financed jointly by Britain's Rank organization and a group of Vancouver businessmen. It stars Rita Tushingham and Oliver Reed, with nine supporting roles filled by Canadians recruited in Toronto and Montreal.

The Trap, scheduled for Canadian release in October, tells a simple tale of a rough French-Canadian trapper who buys a wife for $1,000, a terrified, mute girl who was struck dumb with shock while watching her mother raped and slain by Indians.

FIGHTS WITH WILDLIFE

In the course of the film the trapper fights with wolves, cougars and bears, gets his foot crushed in a bear trap and forces his frightened bride to amputate it with a woodchopper's axe.

The gory story is relieved by intriguing details of a trapper's craft, by a aloof splendors of the mountain and forest scenery and by a heart-stirring performance from Tush, the north-country actress with the face of a street-corner waif.

Several critics felt these were the only assets that saved the film from its cardboard characters and monosyllabic, Me Tarzan dialogue.

Ann Pacey of The Sun found it "harrowing, unnerving, beautifully photographed and relentlessly grim," distinguished by "superb" performances from Tushingham and Reed.

ALSO WAS CRITICIZED

David Robinson of The Financial Times panned the story as "ludicrous almost beyond belief," criticized the "sadistic horror" of some scenes and remarked that the movie appeared "yet another ill-fated attempt to launch feature film productions in Canada." screen today."

Producer George H. Brown said:

"I hope this film will be the first of many such Anglo-Canadian ventures." Two of the nine Canadians in the cast, Barbara Chilcott and Blain Fairman, came to London for the premiere.

NORTH BREEZES

"This century is now two-thirds over," said the man in the brown suit. "I read that in a magazine. Seems it just started."

The man in the blue suit who shared a window table in our poolside dining room immediately started harking back to plasticless, nylonless, jetless days.

"Remember coal skuttles, street cars, fly-paper, horse-drawn bread wagons, washboards and running boards," they harmonized. Both agreed, "Those were the good old days."

Then Brown Suit said he had to scram and take the wife out to buy a new dishwasher. Boy, did that make him happy!

And Blue Suit said he had to dash home to watch a football game that was being played in Calgary He'd been looking forward to it all week.

Our maitre d' Leslie just shrugged.

LOCKHEED SUPERSONIC transport design has been submitted to the United States government. The plane is designed to fly at 1,800 m.p.h. at 70,000 feet and be able to take off and land at existing international airports. Lockheed predicts that domestic and foreign airlines would purchase about 900 SSTs. The plane, built of titanium, is designed to carry 250 to 300 passengers. Boeing aircraft has also submitted a design to the government. The SST is expected to be in airline service in 1974. (CP Photo.)

B.C. GETS HUGE 'COPTER

VANCOUVER (CP) — The largest helicopter in British Columbia — turbine-engined Sikorsky S-61N valued at $1,300,000 — will arrive in two weeks.

The transport department said today the machine will operate in the Prince Rupert area, servicing 13 lighthouses and hundreds of unmanned lights and will be available for search and rescue.

Delivery of the aircraft is being delayed until four pilots are trained to fly it.

The Sikorsky will have a 500-mile range without refueling, a top speed of over 150 miles per hour and can carry 19,000 pounds or 26 passengers.

Russians Reject Fishing Pact

SEATTLE (AP) — Top Russian officials have rejected fishing recommendations worked out six weeks ago in Moscow.

The rejection, forwarded to the U.S. state department this week, came after the department had pressed for approval of the recommendations which were to have gone into effect about Sept. 1.

The recommendations included:

The Soviets would instruct their fishing fleets not to operate within 12 miles of the Washington-Oregon coast.

The Soviet fleet would be reminded again not to fish for salmon.

The huge Russian fleet would be dispersed so as not to interfere with American fishing operations.

Russian and American fleets would exchange observers.

WEEK ON MARKETS

Trading Shows 'Old Bounce'

By GORDON GRANT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian stock markets showed some of their old bounce this week with industrials moving ahead, speculative mining issues generating some steam and oils attracting attention.

Recent anti-inflationary measures announced by the Canadian and United States governments were cited as key factors in bringing investors back to the industrial market.

Some analysts said also that the post-Labor Day rally is becoming a reality. However, analysts generally were divided in their opinions on whether the eight-month bear market has hit bottom.

One said the down trend is over and the time may be ripe to buy although he hedged a little when he suggested that prices might fluctuate fractionally for some time to come.

Another said he didn't agree. "The market never goes straight up or straight down. The latest upswing is merely a break, but it will be temporary. We haven't hit bottom yet."

He hedged a little when he added that some mutual and investment funds should be buying because there are some bargains around.

In Toronto, investors had some confidence as they pushed the industrial index, a measure of the trend of key stocks, up 2.25 to 147.53.

Mining companies led the advance with Inco ahead 4⅝ to 86¼.

Cominco, Hudson Bay, Noranda and Brunswick also scored good gains while Falconbridge was unchanged at 88 after being as low as 86¾, a 1966 low, at one time.

Price changes in steel issues were fractional, although there was activity in the stocks following Stelco's — Canada's largest steel producer's — announcement that it would increase some of its prices. The stock jumped almost $1 until Finance Minister Sharp asked the company to reconsider. Stelco closed the week up ⅝ at 22¾.

Auto found support as the introduction of new models is expected to perk up sales. General Motors, which in addition to its regular lines is taking aim at Ford's highly-successful Mustang with its Camaro, was up 6¾ to 84½. Ford was up 1¼ at 129 and Chrysler ¾ at 41½.

MINES STRONG

The speculative mining section bubbled, primarily because of two issues which roared ahead. Area Mines jumped 79 cents to 3.05, well up from its 1966 low of 74 cents, and traded more than 1,900,000 shares.

Frobex advanced 42 cents to 2.90 on more than 2,000,000 shares. Its low for the year was 85 cents.

The companies are financing drilling on a property in the Gaspe area of Quebec which previously was drilled by Noranda but dropped because of inconclusive results. The Area-Frobec combination has drilled more than 20 holes on the copper prospect and reported encouraging results.

There was a long list of excellent gains in western oils with Dome up 3 to 23, Canadian Superior 2⅝ to 21⅞ and Banff 2½ to 13½.

Corporation Profits Down

OTTAWA (CP) — Profits before taxes for Canadian corporations were down slightly in the second quarter of 1966 compared to the first quarter, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said Friday.

Seasonally adjusted, corporation profits for the three months this year were $1,342,000,000. Profits in the second quarter were $1,330,000,000.

Profits in manufacturing industries decreased 4.3 per cent in the second quarted compared to the first three months of the year.

In other industries, excluding mining, profits increased to $573,000,000 from $565,000,000.

Northerners Will Protest Rate Increase

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Businessmen in the British Columbia Interior and North were critical Friday of a Pacific Great Eastern Railway proposal for a 10-per-cent increase in freight rates.

Spokesmen in areas dependent on the provincially-owned line agreed a freight-rate boost would mean increased construction and other costs.

"The increase is bound to affect construction costs," said Hillary Place, president of the Williams Lake Chamber of Commerce. He said he would call a chamber meeting to discuss a possible protest to Victoria.

Lance Lea, president of the Quesnel chamber, said the increase might force shippers to road instead of rail transport. He said the proposed increase "is not welcome here."

Walter Readeke, president of the Dawson Creek chamber, said such an increase would be a backward step that would retard northern development.

"Instead of increasing the rates I wish they had lowered them," he said. "Freight rates are one of the biggest stumbling blocks towards development of the North."

The PGE said the proposed increase, which must be approved by the provincial commercial transport department, would apply Oct. 10 to about one-third of PGE traffic. But it would not affect forest products, which form the bulk of PGE freight shipments.

The increase would apply largely to general merchandise, heavy machinery and cement.

INCO MEN BACK AT JOBS

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP)—Employees at the International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd. refinery here returned to work at midnight Thursday after voting earlier in the day to accept a new contract.

The vote by members of Local 6200 of United Steelworkers of America was 711 in favor of the three-year contract and 642 against. There was four spoiled ballots among the 1,357 cast. The local has 1,500 voting members.

Automotive Parts Firm 'Vanished', Probe Told

TORONTO (CP) — An automotive parts distributing company was able to obtain loans from three companies owned or controlled by Atlantic Acceptance Corp. Ltd. despite a consistent record of annual deficits, a royal commission investigating into Atlantic's collapse was told Friday.

Canada Motor Products Ltd., once owned by C. P. Morgan, Atlantic's president and W. L. Walton and Harry Wagman, chartered accountants, eventually went out of business owing $324,739 to Commodore Sales Acceptance Ltd., NGK Investments Ltd. and Valley Farm and Enterprises Ltd.

Louis Nuspl, a chartered accountant, outlined the involved dealings for Mr. Justice Samuel Hughes, the commissioner.

Mr. Justice Hughes said Canada Motor Products Ltd., was put into bankruptcy by Commodore Sales Acceptance Ltd., an action that had the effect of eliminating prior claims.

"Having established insolvency in this resounding manner they set up business at the same old stand," he said.

After the company was put into bankruptcy in March, 1962, another firm, Canada Motor Products Ltd., was organized. This was followed by incorporation of Gassem Enterprises Ltd. and Canada Motor Products Blackstone Ltd., Mr. Nuspi said.

All except Canada Motor Products Blackstone Ltd. went bankrupt. Mr. Nuspi said it operated from sometime in 1963 to about the middle of 1964 and then "just disappeared."

He said the assets also appear to have vanished.

The hearing continues.

HOW SAFE IS A MORTGAGE?

Whereas most investments risk a loss on the first dollar's depreciation of the value of the security, a mortgage can retain its full value IN SPITE OF A DEPRECIATION of the property secured. Therefore the LOWER percentage mortgaged against a property, the lesser the projected risk.

But real-estate is considered so basically sound by many lending institutions that 75%, 83% and as high as 87½% MORTGAGES are given. Their projected confidence in real-estate is further manifested by their low monthly repayment requirements allowing 15, 20, and 25 years to repay.

We in Victoria Mortgage Corporation agree. Property values have increased steadily for 30 years, and will continue to do so for another 30 years, especially in this PARADISE called BRITISH COLUMBIA, where people are coming from all over the world.

We, therefore, at times make higher percentage loans on the type of security WE PREFER. However, our current mortgage investments average only 36% of appraised security.

We feel fairly confident about it.

Our investors seem to feel the same way.

5-year Debentures pay 7½% — One year, 7%.

There is no acquisition cost.

Major Strike Feared

LONDON (UPI) — The British Motor Corp. (BMC), the nation's largest automotive company, is facing a major strike threat because of its decision to cut back operations caused by the government's economic austerity program.

The executive committee of the National Union of Vehicles was to meet in Manchester today to discuss what action the union should take in the face of BMC's threat to lay off many of its 60,000 union members.

The giant automotive firm Friday told 30,600 of its workers — one-fourth of its total staff — they would be put on short work weeks as a result of the firm's largest cutback since 1960-61.

BMC said earlier "thousands" would be laid off because of the cutbacks.

The BMC decision has already triggered two-day wildcat strikes at separate plants in protest to the impending layoffs.

Combined with those affected by the short weeks, the layoffs may affect up to 50,000 employees by November.

Unionists are mobilizing to challenge the firm's plans and many have threatened to take whatever action necessary, including strikes, to induce BMC not to lay off workers.

Bankruptcies Decreased

OTTAWA (CP)—Business failures under the provisions of the Bankruptcy and Winding Up Acts during the second quarter this year numbered 749 compared to 830 a year ago, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said.

Liabilities of bankrupt firms were estimated at $58,690,000 compared to $52,274,000 in the same quarter last year.

In the first half of this year, there were 1,572 insolvencies with liabilities totalling $123,396,000 compared to 1,781 with liabilities of $111,088,000 in the same 1965 period.

Banks Increase Service Charges

MONTREAL (CP) — Bank officials here said Wednesday Canada's chartered banks increased on Sept. 5 their service charges for handling payment certain utility bills.

The charges went up to 15 cents per bill from 10 cents, the officials said. Unaffected by any increase are service charges on savings or checking accounts.

Included are telephone and electricity bills and some fuel bills.

THAT'S PENNEY all over. "Everything I wear, but everything, comes from Penney's," said James Cash Penney, founder of the 1,700-store J. C. Penney chain Friday at his 91st birthday party in Anaheim. More than 400 retired Penney executives helped "J.C." blow out the candles. (AP Wirephoto)

UNIONS RUN WATERFRONT

MONTERAL (CP)—The federal commission investigating the operation of the Montreal docks was told Friday that union men run the waterfront.

Paul Renaud, counsel for the Shipping Federation of Canada, said he could produce a dossier to back up his statement.

The commission, headed by Laurent Picard, was established following negotiations in which the International Longshoremen's Association won a 30-per-cent wage increase over a two-year contract.

The shipping federation said the 30 - per - cent raise was granted after the union agreed to accept a reduction in the size of its work gangs.

However, the union denies that the agreement was concluded on any such understanding.

The commission's findings on the manpower issue are binding.

Norman Wolfe, managing director of the Wolfe Stevedore Co., spent the whole day on the witness stand pleading for the right of management to decide how many men should perform a certain job.

He called for a reduction in the mandatory work gang size for grain ship loading which was set down by arbitration in 1953.

Mr. Wolfe said nine men can adequately perform the job now being done by 12.

Cowichan Work Halted

All digging operations at Jordan River's Cowichan Copper Mine have ceased until further notice.

The closure was ordered Friday by Aetna Investments Ltd. pending the drawing up of a new contract between Aetna and mine president Oswood G. "Ossie" McDonald.

Mr. McDonald gave an assurance in a telephone call from Vancouver today that the workers would be back at work within a few days.

He was to visit the mine later today to see about taking over management of the mine himself.

Mr. McDonald said an agreement was being drawn up between Cowichan and Aetna whereby Aetna would be relieved of its three-year management contract and in return would subordinate its $950,000 loan to new financing.

The sudden turn of events is a result of Aetna refusing to provide any more money for operation of the mine.

Mr. McDonald said he hopes to raise a further $300,000 to $400,000 at the very most.

"The agreement with Aetna should be signed within the next few days," he said. "As soon as possible after this, I hope to arrange new financing and get the men back to work with the least possible delay."

He blamed poor management and lack of direction as the cause of the failure to get the mill out of the red.

"It is up to them (Aetna) to properly hand over to us and meanwhile see that the payroll is met.

"We will take it back and run it but we want it turned over properly. There is still a big ore body."

Since the mine was re-opened in December, 1965, three shipments of concentrates have been made to Australia.

This week McDonald reported to shareholders the mine at July 31 showed a loss of $264,000.

Someone Wants His Home

GENELLE, B.C. (CP) — Carpenter Mickey Kalmakoff didn't need to be hit on the head before he realized someone wanted his home out of the way.

Unfortunately, the B.C. highways department neglected to tell the 45-year-old resident of this tiny Kootenay village that they planned to route a portion of highway through his house.

He got the hint when the bulldozer pushed the road to within 20 yards of either side of his house.

Now the bungalow sits like a barrier in the road which runs behind this village on the highway between Castlegar and Trail. The new portion of highway is being built to eliminate dangerous curves in the old highway.

Mr. Kalmakoff was tight-lipped, but angry about the possibility of having to move the bungalow in which he had planned to retire.

While Mr. Kalmakoff polishes his car and his wife weeds their garden on the half-acre property, bulldozers prepare the road for paving.

Mr. Kalmakoff said his lawyer and representatives of the highways department are attempting to find a solution to the predicament.

Don Markin, the regional highway engineer in Nelson, said only that "negotiations are proceeding toward a solution."

Wine Drinkers

KELOWNA (CP)—Wine consumption in British Columbia has shown a greater rate of increase over a five-year period than any other region in North America, says James Stewart, general manager of Mission Hill Wines Ltd., of Kelowna. Wine sales rose from $3,867,000 in 1960 to $6,540,000 in 1964 and per capita consumption stood at .62 gallons in 1965—24 per cent above the national average.

SECOND YEAR COURSE OFFERED

Revolution in Manufacturing

Revolution in the manufacturing industry is a factor in developing a new profession among the pillars of commerce.

To help give academic standing to the "profession" of sales management, University of Victoria co-operating with Victoria Sales and Marketing Executives Club is embarking on the second phase of an evening diploma course beginning Sept. 27.

More than 40 men and women last winter successfully passed the first-year session at Uvic evening division and are qualified to enrol in the second year of studies that will run parallel with a new first year class.

SME Club president T. G. Davis, industrial sales manager of British America Paint Co. Ltd., said industry today is oriented to carefully programmed marketing and production conforms to it.

NEWER TREND

Traditionally industrial sales have been dependent on production, or exactly the reverse of the newer trend.

A course brochure says the club is concerned with development of a high standard of sales manager "looking to the creation of a 'profession'."

The course will go a large way toward meeting academic requirements of such a profession, it is hoped.

An educational committee of the club is studying the academic aspect of qualification and examining curricula, examinations and standards to this end.

Mr. Davis, who is one of the instructors, said the long-range objective of the program will "enable people — even with a commerce degree — to evaluate exactly what is needed in the field of sales and marketing.

QUALIFICATIONS

"The old maxim 'the best salesman makes the best sales manager' just doesn't work. People need qualifications," the club president said.

He estimates that fewer than 50 per cent of those in marketing have university degrees and the reasons for improving academic qualifications are ever-growing.

The average person today has more education and with better communication he is more aware of both his needs and the selection of goods available to him, forcing up the level of salesman sophistication.

University of B.C. has been running a three-year course with SME for 15 years. The third level is expected to be offered here next year.

FOUR LECTURES

Among the second-year lecturing staff at Uvic will be Trade and Industry Minister Ralph Loffmark, who will give four lectures on business aspects of the law.

Peter Pollen, a club director and head of an automobile agency, will give two four-lecture series on financial statement analysis and sales analysis.

John Langstaff, branch manager of International Business Machines, will give four lectures on data processing, and a representative of the provincial labor department will teach four classes on labor-management relations.

The first-year course will have 16 lectures of a general nature and four on the psychology of motivation, by a university lecturer in the psychology department.

Mr. Davis hopes for 40 first-year candidates and about 35 for the second-year course.

Registration must be made by Sept. 20 to A. W. J. Smith, executive secretary of Sales and Marketing Executives Club, 3500 Upper Terrace, Victoria.

Alter Face Of City

CALGARY (CP) — A massive city redevelopment plan, made public today, envisions by 1986 a Calgary in which workers will leave their cars at home and travel to work by rapid transit system.

Drawn up over the last 18 months, the plan calls for a $72,000,000 makeover of the downtown area as part of an overall $366,000,000 plan which will alter the face of the city.

Under the plan, downtown traffic for the most part would be restricted to high capacity ring roads circling the downtown area. Downtown would become an area of shopping malls and business plazas.

The plan offers the choice of a $105,000,000 elevated transit system or a $140,000,000 subway system in the central area, connected by feeder bus routes to suburban residential areas.

Besides major changes in traffic and pedestrian flow, the plan calls for downtown 7th Avenue to be restricted to city transit buses and overhead or underground rapid transit.

RENEWAL STUDIES

Prepared by scores of planners, the scheme calls for bridge building, urban renewal studies, redevelopment of west-end Calgary and development along the banks of the Bow River.

Construction has started on the first eight blocks of a 31-block urban renewal scheme in the "blighted area" of east-side Calgary. The complete plan aims to serve a population of 700,000 by 1986.

Of the estimated total expenditure of $336,000,000 about $237,000,000 would go to road construction, including the cost of land. Financing now is under study. Government aid would be expected.

The plan also calls for freeway access to the central core of the city. The major freeway would wipe out the present Chinatown area on the east side. Chinatown would be rebuilt in the early 1970s.

Mayor Jack Leslie said: "Our downtown should be more than just streets and structures, parks and public buildings. It should be our common meeting place for business, social and cultural activity."

BERTRAM YACHT COMPANY

Now is the time to own
THE BOAT THE EXPERTS ARE BUYING

GREATEST DESIGN BREAKTHROUGH!

Bertram's revolutionary full-length V hull with longitudinal strakes is so far advanced over conventional hulls that the gap is like that between jet and piston planes! Only the Bertram hull gives you both the speed of planing boats and the seakindliness of displacement hulls—plus totally new advantages never before available in either.

SOFTER, DRIER RIDE. With no flat-bottomed surfaces aft to jolt and jar, a Bertram rides so much more smoothly through seas, that experts taking their first ride are amazed. Longitudinal strakes act as spray strips, throw water out low and flat.

NEW MANEUVERABILITY. At low speeds, a Bertram turns instantly because chines are above water, won't dig in. At high speeds, the Bertram V hull banks crisply inward, lifting her outside chine above water where it won't catch and trip. Passengers ride comfortably in perfect balance.

SMOOTHER WAKE, GREATER EFFICIENCY. Do you waste fuel dragging a big wake? The size of your wake shows hull efficiency. Compare the Bertram's flat wake—dramatic evidence that drag is substantially reduced. You achieve speeds never before possible for a seakindly hull.

LESS ROLL. In a beam sea, a Bertram's V sections develop strong righting action. Longitudinal steps act as bilge keels. While drawing no more water than conventional boats, she sits proportionately deeper, thus is less disturbed by surface waves.

EASIER STEERING IN FOLLOWING SEA. Waves can't catch under the Bertram's symmetrically balanced full-length V hull. Steering in a following sea is no longer a problem, and running tricky inlets may be safely and easily accomplished.

FINEST FIBERGLASS CONSTRUCTION

While costing no more than other quality boats of comparable size, Bertrams are molded of exclusive High-Impact fiberglass—finest in the industry. Incredibly strong, durable, resistant to damage. No seams, nothing to rot, swell, absorb water, gas, or oil. The Bertram gel (or surface) coat is flawlessly even, diamond smooth, imparting to its molded-in color a beauty heretofore unknown in fiberglass manufacture. With all formica and vinyl interiors, maintenance is reduced 80%.

Bertram's give you not only new versatility and greatly increased boating pleasure, but boating's most enduring value. Your pride in her appearance will be matched only by your joy in her performance.

Other models available in 20, 25 and 31 ft.

TIMES' BOWLER-OF-THE-WEEK CONTEST . . . . . . UNDER WAY IN TWO WEEKS

Like Busy Bees, Bowlers Begin Seasonal Buzz

"B" stands for busy bees . . . and busy bowlers.

That's how it is around all Lower Vancouver Island lanes as most leagues, both five and tenpin, hung out the "back-to-work" sign this week.

It starts in two weeks' time.

The 28-week inter-lane competition begins Oct. 1 and winds up with the week beginning April 21, 1967. Competition winds up with a grand splash on May 7 with rolloffs on city lanes to determine the "Bowler-of-the-Year" in four categories.

Pin-belters can compete in any one of the four divisions—men's five and tenpins, and women's five and tenpins. A bowler is eligible to win only one "Bowler-of-the-Week" award.

Weekly winners will receive a certificate of achievement from the Daily Times and pictures of the four winners will be published weekly.

Competition will be afforded a "recess" for two weeks during the Christmas holidays.

There is no entry fee. The rules are simple:

Competition is open to any bowler competing in league play on lanes in Sidney, Youbou, Sooke, Duncan, Chemainus, Lake Cowichan and Greater Victoria. Each week starts on a Saturday morning and winds up the following Friday night.

Those hitting the highest three-game scratch score in each division will be named weekly champion.

If a former winner tops the list in any succeeding week, the award and a spot in the year-end rolloff will go to the person rolling the next high score. In case of ties, the contestant with the high single will be declared the winner.

League secretaries will be responsible during the season to submit all top scores to lanes' managers, who, in turn, will forward them to the Daily Times.

Bowlers qualifying for the final rolloffs will vie for trophies. In addition, any rolloff champion who is a subscriber to the Times will receive a bonus prize of $100.

Tentative sites of the rolloffs will be: both men's and women's fivepins at Gibson's; men's tenpins at Mayfair, and women's tenpins at Aurora.

Good luck . . . and good bowling.

MINTO CUP FINAL HAS DRAMATIC INGREDIENTS

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—A tight defence, good stick-handling and plenty of leg power proved the combination for Oshawa Green Gaels Friday night as they edged New Westminster Salmonbellies 11-10 in overtime in the Minto Cup series.

It was the best game so far in the best-of-seven national junior lacrosse championship series and left the clubs tied with two wins each.

A crowd of 3,000, the largest to watch a junior lacrosse game here this year, saw the lead change hands endlessly—but always when the quarter bell sounded the score was even. It was 2-2 after the first, 6-6 after the second, 8-8 after the third and 10-10 at the end of the fourth.

'Teach' Winces —Student Wins

Associated Press

"They've got a nice ball club," said George Halas, the 71-year-old patriarch of Chicago Bears.

GEORGE HALAS
. . . Papa Bear bitten

"Any win in the National Football League is satisfying, but to beat George Halas and the Bears is extra special," said Los Angeles Rams' rookie coach George Allen.

That was the best, or worst, Allen and his former boss had to say after the Rams beat the Bears 31-17 Friday night before a crowd of 59,916 in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

The Rams go into Green Bay against the Packers next Sunday with a 2-0 record. The Bears draw a bye and are 0-2.

Chicago had its chances Friday night and Halas could not be too pleased with the way the Bears let them slip away.

COULDN'T CAPITALIZE

Leading 24-17, the Rams twice fumbled away the ball in the final four minutes. The Bears took over each time on the Los Angeles 19.

The Bears got nowhere, on two runs by Gale Sayers and six incomplete passes by Rudy Bukich.

In the final two minutes, Bukich's pass attempt from his 42 after a Ram punt was gathered in behind the line of scrimmage on a leap by 6-7, 250-pound defensive end Lamar Lundy who lumbered 33 yards for the touchdown which put the game out of reach.

An 84-yard pass play, Roman Gabriel to Jack Snow, put the Rams on the scoreboard in the first period.

Sayers' twisting 58-yard run from scrimmage gave the Bears a 17-14 halftime lead.

FUMBLE RUINED RUN

There was a 94-yard kickoff return by the Bears' Dick Gordon, but he fumbled into the end zone when overhauled on the Rams' three and kicker Bruce Gossett recovered for a touchback.

Green Bay's clash with the Browns at Cleveland and the Houston Oilers' match with the Jets in New York feature the Sunday schedule. No games are scheduled today.

The Houston-New York affair featuring quarterbacks George Blanda and Joe Namath, is a fight for the Eastern Division lead in the American Football League.

SO WHAT?

CHUVALO SCORES EASILY

EDMONTON (CP) — George Chuvalo, of Toronto scored a second-round technical knockout over Irish Bob Avery of Tucson, Ariz., Friday night in a heavyweight boxing match that excited few fans and drew even less.

Only 931 persons paid $4,300 to see the Canadian heavyweight champion humble his opponent at the two minute mark of the second round of what was scheduled to be a 10-round bout.

Referee Jack Berry stopped the fight after Avery had been knocked down for the mandatory eight count twice in the first round and three times in the second.

The victory was Chuvalo's 37th against 13 losses and two draws. Avery has won 19 of 24 bouts, including Friday's whipping.

The 220-pound Chuvalo pressed the fight trying for a quick knockout. He softened 215-pound Avery in the first round with several powerful body punches.

Chuvalo's general manager, Irving Ungerman of Toronto, said the champion's next opponent might be former Canadian middleweight champion Charlie Chase of Montreal Sept. 27 in Montreal.

Avery said after the fight, "I blew it in the first round."

Chuvalo said he'd hoped for a tougher fight but gave Avery credit for his courage.

Ungerman said "we're looking for (world champion) Cassius Clay and we're doing exactly as the other ranked fighters are doing in taking any match with between-class opponents."

Hicks Defending Title at Uplands

A field headed by defending champion Mrs. W. V. Hicks tees off Monday in quest of the Uplands Golf Club ladies' championship.

He'll Help Esks

EDMONTON (CP)—Joe Hernandez, who played for Edmonton Eskimos in 1963, was to rejoin the Western football League club today in time to work out for Monday's game against Ottawa Rough Riders.

Palmer To Play In Van

VANCOUVER — Arnie's "Canadian Army" received good news today. But it could spell ill-tidings for the rest of the competitors on golf's gold trail.

Arnie Palmer announced he will play in the Canadian Open at Shaughnessy's seaside layout Sept. 29 to Oct. 2.

His late decision to forgo an earlier golf commitment, means all 10 top money-winners on the circuit will match strokes for Seagram's Gold Cup, except for holidaying Gary Player. More accurately, 44 of the top 50 golfers will attend.

Bing Crosby will match notes with contemporaries Dean Martin, Andy Williams and Gordon Macrae. Phil Harris, Fred MacMurray, Jim Backus and Bob Sterling also will compete.

But for Palmer, the Canadian Open has a special meaning.

When the winning score of 265 was posted during the 1955 open, newsmen had to scurry around to get some background on the winner.

They found he was a 24-year old from the coal-mining town of Latrobe, Pa., whose winnings to that point totalled less than $3,000. Since that time, Palmer has won more than half a million on the trail and tripled that in loose change from allied golf interests.

JERRY SHOWS HIS STUFF

"A fine shot? You ain't seen nothin' yet!" Jerry Berezowski, driving home a point before watchful eyes of fellow volleyball expert Bob Graves, will have plenty of chances to show his stuff in the near future. The lads begin conducting classes for men 18 years of age and up at Oak Bay High School gym October 4. Registration takes place at YMCA Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 8 p.m. (Times photo by Bill Halkett).

Leos' Skrien Weeps Early —What'll He Do Later?

The high-flying Ottawa Rough Riders move into Empire Stadium at Vancouver tonight to meet what the Lions' coaching staff pictures as a weakened, cellar-dwelling British Columbia team.

The Lions, facing fast elimination as a possible Western Football Conference contender, say four of their top players can't operate efficiently — including quarterback Joe Kapp.

As B.C. coach Dave Skrien tells it, Kapp, all-star linebacker Tom Brown and ends Pat Claridge and Jim Carphin all have intestinal influenza.

They'll be on the field, says Skrien, but "after a bout with flu a person is usually weak as a kitten."

OTTAWANS READY

The Riders, fresh from their win over Hamilton Tiger-Cats are fit and ready to go against the hapless Leos.

The game, to be seen locally only on Cablevision is one of four in the West this weekend and Monday. Winnipeg Blue Bombers are at Calgary tonight to do battle with the Stampeders — faced with the same winless problems as B.C. — while Toronto Argonauts meet Saskatchewan Roughriders Sunday and Ottawa moves into Edmonton Monday to play the Eskimos. In the East Montreal is at Hamilton.

Winnipeg coach Bud Grant says he's not going into the game against Calgary with any illusions. Despite Calgary's poor record this season, says Grant, the Stamps are as tough defensively as any one the Bombers will have to face.

"Offensively, they've had to do a lot of juggles because of injuries and it's pretty hard to tell what they'll come up with."

The Toronto-Regina game Sunday presents a problem for Rider coach Eagle Keys.

"The toughest thing about preparing for the Argos is trying to figure what (Eagle) Day is going to do. He only had a couple of days to prepare for his first game and the Argos could change their entire attack now that Day has had more time to work with their offence."

Kirk High Man On Totem Pole

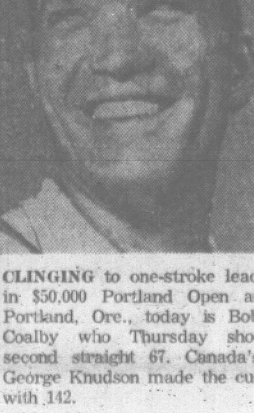
JASPER, Alta, (CP) — Perry Kirkpatrick of Vancouver's Quilchena Golf and Country Club, Friday won the week-long 36th annual Totem Pole golf tournament with a 5 and 4 victory over Dr. Don Crang of Sudbury.

In the women's final, Mrs. Crang led throughout her match with Mrs. A. K. Snell of Edmonton to win 3 and 2.

Waitress Sues

'BACKFIELD BITE' GOING TO COURT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Waitress Paulette Russell put the bite Friday on a B.C. Lions football player whom she claims bit her on the behind.



CLINGING to one-stroke lead in $50,000 Portland Open at Portland, Ore., today is Bob Coalby who Thursday shot second straight 67. Canada's George Knudson made the cut with 142.

The 24-year-old Vancouver woman launched a supreme court action against linebacker Rudy Reschke seeking unspecified damages.

The college student claims Reschke bit her on the posterior while she was waiting on a group of football players at a local beer parlor where she works as a part-time waitress.

The writ, filed in B.C. Supreme Court by lawyer Charles A. Drozdzik, claims "general and special damages for personal injuries sustained by the plaintiff as a result of the deliberate and malicious actions of the defendant, resulting in injuries to the right lower dorsal region of the plaintiff, causing her emotional upset and embarrassment . . ."

Miss Russell said earlier this week that Reschke bit her after a number of football players bet a total of $50 he wouldn't do it.

Reschke denied this.

Old Arthritis Arm Chills Pittsburgh

Koufax Draws Blueprints For a Legend

UPI

Sandy Koufax, who spurned achitecture for baseball, is still drawing the blueprints for a legend that will be remembered as long as the game of baseball is played.

Koufax, whose designs on a career in architecture ended when he was lured off the University of Cincinnati campus by a baseball bonus, again proved unbeatable Friday night in a "must" game against the closest contender in the heat of a tight pennant race.

The world's most celebrated arthritis victim pitched a five-hitter to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 5-1 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates. The victory moved the Dodgers a step closer to their third National League pennant in the past four seasons.

The victory was the Dodgers' eighth straight and gave them a 3½-game cushion over the second-place Pirates with just 16 games left. It moved them four games ahead of third place San Francisco, which lost to New York Mets, 5-4.

It was the same Koufax who won the key second game of the September, 1963, series with St. Louis that knocked the Cards out of the race. And the same Koufax who won four games down the stretch last season including the pennant clincher on the second to the last day of the season.

'HAPPY NEW YEAR'

Referring to the Jewish holidays, Koufax beamed after the game, "tis was my first win of the new year."

It left him 24-8 this season after marks of 26-8, 19-5 and 25-5 the three previous seasons. He also still has the best earned-run-average in the league and is in good position to become the first pitcher ever to win the National League ERA crown for five straight seasons.

The Dodgers' only two failures to win pennants in the past five seasons came in years (1962 and 1964) when Koufax was sidelined with injuries in September.

Lou Johnson, the castoff who got his chance to escape the minors last year when Tommy Davis broke his leg and helped the club win the whole thing, hit a three-run homer in the third inning to give Koufax all the help he needed.

SEPTEMBER SWATTER

Elsewhere in the NL, St. Louis won a doubleheader from Chicago, 3-1 and 4-0, Atlanta shut out Cincinnati, 7-0 and Houston edged Philadelphia, 6-4.

Johnson's homer off starter and loser Bob Veale followed a walk to Koufax and a single by Yankee-reject Dick Schofield. It continued Johnson's September hitting surge and he said "the later part of the season is when I come alive."

Koufax was in charge the rest of the way. The only Pirate run came in the seventh when they sandwiched two walks around a bunt single by Jose Pagan to load the bases and Gene Alley hit a sacrifice fly. "I tried a little extra hard there," Koufax said. "Any time a team gets two walks, it deserves to score."

Juveniles Highlight Clash of Co-Leaders

Victoria Hornets and Oak Bay Farmer Construction, the only undefeated teams in the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League after two weeks of play, crash head-on at Macdonald Park Sunday at 2 p.m.

Hornets' rock-ribbed defensive unit, key to a tight 2-1 victory over James Bay Mustangs last week, will be gunning for Farmers' quarterback Bob Panton along with breakaway halfback Terry Ryan, who exploded for 43- and 80-yard touchdown romps in Farmers' 27-8 win over Cowichan Timbermen.

In other contests this Sunday, Mustangs will visit Campbell River Raiders and Nanaimo Redmen will move into Duncan to face the Timbermen.

Reese Top Rookie

SEATTLE (AP) — Denver's Rich Reese was voted the top rookie of the 1966 Pacific Coast League season, Dewey Soriano, league president announced.

Walt Williams of Tulsa edged out Reese for the batting crown with a .330 average.

SMITH THE NEWEST

Toronto Goal Has 3 Bodies

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Punch Imlach may not be pleased about everything he sees as his Toronto Maple Leafs rough it through their National Hockey League training camp, but Al Smith is an exception.

Smith, a 20-year-old lanky rookie goaltender, has obviously impressed the Leaf coach as the team regroups to try and improve on last year's third-place finish in the National Hockey League.

After watching Smith in the first-shift scrimmage of this year's training camp, Imlach conceded that "that kid is okay.

"He's going to be a good goalie," he said. "He's got the right style, a good attitude and he has confidence. Also, he's a standup goalie."

Smith played with OHA Junior A Toronto Marlboros last season but had two games with the parent NHL club.

TERRY 'NEW MAN'

As a standup goalie, Smith means even more depth around the goalmouth — Johnny Bower has looked as sharp as ever despite his 41 years and Terry Sawchuk has been revitalized after an off-season back operation.

Sawchuk said he is a new man.

"They (the doctors) found two ruptured discs in my back and put them back in place," he said. "What I thought was a chronic, arthritic condition is gone. I'm a new man, never felt better and now get a good night's sleep."

'PLAYERS ARE SOFT'

Leaf physiotherapist Karl Elieff confirmed with Sawchuk that the 35-year-old veteran is in good shape this year, but told Imlach that "with one or two exceptions, your players are soft."

Imlach responded by increasing the daily practice sessions to 90 minutes from 75.

Several newcomers besides Smith looked impressive in scrimmage Friday, among them Gary Gresdal, a right-winger from Fort William who played at Des Moines last year, and Billy McNeil from Vancouver Canucks.

Most Toronto players were engaged in their annual pre-season guessing game of "who's signing the contract?" No guess is Tim Horton . . . Pros' Hold On Brewer For Real MELVILLE, Sask. (CP) — Fred Page of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Friday the CAHA recognizes the suspension of Carl Brewer by Toronto Maple Leafs.

Page said two CAHA annual meetings have voted to extend the association's agreement with the National Hockey League, which includes terms of reinstatement of former professional players.

Brewer, a former NHL all-start defenceman who was suspended when he left the Maple Leafs a year ago, has asked for reinstatement as an amateur in order to represent Canada in international competition.

"We are pleased Brewer has indicated his wish to join Canada's national hockey team," Page said. "However, his reinstatement at present is a personal matter between himself, his professional team and the National Hockey League."

Page said the CAHA has arranged clearance with the IIHF for the 27-year-old defenceman to play for Canada if he becomes available.

ACTION SUNDAY

New Players Join Kickers' Squad

Hourigan's Kickers, First Division champions of the Victoria and District Soccer League last year, will be out to continue their winning ways when the season-opening McGavin Cup knockout competition gets under way this weekend.

Playing coach Henri Vanderhost will lead his club into the McGavin Cup fray Sunday against Victoria West's first division club at 2 p.m. at Heywood Park.

Holdover players in the Kicker lineup are Gino Bressen, Gunter Beyer, Andy Sabo, Mumfred Heyer, Bill Cameron, Jergen Stossel and Tony Bourbijn.

NEW PLAYERS

New signees are Henri Schoonerwoerd and Gef Debruin, formerly of Holland, Scotsman Tom Corbett, Kurt Beyer, former Brodies' goalkeeper Luige Lise, Otto Ossege and Willi Voht.

Victoria West second division club will play London Boxing Club at Topaz Park, University of Victoria second division team will meet Falcons at the University grounds and Hotspurs will face Gorge at Bullen Park in other first-round matches Sunday. All games start at 2 p.m.

Playoffs started today when Luckies met Navy at Heywood Park.

'Ball Leafs Win It All

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Toronto Maple Leafs won the International League Governors' Cup playoffs for the second straight year Friday night by downing Richmond Braves 6-5 on Tony Horton's two-run homer with two out in the ninth.

It was the first time an IL team has won two successive Governors' Cup playoffs since Rochester won in 1955 and 1956.

Oak Bay Ladies Share the Wealth

It was "share-the-prize" week for the ladies division of Victoria Golf Club.

Coming in for prizes in a pair of weekly competitions were Mesdames J. Chapman, J. Dyer, H. Ellis, C. Morrow, C. Shearing, G. Alexander, F. Senior, T. Munro, M. Prior, C. Cummins, M. Mayhew and B. Stoneham.

Club championship play gets under way with the qualifying round on Monday. The draw:

Chinooks Being Called By Optimistic Whistle

By HAL MALONE

Oh, it's a long, long way to Montreal,
Where in March they play fine basketball;
Where PEI and Newfie, Calgary and UBC
May fight with Chinooks for victory . . .
—With apologies to W. Shakespeare.

They say a little chinook goes a long way. Harold Turner hopes a lot of big Chinooks go even farther. To Montreal, say.

The big Chinooks, Victoria variety, Canadian junior men's basketball finalists in 1966, hit the boards Tuesday, Central gym, 7:30 p.m.

They'll do laps and laps and more laps. And when March rolls around, freshman coach Maury Turner hopes they will be ready to run into the national finals at Montreal.

Turner has some holes to fill. But worries?

GRADS MAY HELP

Oak Bay and Victoria High Schools had hoop juggernauts last season and whither does a graduate look? To Chinooks, hope the Turners (Maury and his pater, Harold, executive member).

Chinooks have lost Ron Bowker, Ken Jackson and Barney Spaven. But the Barrys are back, Turner and Burch, plus Ron Frampton and Brian Brumwell and Doug Gregory.

"We're pleased with what we have," Turner said.

"But we're expecting some fine boys.

"We know the mainland teams will be better and we expect to be right with them. No spot is fixed on our club. We plan to give every boy a full shot. We really want to go to Montreal and bring the championship back."

Chinooks won the national title in 1965 at Hamilton, lost it last year in the final to UBC.

The Esquimalt bantam boys team, B.C. champions this year, will practice prior to Chinooks Tuesday.

MIXED 'SPIEL . . . . . . STARTS OCT. 7

Curlers Getting Ready

Victoria and district curlers will take their baptism of fire at the annual Thanksgiving mixed bonspiel at Victoria Curling Club.

The 'spiel starts Oct. 7 and winds up Oct. 10.

A total of 25 rinks from Victoria have already entered. The limit is 64.

Entry fee is $36 a rink and entries must include two women to play lead and third. Each foursome is guaranteed a minimum of five games under a Chisholm draw.

Early out-of-town entries were filed by Port Alberni's Connie Magnussin and Bill Szabe of Mission City.

Regular club play at Victoria Club will start Oct. 11. All skips entering rinks in the men's division are reminded of a meeting to be held Monday, Sept. 26, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Evening Ladies' League will curl Monday and Thursday nights. The ladies also will meet Sept. 26, but at 8:30 p.m.

Sunday Mixed League play will get under way Oct. 16.

THE 'SHOCK' LINGERED ON

CALGARY (CP)—Victoria Park stewards Thursday night suspended an owner and a jockey indefinitely from racing here.

Owner Wayne Douglas Wise, 23, of Calgary and Norman David Jewell, 24, also of Calgary, were suspended because the stewards said an investigation showed both had been in possession of an electrical device not permitted by regulations. The device is known in racing parlance as a battery or sparker.

The stewards said both cases would be referred to the Alberta Racing Commission that Wise be expelled from racing for life and Jewell for two years at least.

Jewell, ninth leading rider on the western circuit this year with 34 wins, already was in silks in the jockeys' room when the stewards ordered him removed from all five mounts he was scheduled to ride in Thursday night's races.

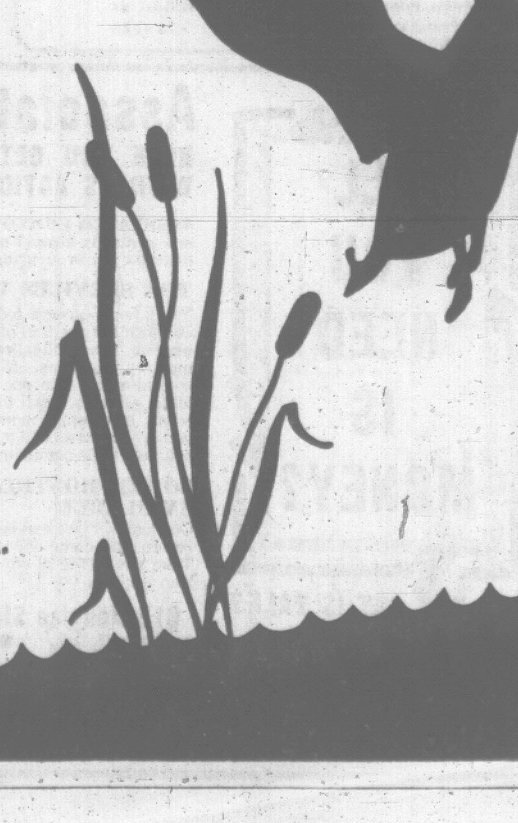
ATTENTION HUNTERS!



This autumn, you must have a Canada Migratory Game Bird Hunting Permit to hunt ducks, geese, coots, sandhill cranes, rails, woodcock, mourning doves, band-tailed pigeons, gallinules or snipe.

The purpose of this special permit is to provide information that will result in increased hunting opportunity through more efficient management of the resource. The Canadian Wildlife Service needs an accurate method of measuring waterfowl populations.

Presently, aerial and ground surveys of the breeding grounds in spring and mid-summer, and of the wintering grounds are providing some information, but not enough. Biologists need to know how many birds of each species are harvested, so that hunting regulations can be set to maintain breeding populations.

Variation in licensing systems has prevented a country-wide harvest survey. But now, sales records of the Canada Migratory Game Bird Hunting Permit, and questionnaires to some hunters, will enable the Wildlife Service to obtain the information needed. The new permit must be purchased in addition to any required provincial licences. Purchase of the new permit is not necessary this year in the Yukon and the Northwest Territories.

These permits are on sale now for $2.00 at rural post offices, and at most city post offices. Check with your local post office to find out where permits are being sold.

TIPS FOR HOME GARDENS

Is Your Greenhouse Comfortable Enough to Sleep In?

By JACK BEASTALL

Jack

One sees so many neglected small greenhouses the only conclusion to be reached is that the owners have not understood the basic principles of management and have, therefore, given up in disgust.

There are several conditions which contribute to failure, and the first of these is considering the glass structure as a house — using the word "house" in the sense of the home in which we live.

In the home we find a reasonably high temperature, a low ratio of moisture in the air and a complete absence of draughts, to be most conducive to our comfort and we tend to duplicate these conditions in the separate house we have for our plants.

Our main error here is in overlooking the fact that plants normally grow outdoors fully exposed to the air, the sun, the rain and temperatures which can vary over as much as 40 to 50 degrees in any 24-hour period.

Our reasons for growing the plants indoors are threefold: (1) To give them protection from the elements so as to have them in flower or fruit at a time when outdoor conditions are quite unsuited to these functions; (2) to give a little protection to plants which normally exist in a climate that is milder than ours; (3) to grow plants from parts of the world where the seasons are the opposite to ours.

Although we create an artificial atmosphere to reach these goals, we must still consider the plants as outdoor subjects, which means they are not going to thrive in a closed-up, hot, dry, glass box.

All of which means that beginners with a greenhouse fail to duplicate the outdoor conditions to which the plants have been accustomed.

The biggest error we make is in having too little ventilation. It is very difficult for the novice to compromise heat with fresh air. Even in winter when the greenhouse heater is in operation to maintain a suitable temperature, the structure must still be ventilated to maintain a circulation of fresh air.

This seems like a total waste of heat until we have had enough experience to understand that the artificial heat we are supplying is doing much more than just raise the temperature.

When you go into a greenhouse on a winter's day, the air should have the pleasant feel and buoyancy of a spring or fall day outdoors — if it has not, then the plants will suffer.

CERTAIN PLANTS

Reading in books that certain plants must have a 65-degree temperature at night and 75 to 80 degrees during the day causes most of the troubles the beginner runs into.

These temperatures are based on commercial practices where a crop has to be readied for the market to meet a specific target date, and where the plants, because of the high cost of producing them under glass, are to remain in the greenhouse for an absolute minimum of time.

Cost of production and marketing dates have no interest whatever for the amateur. The plants are grown for fun and pleasure of growing them, therefore the specified temperatures do not apply in our case.

The same plants will do quite well, and be subject to less pests and diseases, if grown at an average temperature of 50 degrees F., that is, 40 to 45 degrees at night and 60 to 65 during the day with sunshine.

DULL PERIODS

During dull periods, the temperature should always be lower than during clear, sunny periods, because growth decreases when sunshine is lacking.

And regardless of sun or cloud, a free circulation of air is essential even if a little more heat has to be used on a cold winter day to keep up the needed minimum temperature.

In the occasional periods of low winter outdoor temperatures we experience here on the West Coast, the greenhouse temperature can fall to 34 degrees overnight without any harm to the plants providing they have never been subjected to excessive heat or lack of air.

Once the beginner realizes the conditions best suited to growing plants under the shelter of glass, it is possible to ignore the thermometer and sense, or feel, whether conditions are right or not.

If, when you enter the greenhouse, you have the feeling you would like to stay there all day or all night, because the atmosphere seems perfect, you can be sure your plants are enjoying those conditions.

WEEK'S WORK

By JACK BEASTALL

Tuberous begonias outdoors in planters and beds will last in beauty until sharp frost if less water is given from now on. Dampness on and around leaves should be kept to a minimum now that night temperatures are lower.

Prepare beds and borders for planting spring bulbs — narcissus, tulip, hyacinth.

Now while soil is warm is a good time for planting delphiniums, lupins and nearly all herbaceous perennials.

Schizostylis, the Kaffir-lily, needs water and a little feeding, now coming into bloom in the garden.

Any annuals which begin to look untidy can be pulled up and put on compost heap. Prepare spaces either for bulb planting or permanent plants.

Strawberry runner plants can be moved now into well prepared new bed. They may need attention after frost during winter to see that roots are well covered with soil.

Prune loganberry vines after fruit is picked. Cut out all canes which bore fruit by removing down to soil level. Train in required number of new canes, removing the surplus.

BRIGHT yellow trumpet daffodils are favored by many planning ahead to Canadian Centennial Year garden display.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q. This spring I bought some plants called Bellflowers, but they look something like snapdragons to me. How could they have mixed them up like this? My neighbor says they are snaps but I never saw any quite like these.

A. Your plants were not mixed up. From your information, I would judge that you have the new snapdragons which came out this spring under the name of Bellflower snapdragons, and also under the name of Bright Butterflies. These snaps have open faces instead of the familiar snapping jaws.

* * *

Q. All the shrubs in front of my house are getting brown leaves. As the camellias and azaleas cost me around five dollars each this spring, I want to know if this is caused by my neighbor using weed spray on his lawn. What do you think? Sign me Wondering, Victoria.

A. With the scanty information you have given, I would hesitate to say that the trouble is from spray. First, test the soil in between the shrubs. If these are planted against the house, it is likely you will find the soil quite dry beneath the surface. Take a shovel and bring up a shovel full from three different spots.

While you may not save all the plants, you have a chance to save some if you begin to soak the soil well by setting a small revolving sprinkler in the area and letting it remain on very low pressure for several hours. At any rate, if the soil is dry, you will know your neighbor is not to blame.

* * *

Q. When do I sow godetia seed? T.S.C., Victoria.

A. Godetia is a hardy annual which may be sown now in prepared ground, and will be well advanced by spring for early flowering next summer.

* * *

Q. How far back to I cut lavender bushes? Mrs. O.B., Oak Bay.

A. Lavender bushes should be cut back about two inches in mid-August when the flower stems are cut for drying. I would now wait until early April before cutting back this amount.

* * *

Q. Where can I get advice on the best kind of greenhouse to put on my lot? G.S., Saanich.

A. The advice you need hinges on the type of plants you wish to grow. If you can give us more information we could suggest the structure best suited to your needs.

HEATED WATER CIRCULATES UP INTO THE FINNED COPPER TUBE
ELECTRIC HEATING ELEMENT
COOL WATER IS DRAWN BACK OVER ELECTRIC ELEMENT

We will be glad to explain further details on this fabulous new product.
Feel free to come in and talk it over any time.
Free estimates gladly given.

How "International Electric Hot-Water heat" works . . .
Electric heating element heats water which circulates up into finned tube to provide heat when and where needed at all times. Electrical limit control maintains absolutely safe water temperatures. Expansion air chamber allows for expansion of heated water. All copper tubing is used, permanently sealed so that additional water is never required.

You must see for yourself one of the most remarkable advances in home heating ever achieved by the heating industry. Bring measurements of rooms, plans of home, and let us discuss your heating problem with you. You will discover why International Hot Water Electric Heat can give you the healthful Winter living comfort you've always hoped for.

SEND FOR FREE BROCHURE NO. E344
Now you can have the full story of electric heating—why it has been so costly to use in the past—and why utilities throughout the nation are finding that International hot water electric heat without plumbing is so remarkable in holding its heat steady and uniform just where it's needed so that homes can now be heated at such surprisingly low cost. There is no cost or obligation, of course.

HERE YOU GET DECISIONS, NOT DELAYS, COMMITMENTS, NOT COMMITTEES, WITH US ACTION SPEAKS LOUDER THAN WORDS

ASSOCIATED HOMEOWNERS FINANCE announces a new centrally-located office in Victoria, which is ready to assist you in securing a prompt, low-cost loan.

THE SERVICES WE OFFER . . .
Many home-owners today find that they are in the uncomfortable position of having several short-term, high interest rate obligations that lead to over-burdening monthly payments. You can now consolidate all these commitments into one low-cost, low monthly payment loan. Give us a call to discuss your individual requirements in complete confidence. Our advice is free and you are under no obligation. Best of all, your home does not have to be completely paid for.

LOWER MONTHLY PAYMENTS AVAILABLE
Our loan service can be of great assistance to you. Call before you come in. Give us a few necessary facts. Take advantage of our prompt, effective and courteous loan service.

ACT TODAY — RELAX TOMORROW
IMPORTANT—Total interest charges clearly stated on contracts. No hidden costs. Your loan can be paid off at any time.

Jackie Gleason Show Stars Honeymooners In Return-Premiere

The Honeymooners, first of 10 new full-hour versions of the television classic, will launch The Jackie Gleason show on its fifth season, its first in color, tonight at 7 o'clock on Channel 8 (7:30 on Channels 7, 12).

The season premiere will reunite Gleason, in his famous portrayal of boisterous bus driver Ralph Kramden, with Art Carney, who will re-create his original role of Ed Norton, the floundering sewer worker who is the loyal, unwitting henchman in Kramden's grandiose schemes.

Appearing as Alice Kramden, Ralph's spouse, is singing comedienne Sheila MacRae. Jane Kean, singer and actress who appeared on Broadway and television with Gleason, portrays Ed's wife, Trixie Norton.

The full-hour "Honeymooners" programs will be presented periodically during the season, either as musical-comedy versions or straight comedies, starring Gleason, Carney, and the Misses MacRae and Kean.

The first show of the new season, entitled "The Jackie Gleanson Show: The Honeymooners," is non-musical except when the program opens with a rousing production number performed by the June Taylor Dancers.

"The Honeymooners' ' sees Kramden determined to win a trip around the world or a new home in the country. With questionable assistance from Norton and avowed pessimism from Alice, Kramden pursues his dream by entering a number of contests. Complications befall Kramden and Norton at every turn, but they plug on to an uproarious climax. Also appearing in "The Honeymooners" are George O'Hanlon, Madeleine Sherwood, Howard St. John, Johnny Morgan, Dick Sterling and Phil Gordon.

Set decorator Phil Cuoco saved the props from "The Honeymooners" of a decade ago, and they will be used on the opening show — everything from the icebox to table and chairs.

On hand as well are Sammy Spear and his orchestra, Gleason Girl returnees Greta Randall and Lanita Kent and newcomers Judy Jordan, Pat Sandy and Elaine Richards, and announcer Johnny Olsen.

Meet the Press

President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines will be the guest on "Meet the Press" Sunday at 1 p.m on Channel 5.

The program will be the only national television interview with President Marcos while he is in the U.S. He is on a State visit to President Johnson.

Interviewing President Marcos will be A. M. Rosenthal, of The New York Times; Earl Mazo, of The Reader's Digest; Robert Christopher, of Newsweek Magazine; and Pauline Frederick, NBC News United Nations correspondent.

Ed Sullivan Show

Red Buttons, Herman's Hermits, Nancy Ames, Franco Corelli and Renata Tebaldi, the Muppets and the Polynesian Festival Troupe will appear on "The Ed Sullivan Show" in color Sunday, at 8 p.m. on Channels 2, 6, 7 and 12.

Buttons, comedy and acting star, will offer a humorous routine.

Herman's Hermits, British vocal and instrumental group, and singer Nancy Ames will perform some of their hit tunes.

Tenor Franco Corelli and soprano Renata Tebaldi of the Metropolitan Opera will do a duet from "Andrea Chenier" by Giordano.

The Nuppets, novelty puppet act, will be making the first of a number of scheduled appearances on the Sullivan show.

The Polynesian Festival Troupe — 167 natives of the islands of the South Pacific — sing, dance and play musical instruments.

Centennial Voyageurs

Next year Canada will celebrate the Centennial of her Confederation.

Two-and-a-half centuries before Canada became a nation, European explorers began pushing courageously into its vast wilderness and exploring its mysteries.

Next year, from the Rockies to Montreal, present-day voyageurs will follow these explorers' routes in a great centennial canoe pageant.

To determine what equipment and training will be necessary for 1967, trials were held this summer. Canoemen from all the provinces and territories of Canada were invited to participate and CBC cameras were on hand to cover the voyage. Highlights of the filming will be presented on the 20-20 series episode, Diary of a Centennial Voyageur, Sunday at 5:30 p.m. on Channel 2.

The film also shows some of the special events and celebrations that greeted the canoemen at stops along their route.

All voyageurs are Canadians, with one crew from each province consisting of six paddlers and two spares. Each province is responsible for selecting, training and testing its own crew.

The 10 canoes, which travelled from Lachine to New York via Lake Champlain and the Hudson River, are replicas of the ones used by the early voyageurs — 25 feet long, double pointed, and specially adapted for running rapids and facing the difficulties of large lakes, and able to hold one ton of cargo.

The canoes will bear the names of most of the early explorers — Roberval, Latour and Poutrincourt from the Atlantic region; Champlain, Albanel and Lemoyne from the Quebec area; LaSalle, Radisson and Brule from Ontario; Kelsey, Henday and Laverendrye from the Prairies, and Thomson, Fraser and Mackenzie who explored B.C.

High Holy Days

In observance of the Jewish High Holy Days Jan Peerce, the noted Metropolitan Opera tenor, will be the central figure in an "Eternal Light" special to be presented on Channel 5 in color at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

The program, "High Holy Days: Theme and Variations," will be produced by the Television Religious Program Unit of NBC News in co-operation with the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Peerce will be vocal soloist, backed by chorus and orchestra, and, informally, will recall Rosh Hashanah and Tom Kippur services of his childhood on New York's lower East Side.

"Of course, I wasn't the only kid who could sing," Peerce recalls. "I remember during my childhood days as an alto, singing in Schnippolinski's Choir, I had stiff competition from a kid named Kalman Kalish. There's a nice solo part in the 'V'al Kulom' and we both wanted it. So there was a lot of competition for it, and eventually a compromise was reached; he'd sing it one time, I'd sing it the next, and we're still both singing it. He's a well-known cantor in New York City."

Peerce also will speak of his father's heartfelt singing of "Kol Nidre" and the congregation's yearly tribute to him.

LOVE MATCH . . . It was love at first sight when apprentice architect David (Peter Deuel) met art student Julie (Judy Carne) in colorful San Francisco. The young stars appear in the romantic comedy, Love on a Rooftop, Tuesdays at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 4.

LARRY HAGMAN

Genie's Hubby Makes Good With Dream

HOLLYWOOD — Actor Larry Hagman has had a lot of wishes come true, thanks to a genie.

"I'm solvent for the first time in years — I've paid a lot of debts," said Hagman, who attributes his good fortune to his regular starring role as astronaut Tony Nelson in "I Dream of Jeannie."

Hagman has reasons to feel relaxed, with the series going into its second season.

"I'm so contented I can afford to worry about Viet Nam," he said expansively. "Before this I worried about where the next buck was coming from. One year I had 46 different employers. It's great now to get up on a day off, turn on the 'Today' show, see the news at eight, drink coffee, read magazines and bask in the sun. I did the same thing before I had the series — only I sweated more. I was out of work nine months."

Hagman's life has been transformed magically in many ways.

"I always liked wine, but I was never able to afford it," he said. "The other day I bought $200 worth of wine. When we finished the first season, I went skiing. I went first class for the first time. We took along friends who had been kind to us. There were 14 of us for a week. We didn't have any more fun than if we had gone last class — but I enjoyed being able to do it."

SPENDS MONEY

Despite former hardships, Hagman does not feel penurious about money.

"That's what it's for," he said, commenting on the skiing fling. "Money is for sharing. And if the government wants to take a big hunk out of me in taxes, so what — this country's worth paying for."

Hagman feels he is moving closer now to the realization of the dream house he has always wished for.

"I won't start on this until I have enough money in the bank to pay cash," he said, proceeding to describe the house. "The main part will be a big common room — about 60 by 80 feet — with tiny little houses off it. There will also be a huge bath house, like a Roman bath, with a fireplace on one side, and a view overlooking the ocean on the other side."

The graduated swimming pool affair would have great social value.

"We would entertain here," said Hagman. "Friends could come over, bathe, and have drinks. The water would be pine-scented and there'd be music. The bath would seat 12 people. Everybody would wear bathing suits. It would be a great place for conversation. A floor could cover it afterwards and the room could be used for dancing."

Hagman hopes to build this house in the mountains with a view of the Pacific, about an hour and a half from Hollywood by car. Eventually, however, he hopes to have a helicopter.

"The house," he concluded, "Will be for my kids, and their kids. That's all I want to leave them — a house. They can make their own dough."

TV Sniffs at Poisoned Air

Pollution Special Tells of Menace To World Life

The Poisoned Air, a wide-ranging survey of the rapidly growing menace of air pollution, which affects the health and property of 100 million North Americans and costs billions of dollars a year, will be presented Tuesday at 10 p.m. on Channel 7.

The broadcast, with CBS News Correspondent Daniel Schorr reporting, points out that air pollution is not a mysterious, inevitable by-product of a highly industrialized society; the solution is well known with techniques already available. The broadcast probes the problem of how communities, industries and individuals in a democracy can be restrained from poisoning the air and whether the nations are willing to pay the cost of clean air (an estimated $3 billion a year for the next 10 years).

Produced by Jack Beck, CBS Reports: The Poisoned Air shows that air pollution is not restricted to large metropolitan areas—Missoula, Mont., and the Mojave Desert have polluted air—and is world-wide in scope—Rome and Tokyo suffer from the scourge. The broadcast details how foul air reduces the productivity of agriculture, creates a serious and rising health problem, erodes everything from buildings to rubber products and even affects the evolutionary process.

NFB Presents

A rare opportunity to visit the enchanted world of the three-year-old will be offered on the CBC-television network series NFB Presents on Thursday, at 10 p.m., on Channel 2.

"The World of Three," produced by the National Film Board, explores life through the eyes of the child and, in doing so, reveals some of the problems in communication between parent and offspring.

Lucas, the three-year-old star of "The World of Three," is played by the son of Canadian actor Peter Donat who also appears in this half-hour sojourn into a life of innocence and joy.

From the camera's subjective approach to the world of three, the youngster's fears, jealousies and rebellion are more easily understood. Actions which seem unreasonable to the mature eyes of the parent, take on new meaning when perceived as a child.

To carry the subjective treatment of the story one step further the camera views the world of Lucas from his eye level.

Festival Presents

Tom Hendry recreates an era and revives a generation in his first full-length television play, Fifteen Miles of Broken Glass, to be presented on Festival series, Wednesday at 9:30 p.m. on Channels 2 and 6.

Hendry's nostalgic drama recalls the years of the Second World War in Canada, and the generation just emerging into adulthood as the war ended.

Fifteen Miles of Broken Glass also reunites the talents of Hendry, now of the Canadian Theatre Centre, and John Hirsch, who with this production directs his first major television drama on CBC-TV. Hendry and Hirsch were formerly associated at the Manitoba Theatre Centre, of which they were co-founders.

The story concerns a keen young air cadet, Alec McNabb (played by Kelly), whose all-consuming ambition is to join the RCAF and become a fighter-pilot like his brother-in-law. When the war ends, he feels cheated.

Original Musical

Would you believe Donald O'Connor as the Greek god Hermes?

That's what you'll see when Show of the Week presents Olympus 7-0000, an original musical for television by Richard Adler — who wrote Damn Yankees! and The Pajama Game — and Jerome Chodorov (My Sister, Eileen, Wonderful Town) — on Monday, at 9 p.m. on Channels 2 and 6.

This hour-long musical comedy about a heavenly intervention on behalf of a losing football team is the first of a number of star-studded telecasts from the "ABC Stage 67" series, which CBC-TV will carry on a pre-release basis. All are in color.

MASQUERADE . . . Co-stars Dana Wynter and Robert Lansing become involved in suspense, action and intrigue as agent Peter Murphy (Lansing) takes over the identity of a deceased millionaire, Mark Wainwright, in an effort to cover his real work on "The Man Who Never Was" Wednesdays at 9 p.m. on Channel 4.

No Retirement Thoughts By Dief on 71st Birthday

OTTAWA (CP)—John Diefenbaker celebrates his 71st birthday Sunday, bright-eyed, vigorous and full of fight. He's clearly looking forward to a long time at the centre of political battle.

"I needn't tell you I'm in the very best of good health and I treasure the House of Commons as much as the day I first arrived after a long series of defeats," the Conservative leader said in a birthday interview.

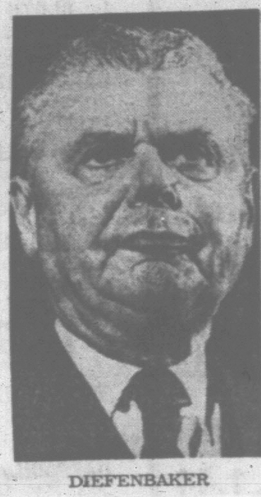
Liberals and their policies are still the main target but just in case any rebel raises a head from cover within the ranks of his own party he's plainly unprepared to take any advice about retirement.

On Dec. 14 he marks 10 years as leader of his party. In this decade he has fought five general elections and been prime minister six years.

Looking back over the last year, he says with relish:

"I've had a very happy year. We had an election in that period which was an event—the tremendous support was so far removed from what was so zealously propagated in advance."

If anyone doubts his drive, they have only to take note of the fact that after a one-day foray into Quebec last Thursday for a nomination speech, the Opposition leader returned here at 3 a.m. and was in his office five hours later well ahead of the staff members who accompanied him to Quebec.



DIEFENBAKER
. . . happy year

He was sitting on cloud nine about his reception at Joliette, Que., where the Conservatives nominated their first candidate for the next election on the basis of the new constituency maps. He reads it as confirmation that the voters see the Liberal government as he does: "In a shambles of indecision, rudderless."

This view, he says, was driven home by Finance Minister Sharp welshing on the government's commitment to bring in a medical care insurance plan by July 1, 1967. Mr. Sharp last week delayed the starting date by one year.

Casting a glance at the federal - provincial horizon, he tagged the two-day tax-sharing conference as an illustration of unco-operative chaos in federalism on the part of the federal government.

Though he has an undisguised relish in current political events, Mr. Diefenbaker's well-known interest in the past comes through frequently in conversation.

Rhodesian Negroes Hurl Gas Bombs

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) A group of Negroes lobbed gasoline bombs at a block of four shops on the outskirts of Salisbury Friday night, sparking off a fire which gutted the block.

The South African Press Association also reported that a number of fire bombs were hurled onto the verandah of a hotel seven miles from Salisbury. Guests hurried from their rooms in night attire and chased a gang of Negroes. No one was hurt and the bombs caused little damage, SAPA said.

The block of shops set afire was near the Negro township of Highfield. A bomb was first thrown at the night watchman, who fled. The gang then hurled a number of blazing bombs through the shop windows, the report said.

Heads Costs Probe

OTTAWA (CP) — Robert Warren James, 50, has been appointed director of the joint Commons - Senate inquiry into living costs, it was announced Friday. He has been borrowed from the department of national defence, where he has been director general of service personnel benefits.

Thinkin' of Phil In Widening Runway

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Hydro is investigating whether to widen and hardtop its Hudson Hope airport at the vast Peace River power project to bring it up to standards of the jet age.

The work would make it possible for Highways Minister Phil Gaglardi to land there in his $600,000 Lear jet.

At present jets cannot land there because of the danger of jet engines sucking in loose rocks on the surface of the present compated gravel runways.

J. P. Ottesen, hydro Peace power project manager, said Friday the idea is to bring the airport up to Department of Transport standards and make it fully licenced by the federal department.

In this way the airport could qualify for federal financial aid for the surfacing and widening. The department has a formula for assisting in the development of airports in new areas.

Ottesen said hardtopping the existing 5,200 by 100-foot runway would cost about $150,000.

But he said the widening would be a great deal more expensive requiring extensive excavation and sub-grading, and the hydro might not want to go it alone without federal financial assistance.

At present Pacific Western Airlines has a special licence to carry passengers and cargo to the airport situation three miles west of the project.

Grit To Lead Opposition Against Hellyer

HALIFAX (CP)—Nova Scotia Liberal leader, Gerald Regan, said Thursday he opposes the unification of Canada's armed forces into one defence unit.

Mr. Regan told a news conference he would present a resolution to the national Liberal party conference in Ottawa next month calling for the retention of the separate designations of the army, navy and air force with separate uniforms for each.

Although he approved of the defence department's program of integration of the services, he was concerned about the "confusion and uncertainty" regarding plans for unification.

Integration had brought temporary problems, but also had brought defence savings. The result of unification, however, would be "confusion and low morale without offsetting benefits."

Mr. Regan said: "I think we can retain the traditions of separate forces . . . without any sacrifice of efficiency or dollars."

He was particularly concerned about the future of the navy "because there will always be threats that can only be met by a sea force."

Mr. Regan 'so said many servicemen now are unable to live on their pay and said technical personnel feel "compelled to leave the services in droves as soon as they attain the upper technical standards of their trade."

The pay increases planned for the services next month should be adequate to overcome this serious problem," he said, and rejected suggestions that inflation would be "a valid or sufficient reason" to hold up the increase.

CLINTON, Ont. (CP) — Defence Minister Hellyer feels that within 20 years every country in the Western world "and perhaps some behind the curtain" will have a single armed force replacing the traditional army, navy, air force concept.

Mr. Hellyer said Thursday that many nations have expressed interest in Canada's scheme and there have been many delegations inquiring about its progress.

The minister, here for special ceremonies marking the 25th anniversary of radar training in Canada, refused to take credit for the idea. "It's an old one. It's just that Canada is the first to undertake it."

When asked if the proposed force was conceived as an efficient peace-keeping force for world trouble spots, he said he doesn't like to see unification related to the peace-keeping concept as the sole purpose for the new force.

The emphasis is on the creation of a mobile force, well equipped and highly trained, as flexible as possible and able to respond quickly under conditions where so often quick response is essential.

PRIVATE EYE CLAIMS:

600 Canadians Support Nazis

TORONTO (CP) — A private investigator who infiltrated the Canadian Nazi party and collected party records and names and addresses of supporters said Friday night he fears an attempt will be made on his life or the lives of his wife and three children.

John Garrity, 37, has passed on to police and the Canadian Jewish Congress the names of more than 600 Canadians, including five prominent Toronto businessmen, who have contributed to the American Nazi party or who have requested information on the party.

Mr. Garrity, a former sheriff's officer for York County, would not name the five businessmen, but said at a press conference that John Beattie of Toronto, self-styled leader of the Canadian party, and the party has the support of 600 persons across Canada.

He said most of the supporters are Germans who came to Canada after the Second World War and most live in Toronto, Montreal, Sault Ste. Marie, Lloydminster, Sask., Sudbury, Hamilton, Stoney Creek, Ont., and Oshawa.

Mr. Garrity was hired by the Canadian Jewish Congress to infiltrate the Canadian party and became Beattie's security chief. He said the Jewish Congress paid him $75 to $200 a month to gather information on the Nazis. A spokesman for the congress confirmed that Mr. Garrity had been paid that amount.

CLAIM IDENTITY KNOWN

Beattie said he knew all along that Mr. Garrity was an imposter, but decided to make use of his legal talents and to get the maximum publicity from him.

"At a time like this we have to make use of people who eventually we would be putting on trial," said Beattie. "Our main aim at present is publicity."

Cancer Ends Salesman's 'Nightmare'

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — John (Fritz) Johnson, whose life turned into a nightmare when it was discovered he was a "dead-ringer" for another man who had vanished eight years earlier, died Friday of cancer. He was 39.

To the end Johnson denied any knowledge of a double life as Larry Bader, an Akron kitchenware salesman who disappeared on a fishing trip on Lake Erie in 1957. Bader left a pregnant wife and three children in Akron. But Johnson accepted — after fingerprint identification in 1965 — the conclusion that he was the former Ohioan.

He hired an attorney who advised him that he and his Omaha wife, Nancy, a pretty model, should live apart. Later through mutual agreement Johnson and Nancy received an annulment. The couple had two children, one adopted by Fritz from Nancy's previous marriage.

Fritz continued to visit with Nancy and his Omaha family following the split. He said he did not wish to return to his Ohio family because he had no recollection of them.

His Akron wife, a Roman Catholic, refused to give Fritz a divorce so he could marry Nancy legally.

A friend, Omaha public relations man Buddy Dundee, was with him when he died.

"I got a lesson how to die," Dundee said.

UP AND UP AND UP

Busy Hawaii Building

Hawaii continues as one of the world's most wanted resort areas, with scores of new hotels building to keep pace with the ever-increasing demand for visitor facilities.

The new Sheraton-Waikiki at Waikiki Beach on the town side of the Royal Hawaiin Hotel is to have 850 rooms, two specialty restaurants and cocktail lounges, 80 luxury suites and a number of function rooms in the 24-storey building.

A 15-storey Aloha Surf Hotel will be completed at Waikiki next July. With 208 rooms, it will be situated adjacent to the Royal Theatre.

Another 15-storey hostelry is planned by a mainland investor atop the existing terminal parking building behind the Princess Kaiulani Hotel.

STEAK HOUSE

A carriage-trade type of steak house in this area and an "Outrigger East" Hotel to serve the overflow from Roy Kelley's Outrigger Hotel, now nearing completion on Kalakaua Avenue across from the International Market Place, also are among proposed improvements. A 450-room Reef Hotel addition is completed.

Things are booming along the Ala Wai Canal. Some $9 million worth of apartment construction is going on, ranging from a 14-storey apartment at one end of the drive to a 10-storey condominium at the other. Numerous other condominiums are going up throughout Waikiki, or have recently been completed.

The 288-room Holiday Isle Hotel is under construction above the new First National Bank Building on Kalakaua Avenue.

Out at Makaha Valley, near the world-famous surfing beach, Chinn Ho's vast Makaha residential-resort complex will eventually total several thousand hotel rooms.

PLUSH COMPLEX

The Ilikai's banquet and convention centre, The Pacific Ballroom, is now ready for the many functions and meetings already booked in the plush and elegant 18,000-square-foot complex. The over-all ballroom can accommodate 1,600 for banquets and 2,500 persons for cocktails.

The new $2 million Holiday Inn near Honolulu International Airport is successfully operating with 204 rooms. It gets much of its tourist business from travellers stopping overnight on their way to the Neighbor Islands.

The Waikiki Biltmore Hotel, recently acquired by the Kimi chain, is in for $100,000 worth of improvements and renovations to the lobby, cocktail lounge and rooms.

On their Hawaiian Village property, the Hilton Hotels Corporation is adding a 23-storey, 235-unit luxury Laguna Apartments and a Lagoon Tower addition is planned. The Village's expansion program also includes an 800-room hotel, a five-level parking structure and a 15-storey office building.

Over on Maui the Hilton Hale Kaanapali condominium apartment-hotel is under construction and plans for a $4 million, 200-room Kona Hilton on the Big Island of Hawaii have been told. A multi-million-dollar expansion has been announced for the Sheraton-Maui Hotel. It will add 200 rooms and a convention facility to seat 250.

Island Holiday's newest resort, Poipu Beach Hotel on Kauai, opened in July.

The 62-room Nalei Hotel also opened in July, complete to restaurant, cocktail lounge and banquet room, on the shores of Hilo Bay on the Big Island of Hawaii. A 100-unit condominium resort-hotel has been approved for Kamuela. Plans for the Kona Sportsman, a $2.3 million condominium apartment building, have been announced for the Kona shoreline.

GOLF COURSE

Plans have also been revealed to convert Bishop Estate property surrounding Keauhou Bay at Kona into a community of leisure. Initial projects such as an 18-hole championship golf course and a large hotel would probably be within operation within two years.

The 120-room Hale o Kona is to be completed early next year one mile from Kailua-Kona.

A new Kona Inn, part of which will be high-rise, is planned to give more vacationers an ocean view. A $4 million construction and expansion program is also going on at the Naniloa Hotel in Hilo.

Even little-touristed Molokai Island is getting a new hotel. It's the 30-unit Hotel Molokai, this island's first resort hotel development, going up two miles east of Kaunakakai. The Puu-o-Hoku American-plan ranch already is providing magnificent hunting for visitors who like the rustic life, yet enjoy haute cuisine in Milokai's tranquil setting.

A Night Out for Two

The Cafe Martinique is just the place for an intimate dinner.

It lies across the harbor from Nassau, on Paradise Island, which makes it rather more distant from your home than most places you might have considered driving to for dinner.

A white speedboat from Mermaid Tavern Dock in Nassau will whisk you across the harbor, through the canal where some of the scenes were shot for the James Bond film "Thunderball," to the jetty. Old-fashioned lamps light the terrace and the pathways through its gardens.

Soft lights, heavy velvet, dark panelling, ankle-deep carpets and luxurious leather armchairs invite an aperitif. The three-piece band — or ensemble, or trio depending on whether they are playing La Mer or something else — glides from room to room.

The menu is incredibly large but by way of a starter you could go native with some conch salad. One could reasonably well follow by ordering a boeuf Strogonoff (with wild rice of course) such as even the Czars never knew. Then something severely simple like ice cream and chocolate sauce is called for. The wine list is larger than would be expected considering how far it has been brought.

With coffee and liqueurs the bill will be around $36 for two.

Of course to that you have to add the return air fare from Canada. First class (is there any other way?) to the Bahamas is about $275 return from Eastern Canada. Each. The taxi from the airport to the harbor takes another $5 and you can't very well go without some rest so accommodation is called for.

No point in starting to rough it now, so better allow for the best, at around $45 each at the Coral Harbor Club. The BOAC jet for home leaves the next day.

The speedboat, by the way, is a free service. It's these careful touches with regard to economies that makes a girl respect a man.

If you go straight back to the office from the jet, the night out will only have taken two days. And the bill for doing it in such style (for two) will have been a mere $700 or so.

Of course there is another way of doing it. You could see your travel agent or any BOAC office about an economic excursion holiday lasting up to 21 days with air fare from Eastern Canada as low as $154 return.

At those prices you could go across to the Cafe Martinique any evening. Is it any wonder why you have to book a table?

GREAT SCULPTURE

MONTREAL — This city will be a focal point for Franco-Americans next year between April 28 and Oct. 27, when millions of international visitors converge on Expo 67.

Interest of the U.S. French community is, in large measure, due to the extensive participation planned by the French government in the only "First Category" world exhibition ever held in the western hemisphere.

Most prominent in France's plans for Expo 67 is her pavilion, with its cost estimated at $10,000,000. Architecturally, the pavilion has been treated like a great sculpture sitting partly on the ground, and partly in the water of a lagoon.

The pavilion, whose theme will be "Tradition and Invention," will consist of seven circular floors of various dimensions. It will contain presentations of French science; industrial and technical developments; scientific research in the fields of medicine, biology, genetics and optical apparatus.

A dozen small projection rooms will feature demonstrations of life in France today, as well as anticipated scenes from future life in that country.

In addition, the pavilion will contain an art gallery with sculptures, paintings, tapestries, and stained glass — as well as an apartment showing "Grand Luxe" furniture. In a series of booths, visitors will be able to hear the words of great French authors.

Take a nice, easygoing round trip to the South Pacific this winter. You can go first class all the way with P&O for $1382.
Sail to Australia. Poke around. Sail back. Visit Hawaii, Fiji and New Zealand on the way. Leave in December, January or February.
These South Pacific round trips to Australia offer you a chance to visit some of the last unspoiled lands of the world. And to do it at a leisurely pace. You'll have from 4 to 21 days in Australia on your own before returning on another of P&O's great liners.
Take Oriana in December—you'll have 4 days Down Under before sailing home. Or Arcadia in January which gives you 21 days in Australia. The choice is yours.
Your first stops will be California, Hawaii and the Fiji Islands. Then on to New Zealand, where you can follow a glacier right into the middle of a sub-tropical jungle! When you reach Australia, you can take a comprehensive tour arranged by your travel agent, or just do it on your own. Shop for opals and Aboriginal art. Meet the people, the friendliest in the world. Or turn back the clock to Wild West days and visit the Outback.
32 sun-filled days at sea. You'll be sailing on the "biggest bloomin' ships sailing the seven seas." Each is completely air-conditioned and has acres of open deck for sunning, swimming and deck sports. Plus more things to do at night than you'd find in most fair-sized towns. And to keep things easygoing, P&O provides a crewman for every two passengers!
Clip coupon for free illustrated brochure. First sailing from Vancouver December 12. From $1382 first class for the round trip.
All fares in U.S. currency.

People don't grow old on sunny Saltspring, they just ripen, like the apples on their orchard boughs. Among these pippins is a pioneer lady by the name of Mrs. Anna Thompson, who started married life on Saltspring 63 years ago with a gleaming Majestic stove to help her.

Mrs. Thompson's wood-and-coal range is still bright as stove-blacking and nickel polish can keep it, even though a small forest of cedar kindling, a hillside of fir and countless cords of split alder have snapped, crackled and glowed in its roomy firebox.

It was made to last, that old Majestic; today it's good as the day the young bride cooked her first wedded meal on it.

"They can keep their modern stoves," she used to tell her friends at Vesuvius Bay. "When I lift a lid and see these flames dancing, it's like having a friend in the house."

But time does bring eventual change. Anna Thompson recently decided to accept a sister's offer and go live with her. That meant selling her house, and the staunch Majestic in its kitchen.

So sell it she did . . . for $25 to a swinging young couple who spurn gas, scorn electricity, and hope to keep the old fashioned stove in their kitchen for all of 63 years.

Yesterday morning I was loafing along Douglas when a couple of sign company men set up two ladders, hoisted a scaffold, and got to work. Between building wall and ladders was a generous passageway; between ladder feet and truck at the curb was a narrow dogtrot.

Along came two of the long-stemmed girls we raise these days, chattering like monkies. Gracefully, they pivoted away from the ladders and passed on the narrow strip.

A middle-aged man showed next, head down and in a hurry. He strode under one ladder, halted, crossed his fingers, and step by cautious step, backed into the clear. Then he too took the narrow route past.

A couple of boys followed the same course. A well-dressed business type skirted the first ladder, and taking care not to get under, edged into the building.

About this time, one of the pair on the scaffold came down for more gear. His name is Kirby Moorhouse, he lives at 327 West Gorge Road, and walking under ladders is all in his day's work.

"Most people go around," he told me, "and once in a long while, somebody manages to walk right into a ladder. That's our bad luck . . . things slide around on the scaffold, and we have to make a quick grab."

Final score: 17 past and two under, these last an elderly man and a determined husfrau with a scarf over her curlers.

Me? I went around, but not from superstition, you understand. I was just scared something might fall on my head!

Even though they've blasted the pinnacles off Ripple Rock, Seymour Narrows with its boils, whirls and turbulent rips is still a killer.

It claimed one victim this week, and as long as the coast's best-known tidal rapid continues to bait its trap with good salmon fishing, there will be others.

Every fisherman, I suppose, sooner or later makes his own decision as to how much risk is justified for the sake of good sport. This of necessity, is a personal thing.

For myself, I don't think even the king of the salmon is worth a venture into waters where the slightest error in timing or quirk of tide can mean disaster.

With professional outdoorsman — commercial fisherman, logger, forster — occupational risk must be taken in stride. Most of these men regard the Seymours with the respect the pass deserves. They wait till the odds are all in their favor, then run through and clear with no loitering along the way.

That's it: and I'm off now, with packing to do, and three holiday weeks in prospect. May the sun shine bright for all of us!

Fight for Open Sundays to Be Resumed Soon

At least four municipalities will press for relaxation of rules governing paid entertainment on Sundays.

The fight will re-open when the Union of British Columbia Municipalities meets in Penticton Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Prince George, Surrey, North Kamloops will band together in an attempt to persaude other member municipalities to support their bid for Sunday sports and other forms of entertainment.

★

All three resolutions call for basically the same things: Sunday movies, concerts and sporting events after 1:30 p.m.

Saanich council approved this week a resolution which would empower councils in B.C. to permit fees to be charged for sporting events and other entertainments on Sunday afternoons.

Reeve Hugh Curtis said he supports the resolution going to the convention.

North Kamloops notes that the provincial government recently passed an amendment to the Vancouver charter permitting the mainland city to stage professional sports events, theatrical events and movies on Sundays.

Municipal associations in North Central B.C., the Lower Mainland and the Okanagan Valley have already endorsed the perennial resolution.

In the past the government has chosen to ignore the plea of the municipalties for equal rights with Vancouver.

Another ancient resolution expected to win endorsation from the convention concerns the opening of liquor stores and bars on election days.

Fernie and Lillooet are the standard bearers this time. Their resolutions call for an abandoning of the old law which forbids the sale of liquor during the hours of polls for civic, provincial and federal elections.

Burnaby is asking for a complete cost study by the UBCM executive to ascertain the cost of placing electric power distribution systems underground.

"The distribution of such power has never grown out of the pioneering stage," the preamble to the resolution states, "Unsightly overhead wires present an arrangement that clutters our municipalities with an ugly web of wires and lines our streets with a forest of denuded fir trees."

Alert Bay and Nelson are both calling on the provincial government to take a more active part in pollution control.

The northern Vancouver Island community is asking for a ban on all logging within 200 feet of all public lakes and streams.

The Nelson resolution calling on the provincial and federal government officials to prepare acts to look into all existing or proposed means for the disposal of sewage, air contaminants or other waste materials, is expected to win wide support from other delegates.

All of these resolutions will be secondary however to the previously announced major request to the province for the government to assume a larger share of the costs of municipal services, such as welfare, hospitals and education. Ten resolutions cover this field.

DECISIONS, DECISIONS, decisions —life is just a big bowl of spaghetti for B.C. Telephone cable splicer Fred Ziegler. And if he doesn't join the right 5,400 wires you might phone the church and get the beer parlor. A demonstration of splicing is one of many wonders to be displayed at Telephone Fair next Saturday at 10 a.m. at BCT station on Quadra at McKenzie. TV telephones and space communications also will form part of the show. Bring the family — no charge. (Strickland photo)

WAGE-HOURS TALKS SET UP

Ferrymen Propose Terms

New proposals covering wages and working conditions will be taken to the management of B.C. Ferries in "the very near future," a spokesman for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild said today.

He also said one of the major items for discussion between management and the 250 deck officers and engineers will be shift schedules for 1967.

The move follows approval by what was described as "a comfortable margin" of a new arrangement between the officers and engineers and management.

GUILD ON DECK

Under this, the Canadian Merchant Service Guild will be able to have its officials sit in on discussions between both sides.

The arrangement falls short of the previous objective of the guild — collective bargaining and signed agreement. The officers had threatened to quit unless they gained normal bargaining rights.

Ferry workers, both licensed and unlicensed, are governed by the Civil Service Act and are not entitled to the collective bargaining rights spelled out in the Labour Relations Act.

Former C.O. Of '29th' Dies at 87

Lieut.-Col. William Smith Latta, commanding officer of the Canadian Army's 29th Battalion during the First World War, died in a nursing home Friday at the age of 87.

He won the DSO and two bars for his war service and was later chairman of the Land Settlement Board in Victoria.

His son, Pilot Officer John Blandford Latta, won the Distinguished Service Cross while serving with the Royal Air Force during and after the Battle of Britain.

The following year he was reported missing and presumed dead.

Born in Ayrshire, Scotland, Col. Latta came to Canada in 1895 and lived in Vancouver for many years before the First World War. He settled in Victoria with Mrs. Latta in 1919 and was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion and the Horticultural Society.

Surviving are the widow, Bertha; a son, William, of Chemainus; and two brothers, Jack of Vancouver, and Harry in New Zealand.

Archdeacon A. E. Hendy conducted funeral services in Hayward's Chapel this afternoon. Cremation followed.

Health Board Flop Won't Hurt Schools

Capital District Takeover Proposed

By JIM HUME
City Hall Reporter

There is no danger of school children in the Greater Victoria area losing public health services when Victoria pulls out of the Metropolitan Health Board in December.

Ald. Lily Wilson, Victoria's representative on the health board, termed as "nonsense" charges that when Victoria, Esquimalt and Oak Bay pull out of the metro organization in December 29,680 school children could be without health services.

"They certainly will not," she said. "Victoria, Esquimalt and Oak Bay looked after their children before the metro board came into being and I am quite sure they are capable of doing it again."

Fears for school health services following disolution of the metro board were expressed Friday by shool board trustee Mrs. Frances Thompson.

SERIOUS TROUBLE?

She said she was "terribly worried" about the future and felt that the Greater Victoria area would "be in serious trouble if the health board is allowed to break up."

Ald. Wilson thought the remarks unduly alarming.

"There is no danger of our children being deprived of vital services," she said. "We are talking about withdrawing from the present board organization not of abandoning health services."

Ald. Wilson also criticized Mrs. Thompson's rebuke to Victoria council for refusing to endorse a health board resolution to be presented to the Associated Boards of Health Tuesday in Penticton.

FUSS USELESS

Mrs. Thompson said the city is kicking up unnecessary fuss about a motion which only asks for a study of the Health Act, regional control of health and the power and position of the health boards in various communities.

"We are against the resolution because it calls for a study we feel health boards should not be making," Ald. Wilson said. "It's as simple as that. We feel that any such studies should be made at the municipal level or on the instructions of municipal councils.

"We just don't think the health board has any right or authority to be involving itself in matters of policy."

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich also thought talk of a collapse of health services for children unduly pessimistic.

'TOUGH TIME'

"I don't think there will be any serious breakdown of services," he said. "It's the policy-making board that is having a tough time.

"The three municipalities are talking about re-forming the board or replacing it with another organization. They are not talking about pulling out of the health service field."

Asked if he thought the Regional District of the Capital of B.C. would be a good vehicle for administering health services Reeve Curtis said:

"Without doubt.

"It would be the ideal vehicle for providing overall health services for a wide area. There would be problems to work out, of course, but none of them insurmountable."

PROVINCE APPROVES

Though provincial government officials are steering clear of the present hassle between the municipalities and the health board administration it is known they tacitly approve the threatened pull-out by the three municipalities.

It is also known they hope Victoria, Esquimalt and Oak Bay do not waver in their stand and that eventually the regional district will provide the area with strong administration.

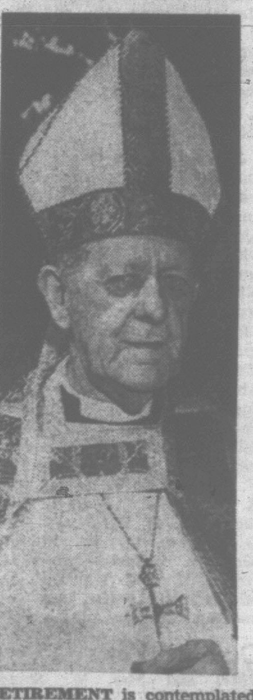
Earlier this week Victoria expressed its intention of sticking by its notice to quit the metro organization.

The city's health committee appointed Mayor A. W. Toone to act as a liaison man between the city and the Victoria Medical Society.

The move was regarded by city hall officials as the first step to setting up an independent health board in the city if such a step becomes essential.

In the past city hall officials and elected council members have expressed the hope the province will intervene in the dispute and extend the letters patent of the regional district to permit it to take over health services administration.

Mayor Toone agreed with Reeve Curtis that the district board could provide the answer to health services administration.



RETIREMENT is contemplated by Most Rev. Harold Sexton, 78-year-old Archbishop of British Columbia. In the September issue of The B.C. Diocesan Post, the archbishop says he will probably have a statement to make concerning his retirement at the next session of the diocesan synod. The synod usually meets in May.

Expo Girls Being Chosen

Calling hopeful hostesses.

Local girls who have applied for a hostess's position at the Montreal World's Fair, will be interviewed in Victoria Monday.

Applicants will be screened by a panel from Expo, including chief hostess, Mrs. Monique Archambault. The panel has the job of choosing 200 hostesses from among the 2,000 who have applied from across Canada.

The interviews will take place in the Empress Hotel.

The hostess with the mostest must meet the following requirements: age 20 to 35; a Canadian citizen; bilingual in French and English; preferably single with a minimum of high school graduation.

Food Stall Shelves Need Contributions

Bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard, the shelves of Victoria's surplus food stall need stocking for Sept. 24.

Those wishing to donate food should phone Mrs. Joan Price, 479-4870, or Mrs. Evelyn Corbett, 478-3437.

300 Contractors to Vote On Ending Work Stoppage

By ROGER STONEBANKS
Labor Reporter

Three hundred contractors in B.C. will vote by secret ballot next week on a proposed settlement formula for the 45-day work stoppage.

But statements from the Construction Industry Joint Negotiating Committee and the Amalgamated Construction Association of B.C. left little doubt the formula will be rejected.

The government-appointed industrial inquiry commissioner, Vancouver lawyer W. E. Philpott, recommended Friday the 300 companies sign the same agreement as 200 independent contractors.

The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, which struck several companies Aug. 1 triggering the retaliatory lockout, immediately accepted the recommendations and suggested contractors do the same.

The chief bargainer for the companies, R. K. Gervin, called the commissioner's recommendations "a complete sellout to the carpenters" and doubted the companies will accept them.

The Amalgamated Construction Association of B.C. announced it "does not recommend acceptance of this report."

Said Mr. Gervin:

"The commissioner has recommended acceptance of the union's proposal with not one change, not one crumb to the employers, not one consideration for the contractors right to manage their businesses.

"The commissioner asks us to sign an agreement which has many clauses in it which contravene the labor act."

ILLEGAL CLAUSES?

In accusing Mr. Philpott of recommending clauses in a new contract which would be illegal, Mr. Gervin said pointedly at one stage "the commissioner, who is a lawyer . . ."

The allegedly illegal clauses include:

● A clause requiring contractors to agree to not accept materials which the union labels "hot" because of another labor dispute;

● A clause putting contractors in the position of awarding to carpenters work contractors have already agreed, by contract, to give to other trades;

● A clause requiring contractors to condone a work stoppage where the union decides carpenters won't work with other tradesmen who don't belong to the Building Trades Council.

Mr. Gervin also said many of the 200 independent contractors who have signed the new agreement are "one-shot operators, promoters or real estate developers. Others are simply one and two-man operations which have formed a company and signed an agreement with the union."

In his report, Mr. Philpott said he was unable to bring about a settlement between the two sides. He described them as "still poles apart. They refuse to meet together."

He said his recommendations must begin from a fixed position because the union is in a fixed position since it is committed to two-year agreements with 200 contractors.

"Whether or not some of the employers claim this agreement to be a poor one, nevertheless the fact remains there are many contractors who have accepted it," he said.

OUT OF WOOD but not woodpeckers are three prize-winning entries in National Forest Products Week "Build With Wood" contest for boys and girls 10-16. Wearing blue-ribbon smiles are, left, Bonnie Glover, 10, and Barry Wilson, 13. All entries will be on display at contest sponsor Doman's Building Supply Centre, 280 Bay St., until Tuesday.

SPECIAL SERVICE

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes will be among the congregation when St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church hold a special centenary service on Sunday.

Parents Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Larsen entertained the bridal party at a dinner in their Helmcken Road home, following the wedding of their son, Mr. C. L. Larsen, to the former Miss Valerie Smith. Later in the evening, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. J. Smith, held a reception in their Kildew Road home. The groom is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Curtis of this city. Guests at the home of the groom's parents included his paternal uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Hutchinson of Cloverdale, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Siddall with their children, Melody and Owen, here from Brandon, Man. Mrs. Siddall is the former Carol Larsen and sister of the groom.

Returns Home

Mrs. C. D. Devine has returned to her home at Ganges after a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Storback and their baby son, Jon. The Storbacks live at Campbell River. A recent house guest of Mrs. Devine was Miss Helen Logan, Halifax, N.S.

Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. James Wickens of Paradise, Calif., have arrived for a holiday in Victoria and are guests at the Vista Heights' home of Mrs. Wickens' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Jarvis. Now retired, Mr. Wickens is a former staff member of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Grocery Shower

Miss Janet Blunt was entertained at a recent surprise grocery shower, held in the Hobbs Road home of her fiance's aunt, Mrs. John Rogers. Carnation corsages were presented to the bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. Walter Blunt, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Gordon Smith. Assisting the hostess in serving refreshments and organizing games were Mrs. A. Kubicek, Mrs. M. Rogers, Mrs. W. Creed and Mrs. J. Dillon. Invited guests included Mrs. G. Atkinson, Mrs. C. Robbins, Mrs. V. Curran, Mrs. S. Belton, Mrs. O. Ludvicson, Mrs. Doris Smith, Mrs. D. McColl, Mrs. D. Lam, Mrs. M. Bloomfield, Mrs. E. Ball, Mrs. C. Fleming, Mrs. L. Robertson, Mrs. E. Simmons, Mrs. F. Crocker, Mrs. B. Anderson, Mrs. P. Monar, Mrs. J. Boyden, Mrs. V. Creeton, the Misses Lynda Ball, Cheryl, Donna and Linda Rogers.

Handy Hubby

The Somerset Street home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tierney was the scene of a handy hubby shower, given in honor of Miss Sylvia Rodger and Mr. Dennis Ableson, whose marriage recently took place in Duncan. Mr. Tierney was master of ceremonies and Mrs. M. Leeper assisted the hostess. Others attending were Mr. Leeper, Mr. F. Hawes, Mr. and Mrs. H. Ableson, Mrs. F. Lubin, Mr. Darcy Lubin, Mr. and Mrs. G. McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. G. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. A. Paquin, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bourke, Mr. David Bourke, Mr. and Mrs. D. Van Mannen, Mr. and Mrs. C. Syrett.

Surprise

A picture book, titled "Linda and Bob, This Is Your Life," was constructed by the guests and given to bride-elect Miss Linda Slocomb as a memento when Mrs. J. Wilson gave a surprise shower in her honor. Miss Slocomb received yellow roses en corsage. Her mother, Mrs. A. G. Slocomb, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. A. Clarke, were presented with white and red carnation corsages. The honor guest's gaily decorated chair matched the utility basket that contained the gifts. Also attending were Mrs. F. Clarke, Mrs. V. Waring, Mrs. A. MacLachlan, Mrs. L. Wallace, Mrs. M. Baranosky, Mrs. G. Tregear, Mrs. H. Roberts, Mrs. W. Robertson, Mrs. L. Grant, Mrs. E. Whitburn, the Misses Peg Fletcher, Irene Ingham and Carolyn Adams.

October Vows

Mr. and Mrs. W. Stuart Kennedy, 3877 Saanich Road, announce the forthcoming marriage of their only daughter, Kathleen Jane, to Mr. Robert Jack Casey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Casey of Compton, Calif. The wedding will take place on Saturday, October 8 at 8 p.m. in St. Mark's Anglican Church, Boleskine Road.

Travels Overseas

Miss Joan Anderson, Bellingham, Wash., left Victoria Friday for London, England. Miss Anderson has been a guest in the Shasta Place home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Anderson. In London, she will visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Keil. Also visiting with the Andersons is Mrs. Anderson's father, Mr. H. C. Morrison, who has recently made his home in Toronto, moving from Winnipeg. He will return in a few weeks.

Will Live In Winnipeg

Following a honeymoon motoring trip through western Canada and the northwest of the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Joseph Bishop will make their home in Winnipeg.

Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh officiated at the ceremony in St. Michael-and-all-Angels Church, Friday evening, that saw the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Waldron exchange vows and rings with the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bishop of Hearts' Delight, Trinity Bay, Nfld.

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride was lovely in a full-length gown of white Sonesta that was styled on empire lines with a bateau neckline and sleeves ending in lily points. The bodice was enhanced with a band of re-embroidered lace and a detachable watteau train extended from the waistline. Her veil was held by a headpiece to match her gown, Briarcliffe roses and white carnations formed the bouquet.

ATTENDS SISTER

Miss Sharon Waldron was bridesmaid for her sister. Her street-length dress was in a dusty rose shade, fashioned on A-lines with long sleeves. Her headpiece and accessories were en tone. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

Douglas G. Clapham was here from Calgary to act as best man. The bride's uncle Jack C. Waldron, ushered guests to their pews.

Fred Belcher proposed the toast to his cousin's happiness at the reception which was held in the Prospect Lake Community Hall.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Clapham, G. K. Fraser, all of Calgary, and Mrs. M. Morrow, Vancouver.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a green tweed suit, brown alligator accessories and corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

The days of the Klondike Gold Rush will live again next Saturday evening when members of the Racquet Club of Victoria gather in the clubhouse for a Klondike Night. Seen in a preview of the costumes they'll be wearing are Mrs. Clare Copeland (at left) and Mrs. John Kayll. Convening the affair, which will be the last social event before the club moves into new premises on Ruby Road, will be Mrs. "Tut" Jones. She will be assisted by Mrs. Gordon Bell.

BECOMES BRIDE OF ROY MERCER

CAROLYN SMITH IS WED

One of the loveliest of September weddings took place this afternoon when Carolyn Suzette Smith exchanged vows with Roy Byron Mercer in Oak Bay United Church.

Parents of the principals are Dr. and Mrs. T. G. Smith, 750 Island Road, and Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Mercer, 2465 Chiltern Place.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was exquisite in an empire-line gown of white crepe that was gently gathered at the bustline and accented with a row of tiny white pearls and flowers. These matched the streamers which trimmed her miniature flowered cap which held a white tulle veil that misted to the floor. The sleeves of the gown were elbow-length. White orchids and stephanotis formed her bouquet. For "something borrowed" she wore pearl earrings belonging to Miss Pauline Clarke and "something old" was her mother's lace handkerchief.

Pink and white gladioli decorated the church for the service. Rev. Alec Calder officiated.

Mrs. T. Quocksister, was matron of honor for her sister and Miss Clarke was bridesmaid. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Jenny Winstone. Their short-length gowns of floral chiffon were styled like the bride's, the matron of honor's and bridesmaid's being in blue, mauve and pink over pale mauve and the junior bridesmaid's being fashioned of pink over the same color. Accessories were in the pale mauve and bouquets, pink roses and white stephanotis, edged with mauve ribbons.

Derek Mercer was best man for his brother and ushering guests to pews marked with pink and white rosettes were another brother, Tim Mercer, and Michael Gibbs.

Dr. V. V. Marnell proposed the toast to the bride at the reception which followed in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Standards of pink and white gladioli were at each end of the bride's table and white rosebuds topped the three-tier wedding cake.

Many Vancouver guests attended the ceremony. They included Mr. and Mrs. J. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Verley, Mr. and Mrs. P. Zinnartz with daughters, Wendy and Debbie, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Clark and daughter, Christine; Mr. and Mrs. E. Clowes.

As her going-away ensemble, the bride chose a Vogue A-line mauve coat and floral toning dress, matching hat and black accessories.

After a honeymoon tour of Oregon and the Californian coast, the newlyweds will make their home in Los Angeles.

Noticed in the New Yorker; a simple little yoked dress of wool jersey printed to look exactly like snakeskin.

Irish fashions well worth a second look . . .

Some interesting new arrivals at Madam and Eve come from Northern Ireland . . . bearing the Strelitz label (which doesn't sound very Irish to us, but no matter) . . . Sporty unlined suits in an all-wool fabric that looks like homespun . . . One is in the new grape color . . . has a collarless Chanel-type jacket with two pockets on either side . . . A similar suit in navy and red . . . Another smart Strelitz suit is a large check in camel and navy and burgundy . . . double breasted, with a city-country look . . . Slacks too by this maker . . . camel and navy windowpane check . . . knowingly cut, and minus waistband . . . There are camel wool shell tops to team up with these . . . and the addition of a navy turtleneck sweater makes a very smart outfit . . . Now that the railway strike is over, new things are arriving daily . . . By the time you read this the new clutch bags in soft kid should be on hand . . . These come in myriad colors . . . cinnamon, platinum, seaweed, teal blue, orange, peacock etc. . . . and they all have gay printed linings in colors to tone . . . Some delightful new "smoke ring" scarves by Vera . . . chiffon or silk twill in lovely colors . . . these can work magic on a plain dress neckline! . . . Madam and Eve Shop, Trounce Alley, 383-7177.

A cowl-necked shift of white silk chiffon is sprinkled all over with tiny rhinestones.

The wise birds get the pick of the crop! . . .

Yes . . . we know it's only the middle of September and you've got other more immediate things on your mind than Christmas . . . but we feel it our bounden duty to tel you if you'd like something new and lovely for your home, come yuletide . . . say a handsome dining room suite . . . or some choice item from The Gallery . . . it's not a minute too soon to go to Home Furniture and do some preliminary scouting. If they have what you want, they'll hold it for you till Christmas . . . if they haven't they can order it now . . . and you've a good chance of getting it, if you act pronto! . . . This doesn't apply, though, to Home's beautiful 18th century mahogany dining room furniture . . . It's open stock and there's a good supply on hand right now, but no more shipments until next May . . . so if you're thinking of elegant new furniture in your dining room for the Yuletide festivities . . . visit Home now and select the pieces that will make this important room-your pride and joy . . . Wonderful value, too! . . . We noticed a new shipments of those charming carved mahogany Victorian chairs in the Gallery . . . these too are much in demand for Christmas giving . . . and there is just time to order your favorite material and color in case it isn't there now! . . . Home Furniture, 825 Fort St., 382-5138.

Huge drop-earrings—some almost shoulder-length—provide glamour to a stark after-five dress.

Lively new shoe styles by Joyce . . .

The big thing about this season's Joyce shoes . . . that immensely popular make of good, medium-priced footwear . . . is that they're all made on a brand new last . . . with the rounded toes and lowish heels that spell such devastating chic this year . . . This applies to the season-in, season-out classic styles . . . as well as to the brand new 1966 designs . . . and you'll find every one of them at Munday's . . . in a complete range of sizes . . . Wonderful with suits is a new model called "O.U.Kid" . . . a little-heeled pump with the big buckle made popular by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy . . . Dressy enough for anywhere is "French Fluff" . . . a soft suede pump with high, bow-decorated vamp . . . black, brown, burgundy, navy and wheat . . . "First Place" is a spectator pump in suede and calf . . . driftwood, marble grey or black . . . Another smart new model is "Blazer Mate" . . . a suede T-strap with cord trim . . . Another new T-strap, in sweet kid, is called "San Remo" . . . and "Playdown" is a versatile pump with low-covered heel, roll top . . . and not a seam in sight! . . . Many other styles too . . and most come in colors like red, green, otter, cinnamon as well as black . . . Joyce shoes are priced at $15.95 and $16.95 . . . they're wonderfully comfortable and hard-wearing . . . and smarter than ever, at . . . Munday's, 1208 Douglas St., EV 3-2211.

Boldly textured stockings are being shown with all kinds of daytime clothes.

An exciting collection of fall millinery . . .

There's no getting away from it . . . a woman is simply not properly put together unless she wears a hat on city streets . . . Just take a look around you next time you're downtown and we think you'll agree that hatted ladies present a much smarter, more sophisticated appearance! . . . How tbout you? . . . Just because your budget may not run to a Dior is no excuse for not owning a becoming chapeau . . . not when Miss Frith's have such an exciting collection of hats in felts, velvets, feathers, moufflon and assorted materials . . . many of which won't even put a dint in your budget! . . . We're simply amazed at what you can get in the $5.98-$7.98 price range! . . . what's more, you're not apt to meet yourself coming and going because many of Miss Frith's millinery lines are sold exclusively by them . . . and even identical models look completely different when carried out in a different color or material! . . . Speaking of colors, there's every shade in the spectrum and we don't imagine you'd have much trouble finding a hat to match or harmonize with your favorite outfit . . . We noticed several lovely hats in Tokay grape and antique gold . . . two shades that are emerging as fall's favorites . . . There are lots and lots of lovely hats for every face, mood and occasion . . . so, when you're hat-hunting go first to . . . Miss Frith Millinery and Fashions, 1617 Douglas St., 383-7181.

Ruffles on front and cuffs of a soft white blouse have always seemed to us the acme of feminity, when worn with a tailored suit.

The more we see and hear of weddings . . . the more impressed we are with the type of service being meted out by Eaton's Gift and Bridal Registry . . . and the time and efort it saves everybody concerned with planning for the Big Day . . . So our advice to every girl who hears wedding bells in the offing . . . is to hie herself to the Bridal Consultant's attractive little salon located in the china dept. of Eaton's . . . and there talk over her plans, needs and tastes . . . (Mrs. Robertson's a real doll who's thoroughly conversant with everytihng pertaining to weddings . . . Even if it's only advice you're after, she'll dispense it charmingly!) . . . The Sabre Girl Blouse is an arnel dream of femininity. The simple lines are softened and highlighted by two deep lace flounces on the full-length sleeves. White, the traditional color of the fencing costume, is used exclusively for this blouse which puts fencing in the fashion field.

IN STEP WITH STYLE

By NONA DAMASKE

Fencing Leaves Mark on Fashion

This is a time of "fashion happenings" in Victoria. Each day brings news of interest to the woman who wants to stay in step with style.

Damaske

An invitation to an informal continental breakfast could have turned into a hazardous happening . . . the lovely girl who welcomed me into the suite was carrying a fencing foil. The meeting however, turned into a happy happening as we were shown a collection of colorful co-ordinates and enlightened as to the art of fencing.

The first requirement of looking well in any of today's slim-look sportswear is a lean lithe figure, which fencing exercises will help you to attain.

Christine Butson, the Sabre Girl, and a fencer of competition calibre, demonstrated the graceful movements as she parried with an imaginary partner.

Though fencing, a descendant of the duel, can be traced back to the 14th century, duelling is as ancient as the history of war itself. The sport of fencing was mainly a male preserve with a few startling exceptions until the beginning of the 20th century. Then came female emancipation and an interest in sports. By 1899 there was even a growing popularity for fencing among women. Men considered it a passing fancy that would not last. But in 1902 at least 500 women attended a U.S. display of fencing entitled "Fencing at Home." Women began to develop their own fencing costume about 1906, when they entered competition in a white jacket and black voluminous skirt of black breeches.

OVERLAPPING SKIRT

By 1916 this was modified to an overlapping skirt that went only to the knee. It wasn't until 1935, the era of Marlene Dietrich and slacks, that white breeches, closed below the knee, were introduced for women. In this respect, the costume is quite similar to the one worn by male fencers.

The wearability of today's stretch slims was fully demonstrated as Christine quickly lunged and straightened, flashing her foil with each movement.

Tops were shown in a basic group of styles featuring choices of lively abstracts, brilliant florals and Paisleys. The sweaters, which bear the mark of pure virgin wool, included cardigan, crew neck and V-neck styles and featured cable-stitch treatment.

Skirts were shown in three styles—stem straight, gentle A-line and a swing of wide pleats.

Margaret Ness of Toronto, a leading fashion commentator and writer, co-ordinated and commentated the show. She said, "good fashions always emphasize the lady-like look and well-tailored sportswear, in keeping with the occasion and the surroundings, can always be lady-like."

The following evening I joined 39 other interested women in a sort of Plain Jane to Glamor Girl demonstration. We sat, 20 to each side of a long table and donned terry towel head bands and plastic neck-capes.

The first order of the evening was to remove every scrap of make-up. Makeup may not be the most important thing in life but, believe me, as you look around a table of naked faces you could easily be convinced that it is. Maud Dunne, herself an attractive example of good skin care and careful makeup, guided us through all the steps of cleansing, toning, nourishing and makeup application.

There is a decided swing to a more muted, natural appearance in makeup and the new brush-on products make this soft well-blended look quite simple to achieve. It was my first experience with brush-on complexion color, brush-on browtone and brush-on eye shadow.

Needless to say, at the end of the session, our looks were much improved and we all wished we could sleep in a plastic bag and be all ready for work—but alas it was time to use the oatmeal beauty soap and Vitavyn cream—and so to bed.

Cover Spots, Scuffs With No-Buff Paint

By Penny Saver

There is something about new shoes and mud puddles in the minds of youngsters. The two seem to be meant for each other. Perhaps it is that mud puddles are so very tempting in the first place, not revenge against new shoes, that spurs this sport. Any way you look at it, all I can see is scuffs and worn marks on the otherwise unbroken leather. Until the child grows out of mud puddles or that pair of shoes, something must be done.

I've found a type of coloring that is made for covering worn spots in leather, straw or fabric. If used properly, this will refinish scuffs. It spreads on in seconds and dries in minutes to a lasting shine. No buffing is required.

There are more than 50 colors in this "utility paintbox" to choose from. Price is $1.29 for the one-ounce bottle. Use it on all shoes that are scuffed or marked—it won't streak, fade, crack or stain.

Our kitchen tablecloth, I just realized, is about 10 years old. Considering all the wear and tear that it has been putting up with all these years, it is really a wonder that it is still presentable. I thought it had reached its end the other day as a result of a vicious tear. With the mending tape that I found, we will still be able to use it on a good many occasions.

This is a self-sticking plastic-coated cloth tape. It comes in several widths and lengths to suit every purpose.

Small rolls sell for 29 and 39 cents each. In the wide, 1½-inch width, price is 69 cents. Colors are red, green, yellow, blue, grey, brown and black and white.

Use it for repairing seat covers, a tattered book, a rip in a raincoat or an electric clock that may have dropped. Make decorative labels for canisters and reinforce window shades with it. There is really no limit to the number of uses there are for this tape.

Put these items in your tool box. Give Penny a call at 382-3131 if you want to know where she found them.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Social Security Did the Trick

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 47-year-old woman who has been married for nearly 30 years to a 56-year-old railroad man. We have nine grown children.

You may not believe this, but my husband has left me for a 62-year-old woman. Will you please tell me what this old lady could possibly offer him that I can't?

VERA.

DEAR VERA: Social security, maybe.

DEAR ABBY: How old do you think a little boy should be before he has his first haircut? I have heard that if a child's hair is curly and you cut it before his first birthday it will grow in straight.

My son is a year old and has a beautiful head of curls. I would be just sick if I had them cut off and his hair grew in straight after that. He is such a beautiful child, although many people mistake him for a girl.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Cut the child's hair, and if it grows in straight after that, forget it. Worse things can happen to a boy than losing his curls. And one of them is being constantly mistaken for a girl.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and I don't care if I ever see my 16th birthday. I am 5 ft. 9 and weigh 172 pounds.

I hate being taller than all the boys my age. Sure, people say, "Wait a few years, they'll grow." But what is a girl supposed to do in the meantime? I know I am overweight, but why should I diet? As long as I'm so tall that I haven't a chance with a boy, I might as well enjoy myself.

I am so mixed up and have made such a mess of myself, I wish I were dead. Is there any hope for me?

WISH I WERE DEAD.

DEAR WISH: Anyone who asks, "Is there any hope for me?" knows deep down in his heart that there is. You possess two of the most precious things in the world. Youth and health. And you wish you were dead!

Tell your parents you want to see a doctor for a physical checkup and a sensible diet. Go, listen to him, and heed his advice. Once you shed those unsightly pounds and emerge from that hateful cocoon, you will like yourself better. And I promise you, you'll be well on the road to enjoying life and living it more fully.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "READY, WILLING AND ABLE": Many people gamble on horses, why not gamble on people? For instance, a man in your position could:

1. Offer employment to someone who has served a prison term;

2. Extend additional credit to someone who has suffered financial reverses;

3. Believe in a person even after he has told an untruth;

4. Be willing to forgive and forget after a bitter quarrel.

PS: I am indebted to Rabbi Bernard S. Raskas for this priceless bit of wisdom.

A WOMAN'S VIEWPOINT

By Pat Dufour

Just like a hound irritated with a spitting, fussing cat, my hackles rise skywards when women from newly emerging countries badger my captured ear with the boast that women of their nations take a more active part in life than we North American types. It's true, perhaps, that they're able to capture more of the limelight because lack of competition by their male counterparts has led to unusual opportunity in politics and business for the distaff side. But, when it comes to plain down-to-earth contribution to their community, it's mighty hard to beat the women that Victoria has in good number.

I met one such taunter this week and how I wished I'd had Mrs. K. O. Wright along to refute the visitor's accusations that North American women are soft, self-centred and unwilling to assume leadership. Margaret Wright modestly claims that she is "a very ordinary woman." If she is, Victoria has to be the most progressive city in Canada!

Margaret Wright has no yen to enter the political arena or set big business by its ear. But, in her quiet way (repeated by so many of her kind), this logically-minded woman manages a balance of life between home and community which has both fully enriched.

Heads A 19-Member Executive

As president of the University Extension Association she heads a 19-member executive and is the fourth woman to serve in this capacity. Other women presidents for this 43-year-old group have been the late Mrs. H. E. Young, Lola Maxwell, well-known in her days as a teacher at Victoria Senior Secondary School, and Norah Piggott, a faculty member of Oak Bay Senior Secondary School.

This year's 10-lecture series begins on Monday, Sept. 26, with a talk by provincial archivist and librarian Willard Ireland. Titled "Approaches by Sea and Land," Mr. Ireland's lecture is one of four, specially arranged to probe our province's history during the centennial year.

Like every astute housewife, Margaret Wright is delighted to be part of something which can boast "the price is right." Victorians can attend all 10 lectures for a membership fee of $2 or attend any one of their choice by dropping an offering into the silver collection box. The lectures will be held in the Elliott Building on the Gordon Head campus.

Margaret Wright first attended executive meetings when her husband was president. "I went along for company and when he left the executive I went on."

Chairman of Residential Canvass

Like many a community-minded woman, Margaret Wright is now caught up in the preparation that precedes the annual United Appeal campaign. As residential chairman, she's in charge of a 2,000 army of women that will start out on a door-to-door canvass next month. Her phone seems to stand in danger of jumping off her kitchen wall as her various chairmen phone their commander-in-chief. Margaret Wright takes the tension with the ease of a veteran under fire. She's used to pressure.

She received plenty of this when, as president of the YM-YWCA's board of directors, she guided the group through the pitfalls of amalgamation.

"There were diehards on both sides that were reluctant to see the YWCA and the YMCA lose their autonomy. We overcame this opposition and time has proven that it was a good move."

Margaret Wright's backing of the "Y" movement began in the years before her marriage. After she graduated from university, she held the post of program director at YWCA centres in St. Thomas, St. Catharines and Ottawa.

Strong Pivot of Family Life

With all her concern for others in the community, Mrs. Wright has never failed to be the effective pivot around which her family moves. The Wrights' daughter, Nora (who graduated from the University of British Columbia with a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing) is now married and in London, Eng. But the family ties remain strong through letters. Nora will be sponsored by the borough of Southwark this year when she attends London's Northwestern Polytechnic Institute to study health visiting. Her mother's eyes shine with pride as she tells of Nora's success in her chosen field.

Margaret Wright likes to indulge in her own mind-stretching, too. She belongs to a study group that meets every two weeks.

"We meet for luncheon—there's about 10 of us—and it's amazing how much we get out of the sessions, even 'though our husbands tease and say we're more intent on studying the menus! Last week it was my turn to lead and I chose abstract art. We all learned something."

Mrs. Wright has also been president of the University Women's Club of Victoria and has served on the executive of the Women's Canadian Club.

Both she and her husband are members of First United Church. Dr. Wright is an elder and Margaret Wright can look back on years of church work that saw her teaching Sunday school and working in women's groups.

Sees Change in Church's Role

"I don't do it any more because I feel that much of the church work has been taken over by the community. Our social attitudes have changed and rightly so.

"The Lady Bountiful concept, where the chatelaine of the manor came to the door with a basket of goodies, did nothing to help the person in need to maintain his or her personal dignity.

"The various agencies that have replaced this method are a great improvement, making the service more impersonal and smacking less of charity."

Although Margaret Wright has done her share in many women's groups, she's just as at home—if not more—when working on mixed committees.

"I enjoy working with men. They take a logical approach to a problem and get on with it. Too often women become immersed with detail and tend to be emotional."

Politics Are Too Demanding

Margaret Wright explains why North American women are not seen in strong numbers in the political field.

"It's not that there aren't women in our country who are able to do the job. There are. But when you have a family you can't pick and choose your times as readily as a man. Very few women could drop everything and jump on a pre-election barnstormer. In contrast, a woman's volunteer work in her community can be fitted in so as to allow her to fill all her roles as wife, mother and community leader without short-changing any of them."

Margaret Wright has achieved such a balance with a dexterity and finesse worthy of any politician.

At left is Mrs. C. R. Pope and Mrs. S. G. Gibbins. Guest speaker for the evening, Dr. R. M. Peet, has chosen "Women" for his topic.

Fabulous Fakes and Femininity

Feminine logic can be a delightful quality, expecially when seen through the eyes of fashion designers.

This point was well made when the fall fashion show season began with two colorful shows at the Empress Hotel, Friday.

After saying, "Feminine logic triumphs over masculine statistics," commentator Barbara Winkler, Vancouver, introduced an Italian-inspired creation — a dress of green and red velvet, tied at strategic spots with red velvet ties and — shades of Rome — accented with red velvet knee-length thongs!

The shows, "September Song with a '66 Tempo," were sponsored by the Queen Alexandra Junior Solarium League. Fashions were from Eaton's, being co-ordinated by Mary Rawnsley of that store.

Still in the spirit of fun and feminine frivolity, a happy collection of 'fabulous fakes' (fun furs) had guests agog with excitement.

The Teddy Bear look of snow white piled fabric showed the natural waist banded in kid leather. Shirred at the waistline, the sports-minded fashion featured a tie-belt in the same dark kid. Complemented by a matching cap, this ensemble is bound to be the star of many a football or hockey game.

This autumn is the gracious, romantic, feminized season for the "ageless woman" of good taste. Shades of jade, pumpkin and grape are in the limelight for fall and winter.

A costume suit designed for suburban or city living — from daytime to dinner, utilized the grape shade in stunning Irish tweed.

Deep jade came to life in architectural lines, the new look for '66. The shape, cut in rather than darted, gave a different appearance to the simple A-line form in corded wool — the perfect dress for afternoon.

PUMPKIN SHADE

The slight A-line, labelled the "A-minus," was featured in pumpkin-toned leather. The wide hemline accented the slim silhouette in this casual walking suit. The jacket, slim and fashion wise, was styled with slim tapered sleeves and stitched inset pockets.

Mature woman's fashion, contemporary to the minute, began with a dress and coat ensemble in grape wool. The double-breasted feminine coat, flexible enough to be worn with or without the belt, topped an architectural-line dress. Seaming in self-material outlined the matronly figure.

The double-breasted jacket again appeared in an exclusive camel pant suit for the discriminating woman. The sailor-type double row of gold buttons starred the slightly tapered jacket, worn over matching bell-bottomed pants. The three-piece outfit was completed by a crocheted shell. Accessories were dark brown kid gloves and shoes. This demure fashion is perfect for the outdoor-minded, or for suburban shopping leisure.

"Touch in front and Go at the back" was the pet name given to a tent coat. In beige tones, this featured narrow shoulders and a faintly-fitted bodice, opening to a wide, swinging hem. Jewelled buttons added feminine flair to the natural tones. Complete with a helmet in the same beige accented with grey, this seemed the perfect outfit for outings in open convertibles.

WOOL JERSEY

Fashion-conscious grey, boosted with orange and gold, colored the theme of a wool jersey striped dress. The flexible style is easily converted from the daytime look with wide waist-fitting sash to the sophisticated with scarf draped over one shoulder.

Stepping away from the conventional furs was the showing of soft white lamb cut as a cloth coat with little bodyline, along double-breasted lines. Black kid buttons and a black kid belt threading the self-loops of this calgon lamb make it the femininely different item to add to your winter collection.

Formal evening wear featured the nude look in black lattice overnet, sophisticated and elegant over an underlay of flesh-colored net. The empire lines extended to a deep V in back, creating back interest.

For the light, airy fall evening was the polka-dot theme in wispy flares of soft chiffon in muted purple and green.

CONVERTIBLE GOWN

The short and long formal inspired a duo-purpose gown in gold brocade. The rickshaw look was accentuated by a top cut in assymetric lines. The A-line over-jacket extended to a few inches above the knee. Cascading beneath the tunic was a slim, A-line skirt. Behind-the-scenes magic transformed this elegant floor-length gown to a short formal, with the skirt gone, leaving only the tunic.

Modelling the September fashions were Kip Wallis, Helen Beirnes, Joan Thompson, Laurie Thomas, Jackie Fayad, Lou Jungnickel, Gloria Mill and Sandi Martell. Junior fashions were modelled by Jeannine Kirkham and Tesa Paulson. Maud Parks showed styles for the matron.

Convener Mrs. R. H. Jaycock, Mrs. N. Sunder and Mrs. L. J. Patterson greeted guests. Co-convener was Mrs. L. E. Lunt.

Reg Stone played the organ, and accompanied soloist Harry Elsdon.

TINI VORSTAR

Prime Minster's Wife— Woman of Simple Tastes

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — A woman of simple tastes stands behind South Africa's new prime minister, Balthazar Vorster.

Tini Vorster is fair-haired and blue-eyed. At election time her home becomes a virtual campaign office. She is her husband's most active supporter and has done everything from type letters to canvass for him.

At home she is a conscientious wife and mother to their three children. She lays out the clothes for Vorster, who is so unconcerned and absent-minded about his dress that he has been seen wearing unmatched shoes.

Vorster's assassinated predecessor, Hendrik Verwoerd, often said his wife Betsy was a source of great strength to him. Vorster feels the same way about Tini.

MET AT SCHOOL

Tini, then Martini Malan, met her future husband when both were studying at Stellenbosch University in the 1930s. He was studying law and she arts, specializing in social work. Hendrik and Betsy Verwoerd also met at this university.

The Vorsters started married life in 1941 at Port Elizabeth, where Vorster established a legal practice. Nine months later he was interned by the government of Jan Christian Smuts for his outspoken pro-German sympathies at a time when South Africa was fighting on the side of the Allies in the Second World War.

Mrs. Vorster, their income gone, joined a state welfare department, specializing in work in the children's courts.

When Vorster was released 17 months later, they went to Brakpan, 23 miles east of Johannesburg.

Mrs. Vorster, as her husband, is a fluent speaker in both the country's official languages, Afrikaans and English.

She has maintained her interest in social work. One of her greatest desires is to pursue research into the problems of alcoholic women and their rehabilitation.

She is an excellent cook and shares her husband's fondness of sport.

The Vorsters' daughter, Elsa, 21, gained her bachelor of arts degree last year and is taking her diploma in librarianship. Sons Willem, 16, and Pieter, 14, are pupils at a Pretoria Afrikaans High School.

Bride's Father Grows Flowers For Thody-Begg Wedding Service

White and gold chrysanthemums, which the bride's father had grown for the occasion, decorated Belmont United Church when Sandra Gail Begg became the bride of Hilton Patrick Scott Thody. Rev. Murray Henderson officiated at the evening ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Begg, 2742 Scott Street. The groom's parents are Mrs. W. Fenske, 1580 Pembroke Street, and the late Mr. Charles Thody.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown made by herself. Styled on empire lines of peau de soie, the floor-length gown had a bodice of hand-beaded French lace and a full train, enriched with appliques of the same lace. The shoulder-length veil of silk illusion misted from a coronet of rhinestones and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

GOLD AND BRONZE

The trio of senior attendants were a symphony in gold and bronze. Their short-length gowns of gold duchess satin were fashioned on empire lines. Their bow headpieces were en tone and their cascade bouquets, bronze chrysanthemums. Susan Begg was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were another sister, Miss Laurel Begg, and Miss Bonnie Cracknell.

The petite flower girl was the bride's niece, Tori Begg. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and wore a short white frock. All the gowns were made by the bride.

Best man was Graham Halkett and ushering guests were Jim Bunce and Brian (Gus) Craig.

The yellow and gold color theme was carried out in the decorations at the Elks Hall where the reception was held. The groom's parents had made the three-tier wedding cake which centred the head table.

William F. Nye proposed the toast to the bride's happiness.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to the interior of the province, the bride donned a two-piece suit of wine-toned English wool, styled on A-lines and made by herself.

SUNDAY BRUNCH AT THE EMPRESS

A popular innovation that began at the Empress Hotel last year — Sunday Brunch — will start again this weekend. Being served from noon until 2:30 p.m., the meal is designed to give housewives, visitors and their families an outing during the weekend. This Sunday's meal will feature chicken-a-la-king, beef, turkey and ham cold cuts, fruit juices, cold and hot cereals and a variety of desserts. The old stand-bys, scrambled eggs, bacon and sausages will also be starred. The meals will be served in the main dining room each Sunday through fall and winter.

'Powerful Forces Uniting Man'

SASKATOON (CP) — The ecumenical movement and efforts to eradicate the "miserable sin of apartheid" are signs of powerful forces in Christendom working to unite all mankind, the Archbishop of Canterbury said Friday night.

Speaking in St. John's Cathedral, Most Rev. Arthur Ramsay said it is possible for a new spirit of unity to motivate all Christians into treating one another as allies in God's service.

To promote this spirit was one of the main objectives of his visit last spring with Pope Paul in Rome, he said.

The leader of the world's 44,000,000 Anglicans said promotion of the spirit of unity also was a major factor behind his current cross-Canada tour.

Christian unity means peace in all respects, he said.

PIANIST JEAN TSAI
. . . home for a visit

AND, OF COURSE, MORE STUDYING

Talented Young Cosmopolite Sets Her Sights on Paris

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Some people in the course of time and experience become completely international — true citizens of the world.

For Jean Tsai, much experience has been crowded into little time and she is already, at the age of 20, a world citizen, a young cosmopolite.

Poised and petite, a charming young lady with flowing black hair who puts you in mind of fabled princesses of ancient Chinese dynasties, Miss Tsai enterains you with tea and Chinese moon cakes and talk of far places.

And whether you happen to be German, Chinese or English-speaking, she can chat to you as fluently in any of the three languages.

UNDERSTANDS FRENCH

Jean also speaks and understands French, "but not so well as the others," she demurs.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Luke S. Tsai, she is a visitor at her parent's home, 2964 Oakdowne Road, having spent the last three years studying the piano in Germany.

Some time in October she will return there and plans to spend one more year in Darmstadt before going to Paris "for my French and of course, more music," she says with her shy smile.

Jean was bor nin Hankow, China, but when she was five she moved with her parents and young brother, Joseph, to Singapore where the family lived for seven years before going to England.

WENT TO GERMANY

When Dr. Tsai decided to come to Canada, in 1963, Jean who had gained her Royal College of Music Associateship as a performer, made up her mind to go to Germany to continue her studies.

"I wanted to go to Detmold to study with the German pianist, Hans Richter-Hasser," she explains. "But when I got there I found he was not longer teaching at the academy."

She then went to Darmstadt where she won a scholarship at the Akademie fur Tonkunst to study with Werner Hoppstock.

Before she left Germany she had an opportunity to play the Schumann A minor Concerto with an orchestra and also gave a recital, playing Bach, Beethoven and Mozart among other things.

CRITICS LIKE HER

"I was very pleased with what the critics said," she tells you but is too modest to go into details. Apparently however, they singled out her Bach playing as quite exceptional.

Jean loves Bach but agrees that "it is silly to talk about favorite composers" when one likes so many things about so many.

She is also enthusiastic about performing chamber music and accompanying. But first in her heart is her ambition to be a concert pianist.

"I don't know though," she says. "There are so many — I don't know whether I can be good enough."

With Jean away there is still no lack of music in the household for her 13-year-old sister, Jane, is a budding pianist and her 18-year-old brother, a pre-med student at University of Victoria, plays the violin "really very well."

BLEND OF CULTURES

Surrounded in her parents' home with a fascinating blend of Western and Eastern cultures — carved jade and ivory, delicate paintings and rich embroidery — it is no wonder that when Jean's flexible fingers are not occupied with the keyboard they should be nimble and gifted in creating attractive things in clay and metal, thread, wire and paper.

She enjoys her hobbies but whatever her interests she doesn't need a gypsy to foretell that her future is filled with music and probably — as it has been already — with the sound of far places and many tongues.

Sister Cares For Life's Hopeless Ones

By SAM MORTON

BELMONT, N.C. (AP) — Sister Marie Patrice bent over the playpen and lifted a baby girl with blonde curls.

"Isn't she lovely," the nun said softly, kissing and patting the child.

The baby is 11 months old.

She looks normal except for one feature. Her head is larger than usual. She is a hydrocephalic. Like most of the 69 children at Holy Angels nursery, she will live only a few years.

These children are blind or deformed. Some are both. Most are under six years old. Modern medicine can do little for them.

The state of North Carolina has no place to care for them. Hospitals cannot keep them. Neither can parents, for, in most cases, they require around-the-clock care.

But Sister Patrice decided 10 years ago she could do something. She was operating a day nursery on the grounds of Sacred Heart junior college and academy in Belmont, a textile-industrial town 12 miles west of Charlotte.

A doctor brought her a three-weeks-old girl he said would live no longer than six months. This child also was a hydrocephalic, with an enlarged head, a large tumor on its back, and dangling, twisted legs.

Sister Patrice named her Maria.

CHILD RESPONDED

She responded to care and attention. One day she smiled. A few days later she made gurgling sounds.

"I almost dropped her," said Sister Patrice. "We were all so excited."

Surgeons removed the tumor from Maria's back, Her head, twice normal size, began to get smaller.

Later, she learned to talk. Though she remains in a wheelchair, she may some day walk, with the help of braces. She goes to school now.

"Others heard of us and wanted to bring their helpless infants," Sister Patrice recalled.

She asked the Sisters of the Sacred Heart to borrow money to build a nursing home. But they said they could not until they paid off a debt on the college.

Sister Patrice got permission to solicit funds. She enlisted a board of advisers. The nursery began to grow, almost entirely through donations.

There are children from seven states at the nursery. It's got so big that Sister Patrice said she now must limit it to children from North Carolina.

Pope Calls For War End In Viet Nam

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican announced today Pope Paul will issue an encyclical letter Monday dedicating October as world wide month of prayer to end the war in Viet Nam.

A statement from the Vatican described the coming encyclical—the fourth of Pope's Paul's reign—as "a pontifical document of notable importance . . . an encyclical letter in which the Holy Father will invite the faithful of all the world to special prayers in the coming month of October."

Vatican sources explained the month would be marked for intensified prayers by the world's 500,000,000 Roman Catholics for peace in Viet Nam.

The announcement of the encyclical, the most solemn form of papal document sent to all the church's bishops, came just a day after Vatican sources said the Pope was planning a "spectacular gesture for peace."

October is a month traditionally dedicated by the church to the Virgin Mary. So is May, and last year the Pope issued the encyclical Menses Maio (The Month of May) asking prayers for threatened world peace.

Prison To Curb Suicides

BURNABY (CP) — Oakalla Prison officials have opened a new maximum surveillance unit for emotionally disturbed inmates in an effort to curb a rising suicide rate.

Dr. Gilbert Kennedy, deputy attorney-general said in an interview Friday night that prisoners in the new unit are being checked every 90 seconds.

Prisoners whose records indicate they are seriously disturbed are transferred to Riverview Hospital, he said. Those less disturbed, but considered capable of attempting suicide will go into the new unit.

The move follows three suicides in the past three weeks among Oakalla inmates.

In the most recent case, Joseph Bernier, 37, formerly of St. Norbert, Man., was found Friday hanging from a bedsheet in his cell, hours before he was to appear in court to face habitual criminal proceedings.

Earlier in the week, Paul Gibbs, 21, said by police to have been a welfare case during most of his life, was found hanging by his belt. He was serving a 15-month term for theft.

Edward Joseph Rose, 38, hung himself Aug. 25 by using a strip of cloth torn from his mattress. Rose was serving 15 days in solitary confinement for an infraction of prison rules.

MACLEAN
. . . moderator in 1946

Ex-Church Head To Speak Sunday

A former moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Rev. W. Gordon Maclean, DD, of Winnipeg, will speak at the centennial services in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will read the lesson at the 11 a.m. worship.

Dr. Maclean was educated at St. Andrew's University and Aberdeen University and holds honorary degrees from Knox College, Toronto, and United College, Winnipeg. He was moderator of the Presbyterian Church of Canada in 1946.

During the First World War he served as chaplain in the Middle East with General Allenby's expeditionary force. In the Second War he was senior chaplain with Canada's Second Division.

Very Rev. J. Lewis McLean, DD, will conduct both services in St. Andrew's Church.

At the morning worship, Eleanor Duff will sing Hymn of Gratitude and the choir will be heard in the anthem Gloria in Excelisi with soloist Miss Kay Paulin, Miss G. Harper, John Bell and David Conrad.

In the evening the choir will sing O Praise Ye The Lord.

13th Century Scholar Contributes to Unity

By CAR MOLLINS

LONDON (CP) — An obscure Scottish scholar of 700 years ago is making a posthumous contribution to 20th centruy efforts at Christian unity.

John Duns Scotus, a medieval theologian who taught, wrote and lectured at Oxford, Cambridge, Paris and Cologne Universities, has been hailed by Pope Paul as a possible mediator in the current "dialogue" between Roman Catholics and other Christians, especially Anglicans.

Attention has been focussed on the works of Scotus by a congress of 200 scholars from around the world, including Canada, being held this week at Oxford and Edinburgh to mark the 700th anniversary of Sctotus' birth.

Canadians taking part in the lectures and studies are Rev. Camille Berube of the Institute of Medieval Studies at the University of Montreal; Rev. Seraphin Zecevic of Regina; philosopher Etienne Gilson of the Pontifical Institute of Medieval Studies, Toronto, and Raymond Kilbanski of McGill University, Montreal.

Pope Paul said in a message to the congress opening, attended by Anglican and Catholic dignitaries, the works of Scotus could provide "formidable weapons" against "the black cloud of atheism."

The Pope added:

"We cherish yet another hope. The steachings of Scotus may perhaps provide a golden framework for the serious dialogue between the Catholic Church and the Anglican communion as well as the other Christian communities of Great Britain."

U.S. OPPOSES MEDICAL AID FOR REDS

Canadian Quakers Threatened

WASHINGTON (CP) — A member of a Philadelphia Quaker group sending medical aid to North Viet Nam via Canada said Wednesday he was warned by an American official that Canadian participants might be "found in some conspiracy,"

Ross Flanagan, in charge of sending parcels to North Viet Nam for the Quaker Action Group, said in a telephone interview from Philadelphia the warning was delivered here Monday.

A state department official confirmed that representatives of the state and treasury departments met Flanagan and group co-chairman Lawrence Scott Monday to discuss the philosophy of provisions of the Trading With the Enemy Act.

He said the Quaker Action Group was asked to apply for a licence for sending aid under the act and that Scott said he would consider it.

But Flanagan said Wednesday he intends to proceed without one to "establish the right of any U.S. citizen to extend humanitarian aid."

Flanagan said the discussion included warnings that breaking the Trading With the Enemy Act's provisions could mean a $10,000 fine plus a five-year jail term.

He said he and Scott also were asked to have regard for others implicated in non-sanctioned aid efforts for North Viet Nam and the Canadian participants — the Canadian Friends Service Committee, another Quaker agency — was mentioned as a "group that could be found in some conspiracy.' '

It was acknowledged here that the remark had been made as an argument to persuade the Philadelphians to apply for a licence.

But officials — and Flanagan — said they didn't know just what U.S. authorities might do to participating Canadians other than possibly cutting off any U.S. mail to them.

Flanagan said his group's first shipment — consisting of drugs purchased in Canada with about $400 in American funds plus Canadian donations — left Montreal Saturday. Another major shipment is planned for next month, he said.

Studies Centre Campaign By French-Speaking Backers

VANCOUVER (CP)—A group which furthers the teaching of French said Thursday it has raised more than $9,000 of $50,000 needed to build a studies centre.

L'Alliance Francaise de Vancouver said its proposed centre will include four 25-seat classrooms and a 175-seat lecture hall. Until now, the 700-member group has used rented theatres, halls, and private schools.

Other parts of the scheduled program include guest lecturers, shows and films.

President Charles Block-Bauer said a site has been chosen for the centre and is paid for in full.

PRESS RUN SOLD OUT

You can't keep a good book down.

"Even the Soviet Union may be coming to terms with the Bible," says Christianity Today, a magazine published in Washington, D.C.

On Aug. 11, the Soviet government released a 456-page compendium of Old Testament stories from the Creation to the Apocrypha.

Long lines of people waited to buy the book and the press run of 100,000 copies was soon sold out.

Gallant Few Remembered On Sunday

A service of Remembrance, dedicated to the memory of the gallant Few, will be held in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday at 3 p.m.

It is sponsored by the Air Force Officers' Association of Vancouver Island in memory of Allied airmen who fought in the epic Battle of Britain 26 years ago.

The service will be conducted by Canon S. J. Wickens, a former RCAF squadron leader, and the lesson will be read by Air Commodore G. G. Truscott, president of the Air Force Officers' Association.

"All members of the public are welcome," he said.

The Air Force Officers' Association of Vancouver Island will hold its annual commemorative dinner in Victoria Golf Club tonight at 7.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will be guest of honor and the speaker will be Air Vice-Marshal W. A. Orr, who recently retired from the RCAF.

After the dinner, a wreath will be placed at the Victoria Cenotaph.

* * *

Officer cadets and staff of the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, will attend a memorial service commemorating the Battle of Britain in St. Peter's Naval Church, Belmont Park, at 11 a.m.

The service will be conducted by Chaplain W. B. Taylor and the sermon will be given by Chaplain H. I. Hare. The lessons will be read by Group Capt. D. B. Wurtele and Flt. Lt. J. L. Fournier, RCAF.

After considerable travel in Europe and Asia, Rev. Robert J. D. Morris returns to the pulpit in First United Church Sunday.

His subject at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services will be One World.

Sharing in the conduct of the 11 a.m. service will be Neil A. Swainson.

W. H. Gregory will sing The Lost Chord and direct the choir in the anthems, Hear Lord and O Sing a New Song.

Ursula Hunt is guest organist with Jean Meyers on the carillon.

* * *

Dorothy Abraham will speak on Prayer—the Secret Weapon at a meeting of the British Israel World Federation, Victoria branch, in the Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street, Monday at 8 p.m.

* * *

In Metropolitan United Church Sunday the Sanctuary Choir, conducted by Frank Tupman, will sing God Be Merciful and O'er Field and Forest Stealing.

Dawn Benoit will be soloist at the morning worship; Marjorie Sturgeon will be heard in the evening.

Eric Boothroyd's organ solos will be Prelude, Fugue and Variation (Franck) and The Legend (Bancroft).

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. R. Housman of Durban, South Africa, will show a sound film of their country at Seventh-Day Adventist Church tonight at 7:30.

The film includes shots of Cape Town, Cape Province, Transvaal, Kruger Mountain Park, Natal and the Drakenburg Mountains.

Pastor Laverne R. Krenzler spoke at the Saturday morning service on An Ordinance of Love.

* * *

Victoria's Unitarian Church resumes its full schedule this Sunday with sessions at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. in the Servetus Hall, 106 Superior Street.

There will be a third session in the Servetus Hall every Thursday at 6:15 p.m.

* * *

Rev. Norman Archer begins a new series of sermons in Stevenson and Emmanuel Baptist Churches Sunday morning. They will be based on the text from Hebrews 6:9, Things That Accompany Salvation.

The joint evening service at Emmanuel will be conducted by young people of the congregation. An account of the Young People's Baptist convention at Saskatoon will be given and a representative from the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will speak.

Ethel Moorehouse, a graduate of Royal Jubilee Hospital and the Canadian Bible College, is now engaged in missionary work in the Philippine Islands.

Her colored slides and tape recordings have been sent back to Victoria and will be shown at the Alliance Church, 1039 Yates Street, Sunday at 7 p.m.

Pastor Ted Chapman will speak at the 11 a.m. service.

* * *

The mental, moral and physical demands of the present age will be discussed by Rev. John A. Watson in First Baptist Church Sunday morning. His subject is The Struggles of Life.

In the evening, worship will centre on the theme, A Privilege and a Responsibility.

"We shall consider the teaching ministry of the church in the light of God's Word," Mr. Watson says, "and there will be a dedication service for leaders in the church's education program."

* * *

Starting this Sunday at 3:30 p.m., a series of gospel services will be held in the War Amputees' Hall, 1610 Oak Bay Avenue.

They will be conducted by Frank Stelfox and Charles Wilson.

"All are welcome," says Mr. Stelfox. "Christ is our creed; the Bible our textbook."

* * *

Rev. Emma Smiley will speak on Punishing the Water in Victoria Truth Centre, 1201 Fort Street, Sunday at 11 a.m.

Her evening subject will be Prayer Therapy.

* * *

For his Rally Day address in both Garden City and Wilkinson Road United Churches, Rev. H. R. Whitmore has chosen the subject, Doing a Great Work.

Children of the Sunday school are invited to accompany their parents to the services.

At the 10 a.m. service in Garden City, soloist will be Mrs. Catherine Hayhurst. The service at Wilkinson Road gets under way at 11:15 a.m.

Ivan Coming Back to Bible?

The people of Soviet Russia are turning back to religion.

So says Rev. Robert J. D. Morris, minister of Victoria's First United Church, who was in Moscow and Leningrad recently.

"There has been a general relaxing of opposition to the churches in Russia," Mr. Morris said. "I would say more people are attending church in Russia today than for many years past.

"There are promising signs of a reaction against atheism and agnosticism."

MORRIS
. . . atheist faith fades

Mr. Morris left Victoria three months ago to engage in missionary work for the Church of Christ in Japan under the board of world missions of the United Church of Canada.

On leaving Japan, he visited Helsinki, Stockholm, Copenhagen, London, Moscow and Leningrad; then flew back to Canada to attend a general council of the United Church of Canada at Waterloo, Ont.

Returning to Victoria Friday, Mr. Morris said he felt the conference had taken a step forward towards unity between the United and Anglican churches of Canada.

CONFERENCE

"Whatever form the proposed union takes, it seems the United Church will be willing to change its structure to include bishops," he said.

Recalling his missionary work in Japan, Mr. Morris said the country now has a higher living standard than any other country in the Orient.

"The economic growth is tremendous. Japan has never been more prosperous, and this prosperity, as in other countries, has been accompanied by a breakdown in moral standards.

"The old respect for parental authority is largely a thing of the past."

Mr. Morris admitted that part of Japan's prosperity might be due to the demand for supplies needed for the war in Viet Nam.

"At the same time," he said, "there is a widespread feeling in Japan that the United States should not be in this war at all.

"Many Japanese feel this is an internal matter and that the U.S. should keep out of it. I found this viewpoint fairly general, not only in church groups, but among members of Rotary clubs, boards of trade, students and various social organizations."

WORLD THEME FOR SESSION

More than 500 men of the United Church of Canada will attend a conference at the Banff School of Fine Arts Oct. 14-16.

Theme of this year's conference will be The Church and the World. Main speaker will be Rev. John R. Leng, executive co-ordinator for the United Church.

Church and lay leaders from all western provinces will participate.

Religion Survey Studied

NEW YORK (AP) — Most church bodies would like to find out the exact religious makeup of the U.S. population.

But there are differences of opinion about whether it would be right to ask people about their faith.

The U.S. census bureau is deciding whether it should include in the 1970 census a question about religion, a subject it has heretofore avoided.

Religious organizations recognize that their methods of gathering statistics have yielded incomplete and disparate results, and would like the census bureau to pose the question.

"There is no way it can be collected except through a national census," says Rev. Lauris Whiteman, head of the research department of the National Council of Churches.

Nevertheless, misgivings exist. Morris B. Abram, president of the American Jewish Committee, noted that answers to census questions are mandatory, and said that to "compel a person to profess his religious affiliation or lack of affiliation" would "deprive him of religious freedom," as guaranteed in the U.S. constitution.

On the other hand, he said, the information would have "considerable sociological, cultural and practical uses."

Woman to Head Education Work

Miss Margaret Tredwell, a graduate of Victoria College and the Anglican Women's Training College in Toronto, has been appointed director of Christian education at St. John's Anglican Church.

For seven years, until 1959, she worked for the B.C. government's motor vehicle branch.

After obtaining a preliminary teaching certificate at Victoria College, Miss Tredwell took a three-year graduate course at the Anglican Women's Training College in Toronto.

After graduation she went to the parish of Channel in Newfoundland as a parish youth worker.

Born in Winnipeg, Miss Tredwell came to Victoria at an early age, attended Cloverdale School and graduated from Mount View High School.

"Miss Tredwell will be concerned with up-dating our church school work," says Canon Grahame Baker, rector of St. John's.

IMPROVEMENT

"The new Anglican curriculum is now in use in most grades and is a vast improvement on the old system. Sunday schools everywhere have fallen far behind the advances made in the secular field of education.

"At St. John's we are trying to make up some of these shortcomings."

VISITING here Sunday, Oct. 2, Bishop John Charles Vockler of Polynesia will preach in Christ Church Cathedral. The following Thursday, Oct. 6, he will take part in a lunch-hour conference at the University of Victoria and the same evening will speak at a mass rally in Nanaimo. On Friday, Oct. 7, he will attend a chapter meeting of the clergy of Victoria and Saanich deaneries.

United Church To Name Bishops

By NEIL LOUTTIT

WATERLOO, Ont. — (CP) The United Church of Canada will consider changing its structure to include bishops no matter what form the proposed union with the Anglican Church takes.

"It is something we'll have to face sooner or later," said Dr. E. E. Long, United Church secretary.

The general council of the church, meeting here this week referred a committee report on bishops to presbyteries and congregations for further study.

The United Church has a conciliar form of government in which there are no bishops.

Dr. Long and Dr. J. B. Corston of Halifax, chairman of the committee on bishops, said no decision had yet been made on what powers bishops in the United Church would have.

Dr. Long said bishops would possibly be pastors to the pastors, but he did not speculate on their role in church government.

"As it is now nobody seems to know who to go to with a problem, and at times it is very hard for a committee to be a father-in-God to the ministers."

The report noted that Methodists, Congregational and Presbyterian churches in Australia are considering bishops while negotiating union.

"We must be prepared to understand the significance of the episcopacy as it has been preserved and developed by our sister communions," the report said.

In other business, the council approved a $35,000 research centre to study ministry problems and needs in urban communities.

The proposed centre, to be located in an undetermined metropolitan area, will provide consultative services for presbyteries, boards and councils in analyzing community and social changes.

Young People Operate Retreat

Labor Day Weekend saw 26 Parkdale Free Church Youth and the advisors head for Morrison Hall, the Shantymen's Christian Association camp on Vancouver Island's west coast, for a holiday retreat.

The weekend was entirely run by the young people under the direction of camp committee chairman, Gordon LaTrace.

Speaker for the Retreat was Rev. Earl Johnson, Shantyman missionary, who told the young people how the Holy Spirit could be a practical force in their lives.

Last Sunday at Parkdale, a dedication was held for the newly elected Youth Fellowship executive.

The officers consist of Glen Stocks; government data processor, as president, Don Craig; Mt. Douglas High student, vice-president, and three Mt. View students, Myrna Stocks, Pat Jarvie, and Barry Rigler, as secretary-treasurer, and social convener, respectively.

Formosa Worker To Visit

Mrs. Lillian Dickson, a missionary in Formosa for many years, will visit Victoria Sept. 30.

She and her husband, James Dickson, first went to Formosa in 1927. Since then they have built homes for orphans; raised money for medical clinics and for more than 100 stone churches in the back country.

Mrs. Dickson started five maternity wards and has distributed hundreds of tons of medical supplies and clothing throughout the island.

Her visit to Victoria is being jointly sponsored by the Rainbow Christian Fellowship, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and the Lessons in Living group of St. John's Anglican Church.

On Sept. 30, Mrs. Dickson will address a meeting in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m. and in St. John's Anglican Church Hall at 8 p.m.

Lazarus Play Set At Service

Stuart Jackman's play The Prototype will be presented by the Covenant Players of First United Church as part of the Sunday evening worship.

The play deals with the raising of Lazarus from the grave and the reaction of Mary and Martha to the phenomenon. It is said to be a unique combination of humor, drama and worship.

The Prototype is directed by Rob Nelson and Jennifer Dutton and the cast includes Gregory Roberts, Ray Walker, Ron Anderson, Rayanne Squires and Janette Sumner.

The play will be repeated next Friday and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. when there will be a charge of 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

All performances will take place in the Covenant Theatre, located below the sanctuary of the church. The entrance is off Balmoral Road.

SPEAKER at the Sunday morning service in Metropolitan United Church will be Jessie C. MacLeod, associate field secretary of the Christian education committee, B.C. conference, United Church of Canada. A native of Baddock, N.S., Miss MacLeod holds a BA degree from the University of Toronto and a diploma from the United Church Training School. Her subject will be Holy Ground.

8 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank friends and relatives for lovely floral offerings in the loss of our sister, Mrs. R. de James.—Gottleib and Louise Eutenier and family.

My thanks to Mrs. Letty Hamilton, 914 McNaughton Avenue; also friends and neighbors on Arundel Drive, and everyone who contributed to the $500.—Mrs. Valerie Cleaver.

We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness and sympathy in the recent loss of a dear Wife, Mother and Grandmother. —Mr. M. J. Brown, Son and Family.

We sincerely wish to thank our friends and relatives for their kindness, words of sympathy and floral offerings. Special thanks to Dr. Critchley and staff on 4th East, Jubilee Hospital, in our late bereavement of Mr. Alex Allnutt — Nan Allnutt, Shelagh and John Grove and family.

On behalf of my mother, my aunt and all the family, I would like to thank our many friends, neighbors and relatives for the kind words, donations to the Heart Fund and floral tributes. Our sudden loss, the death of our beloved husband, brother and dad, William Ronald Preece, has left an emptiness that can never be wholly filled but we are grateful for many happy memories.—Mrs. Myrna Bennett.

Opening lead—♦ 4

Look at all the cards and note that South can make five odd without any trouble. Whenever he gets the lead he simply plays the ace and king of trumps. This drops East's queen and jack, whereupon dummy's tenspot will pick up West's nine.

An average bridge player will make these 11 tricks. So will most experts but today's South was the kind of expert who knew so much that he frequently managed to confuse himself.

East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returned the deuce. South won and played his ace of trumps. East followed with the queen and South paused for study.

There is a standard safety play available here to guard against finding the rest of the trumps in the West hand. You simply lead a low trump toward dummy. If West started with four trumps to the jack he will make only one natural trump trick.

South decided to make this play. East won with the jack and gave his partner a diamond ruff. The trouble with South's play was that in an effort to guard against one possible distribution he exposed himself to all sorts of trouble otherwise. There were many other ways, including the actual one, that this "safety" play could hurt him. In addition, even if West did hold all the missing trumps, the play would not work if East held the ace of clubs. West would lead a club to his partner and still get the diamond ruff.

OPEN HOUSE 3559 REDWOOD (OAK BAY) SATURDAY SEPT. 17th 1-5 P.M.

The designer who planned this 2-yr-old home was surely inspired by the expression that "ALL ROADS LEAD TO ROME" because he had created as the central core of this home a large family room around which the activity of the whole house seems to revolve. HERE ARE A FEW OF THE OTHER FEATURES I KNOW WILL EXCITE YOU:

- The entrance hall with its commanding wall mirror and elegant chandelier beckon you on to more and more beautiful things all planned for practical family living and gracious entertaining.
- An expansive living room—24x16 — having two fine features; a floor-to-ceiling natural stone fireplace and a bay window obviously positioned to take advantage of the high open outlook.
- A truly intimate "candlelight and wine" dining room dominated by an Italian crystal chandelier. Sliding glass doors lead onto a natural slate patio, ideal for formal or informal dining.
- 4 generous bedrooms with oodles of closet and storage space. The master bedroom has its own 4-piece bathroom (no need here to queue up for the bath).
- As well as the bathroom in the master bedroom there are TWO other intelligently planned bathrooms; the family bathroom has 5 pieces with a divisioning door separating the toilet and tub from the twin washbasins. And tucked away conveniently beside the family room and den is another 2-piece bathroom.
- Only a woman could have planned this kitchen: double sinks portable dishwasher, mono-unit built-in range and oven, budget planning area and breakfast bar.
- A den for Mom and Dad to hide away in AND a big, big, big rumpus room to let the children have all their fun and games.
- Over 2,100 sq. ft. of enjoyable living PLUS the double garage and laundry room.

EXCITED? You should be, because the price is only

UPPER LANSDOWNE
QUIET CUL-DE-SAC
UNIVERSITY AREA OFF FREDERICK NORRIS RD.

This three-year-old luxury home was designed with loving care by present owners under architect supervision and includes all the practical and artistic details they had longed for all their life. Now they are reluctantly compelled to sell their beautiful home at a sacrifice price and P. R. Brown & Sons are privileged to be entrusted with the sale.

Entering the spacious hall and vestibule turn right up a few stairs to a nicely proportioned living room (19'x16') with spacious open ceiling, and guest size (13'x10') open dining room which leads to a delightful kitchen with built-in electric oven and table-top range, and ample family dining area with open view (down a few steps) to a splendid family room, (13'x19') with hidden two-piece bathroom and third bedroom or den.

From the vestibule turn to the left up a few stairs to the two large bedrooms with ample closets and a lovely vanity bathroom.

Two-car carport, secluded lot with nice sized lawn and bordered by a rock outcrop makes this lovely home unique and delectable.

OAK BAY TUDOR
COMPACT! YET ROOMY
3 BEDROOMS PLUS DEN
2 BATHS
$23,000

Architect designed in 1929 and very little worse for wear today considering its age is this roomy Tudor home in South Oak Bay. Seated on a shrubbed garden lot on Newport Avenue across from the Golf Course and only steps to buses, schools and shops, this home radiates an atmosphere of charm from its battened gables and leaded windows.

When the brisk winds blow this winter you'll thank your lucky stars you found this gem as you relax in the colonial living room in front of a glowing presto log while Jack Frost nips at the bay window. A cheery call from the compact kitchen will bring the kiddies scrambling down the stairs from the big bedroom and daughter from her own bedroom to the large separate chandeliered dining room where another presto log glows under a white manteled hearth. Over dinner and after in the cozy den you may meditate on the development of the huge storage room upstairs to give another bedroom and den so that the immediate den may be changed to a breakfast area. Yes, it's worth while and it would make you a tidy profit upon resale. The hot water heating system would be no problem to extend as the plumbing was originally put in for just such a venture. Also part of the basement could be developed to give a sizeable recreation room very economically.

Your lucky stars are shining, don't let them fade. Call now for appointment to view.

SECLUSION ? ?
½ ACRE ? ?

You know you'll have to pay a high price—but you won't mind, if you can find it!

What we have is an authentic squire's Tudor with all these features and more, 100% seclusion. Trees and shrubbery of every description. Half-pitch roof. Battened gables—you know what we mean! Large bright kitchen. Dining room. Family room (20x14). Office. Sundeck off kitchen. Parlor-type living room with matching granite fireplace. 2 baths. Den or 5th bedroom.

The catch. It's not in Oak Bay at a price of $35,000 to $40,000, but in an equally desirable area at a price of $27,900. Close to all schools, bus and shops. A home where living and entertainment is a pleasure.

A SUBDIVIDERS
HEAVEN ! ! !

This lovely property is near the famous Georgia Park Terrace developments, where the homes are selling in the $30,000.00 bracket. SUBDIVIDED, these lots would sell at a premium, because of the spectacular views and surrounding development. The land is rectangular in shape, just off the square, and is bounded by TWO EXISTING ROADS. Its very gently sloping, and mostly cleared, but has many beautiful and well spaced trees.

There is an older and comfortable three-bedroom home, in very good condition. (In the event that the purchaser wants to raise horses, instead of subdividing.)

We will listen to all reasonable propositions, a substantial amount of cash will be necessary if terms are required.

REGIONAL ROUNDUP

Fisherman Rescued; Troller Burns, Sinks

SOOKE — Fisherman James Forsyth was forced to abandon ship in the Strait of Juan de Fuca Friday afternoon after it caught fire and sank.

The Vancouver man was picked up about 15 minutes later by the Island Tug and Barge vessel, Island Booster.

The Booster was attracted to the scene by the dying flames from Mr. Forsyth's 32-foot troller, Hitch Hiker.

Sooke RCMP said the fire was believed to have started in the engine room as the boat passed Otter Point.

Mr. Forsyth was uninjured and left shortly after being put ashore for Vancouver.

CAMPBELL RIVER — One of Campbell River's outstanding atheletes, Wendy Grant, has been selected to play for B.C.'s junior women's representative volleyball team.

The team, comprised of 12 of the top junior women players in the province, will represent B.C. at the Canadian Winter Games in Quebec next February.

An all-round athete, Wendy was selected for the squad after her performance at a special volleyball clinic earlier this year at Winfield. Her name had been submitted by High School Physical Education Instructor Mrs. Hitchen.

Twenty-four girls attended the clinic and received instruction with the top twelve named to the B.C. squad. Junior age group is up to 21.

The volleyball team will begin intensive training in Vancouver this month under coach Vic Lindal at UBC's War Memorial Gym.

Wendy, who leaves for Vancouver this week and expects to work on the mainland, said she will also likely play competitively for the Marpole volleyball team. This team is expected to tour California later next year.

A natural athlete, Wendy has been outstanding in track and field and basketball. She also took to volleyball quickly and was an outstanding performer.

DUNCAN — Top record in the Cowichan Dairy Herd Improvement Association in August was made by Major's Crockett, an 8-year-old Holstein owned by the Westholme firm of E. and H. Huisman.

This cow gave 17,094 poinds of milk containing 786 pounds of butterfat. The same cow was a winner in June, 1965.

NORTH COWICHAN — Local architects Hammond & Farmer have been retained by North Cowichan council to draw up plans and specifications for a new municipal hall.

A $250,000 estimate has been put on the cost pf replacing the present administrative buildings situated in downtown Duncan.

Proposed site of the new municipal headquarters is on the Trans-Canada Highway four miles north of Duncan.

Reeve Donald Morton said Friday he hoped the new municipal hall can be ready for occupancy next year.

NO COMPENSATION FOR LAND?

Farmers Rap B.C. Hydro

DUNCAN — B.C. Hydro methods of obtaining rights of way over private property came under fire at a Friday evening meeting of Cowichan Agricultural Society.

Several Somenos district farmers were named as having signed agreements to allow the erection of power poles and equipment on their land, but no compensation was offered.

John Van Eyk, Somenos Road, asked the society for help in getting a fair settlement.

The society referred the problem to North Cowichan Council.

"The municipal council is already working to get satisfaction for two elderly couples, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Robinson, Bell-McKinnon Road.

B.C. Hydro has cut down trees on the O'Brien and Robinson properties without getting permission or offering compensation, it is claimed.

At that time Coun. George Whittaker, North Cowichan, branded B.C. Hydro as "arrogant."

A new Hydro power converter station is under construction on Bell-McKinnon Road about two miles north of Duncan.

BOOK LEARNIN' in makeshift classrooms replaces shop work at Cowichan Senior Secondary because carpenter work stoppage has halted work on vocational wing. (Times photo by Don Dingwall.)

VOCATIONAL WING STALLED

Classrooms Unfinished But School Marches on

DUNCAN — Students at Cowichan Senior Secondary School are learning how to make do in make-shift classrooms.

The lockout-strike of carpenters has not only stopped work on the new vocational wing, it's halted work on remodelling workshops and labs in the main school.

Harold Proctor, vice-principal, says the improvised setup is working extremely well, even though four classes are partitioned off in the gym.

Mechanics students are using a workshop which has no heat, light or power and physical education classes are all outdoors when the weather is fine.

When it rained one day this week the erstwhile athletes lined the gym walls reading.

Work on the new $400,000 vocational wing is at a complete stop. Sub-trades can do no more work till the carpenters go back. Students temporarily also are deprived of use of the cafeteria, which now houses home economics classes.

Mr. Proctor said: "We're making order out of chaos. Even though the physical consitions are difficult, instruction is going ahead."

He said: "We're concentrating on theory right now and will turn the emphasis to practical work when we can occupy and use the plant."

What lies in store for the students when the vocational wing is complete would stagger their grandparents.

The equipment ranges from modern kitchens to lathes, saws, miniature radio and television circuits to auto welding bays the envy of most commercial garages.

Once the carpenters return to the job it is estimated another two months will be required to finish the new wing and remodelling.

MISSING WOMAN NAMED

CAMPBELL RIVER—A Calgary woman missing and presumed drowned following a boating accident in Seymour Narrows, north of here has been identified as Mrs. Sally Ann Clark, 35.

Her husband, Lawton Clark, and a 20-year-old guide, Richard Mair, of Campbell River, managed to swim to a nearby island after their small boat capsized in a whirlpool.

A search was to continue for the body of the missing woman.

Fishermen Say It's Coho Heaven

CAMPBELL RIVER — The Tyee season has all but ended, but the coho are in and that means some real, lively fishing.

Northern coho this year are running considerably bigger than in many previous years and several in the 13, 14 and 15 pound brackets have already been caught.

Ken McGregor of Oregon landed a 15 pounder on light spinning tackle and a New York visitor to Painter's was in with a 15-pounder on spinning gear.

Biggest coho recorded locally to date was a 19-pounder caught last Thursday night by Mrs. Ed la Roux of Chicago. She and her husband were guided by Jim Ellis who is having a busy year. Mr. La Roux landed a 10-pounder.

Race Point, Menzies Bay, Quathiaski Cove and in front of the Big Rock have been hot spots. Flashtails, bucktails, needlefish and Deadly Dicks appear to be the most popular lures.

Train Crew Exonerated In Fatality

DUNCAN—Eddy Harry, 46, either passed out drunk or fell asleep before he was killed on the E. & N. railroad at Koksilah Sept. 8.

This was the unanimous finding of a cornoner's jury here Thursday.

The crew of the freight train involved was completely exonerated.

Police testimony indicated heavy drinking before death.

Harry was killed at 3:35 a.m. when seven freight cars of the southbound train passed over him as he lay between the tracks.

Engineer Bruce Palak said he was running the train about 25 miles an hour. He applied the emergency brakes "but it was impossible to stop in time to avoid hitting him."

Palak said during the past few years he has had to stop on two occasions to wake up men who were sleeping on the railroad tracks near Duncan.

The jury added a rider asking authorities to "discourage" trespassing on railroad property.

Bursary Awarded

DUNCAN — Cowichan high school gaduate Barbara Kerrone has been awarded a $100 bursary from the Women of the Moose. The money was raised from various bazaars.

PLAYING WITH WORDS

The idea of anagrambles is to take a word, scramble the letters and, by adding another letter, make a new word. For instance: YEAST anagrambled with F is safety. Now try these:

1. SHARK anagrambled with I is ....?
2. MARINE anagrambled with C is ....?
3. COINS anagrambled with T is ....?
4. SOAPED anagrambled with I is ....
5. ABLE anagrambled with Z is ....

Now let's change the game. Let's say add S to a cluster of tents to get a rascal. The answer would be CAMP. SCAMP.

6. Add S to competent and get a valuable fur.
7. Add S to uniform and get a lucky number.
8. Add S to murder and get art.
9. Add S to writing necessity and get a basin.
10. Add S to a measure of length and get a facial expression.

Answers: 1. Rakish, 2. Carmine, 3. Tocsin, 4. Adipose, 5. Blaze, 6. Able, sable. 7. Even, seven. 8. Kill, skill. 9. Ink, sink. 10. Mile, smile.

STAMP CORNER

By REG. NAIRNE

In last week's column it was suggested that prices of certain U.S. issues were highly inflated at the present time. Actually this was a misprint. Instead of "U.S." it should have read "U.N.", for it is the stamps of the United Nations that have seen such a boom lately.

To realize the extent of this trend it will perhaps be amusing to compare the U.N.'s most sought-after item—the miniature sheet of 1955—with a Canadian stamp which can be found in most local collections, the 50-cent of 1953 overprinted "G" for government use.

Two years ago the U.N. pane was priced at $40 unused, or $25 used. In the new Scott's 1967 edition it is listed at $140 and $50 respectively.

As for Canada's humble 50-cent variety, it is valued in the latest catalogue at $1.50 mint, and 50 cents used. There are probably over 1,000 used copies to be found in the hands of Victoria's collectors and dealers alone.

So it seems ridiculous on the face of it to compare two stamps which are so vastly different in philatelic status.

But the joke of it is that it can be proved that Canada's modestly priced 50-cent is actually the rarer of the two stamps!

Gibbons gives the number printed as 255,000. Scott quotes 250,000 as the number of U.N. sheets issued.

To start off with then, the Canadian stamp was slightly more plentiful. But as it was issued solely for postal use by government departments there would have been a very large wastage, so it would be surprising if there are 150,000 that have survived to date.

COLLECTORS' COUP

On the other hand the U.N. sheet was purely a philatelic item, sold only to collectors by special request. And those that were used for postage were sent by philatelists to philatelists; for no collector in his senses would use them otherwise.

Therefore practically the entire issue of 250,000 panes must still be in the hands of collectors, dealers or speculators.

I am not, of course, suggesting that the Canadian stamp is really worth as much as the U.N. variety, for popular demand and a certain amount of ballyhoo have put the latter out of reach of the average collector. But the above statistics give food for thought!

You say you see a giant elephant in the diagram above? You're seeing things! Color-by-Number Fun Land is a tricky place, you know. To bring forth the hidden scene, it is necessary to add some colors. These are the color indicators: 1—Yellow. 2—Red. 3—Blue. 4—Orange. 5—Green. 6—Violet. 7—Black. 8—Brown.

When you have finished, you'll discover someone is being taken for a ride. No, not you, silly. Someone in the picture.

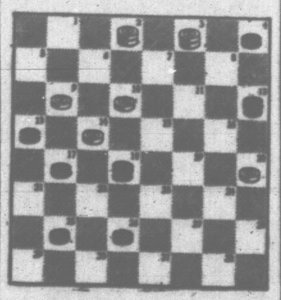
Add colors as neatly as possible, of course, for a pretty picture.

UNCERTAIN NUMBER

A number is composed of four digits whose sum is 20. The sum of the first two digits is the same as that of the last two, which is one-half the sum of all four. What is the number?

Solution: The number is six thousand, four hundred and forty-six.

CHIP-DOWN CHECKER TEST



White checkers, moving up the board, to move first and win in just six moves is the challenge at right. Can you meet it?

It takes some deft White maneuvering to force Black's hand. White's king, presently on square 2, is the man to watch!

Solution: White 20-16, Black 12-19, White 3-8, Black 4-11, White 9-6, Black 16-8, White 2-7, Black 9-2, White 7-16-23-30-21-14, etc.

Liberals Set Sights On Three Byelections

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Voters in three rural constituencies in Eastern Canada go to the polls Monday to elect new members of Parliament.

A Liberal sweep of the three byelections would bring the minority Pearson government closer to its long-sought Commons majority. Opposition gains, on the other hand, would be a blow to the government's prestige.

It is the government's first test at the polls since the general election of last Nov. 8.

The seats at stake are Burin-Burgeo and Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador in Newfoundland and Nicolet-Yamaska in Quebec's Eastern Townships.

The Newfoundland ridings have elected Liberals by heavy majorities since the province joined Confederation in 1949. Nicolet-Yamaska has been held by Progressive Conservatives since 1957.

Campaigning has been minimal in the sprawling, remote Newfoundland ridings, but a hot five-way fight developed in Nicolet-Yamaska, a dairy farming area.

BRING IN BIG GUNS

Liberals dispatched teams of cabinet ministers, senators, MPs and party organizers to the Quebec riding in an all-out bid to wipe out a margin of 5,644 votes piled up by Conservative Clement Vincent in the November general election.

Mr. Vincent resigned his seat last May to run in the Quebec election. Now agriculture minister in the Union Nationale government, he is campaigning hard for the Conservative candidate, along with many Union Nationale supporters.

Long a Liberal seat, Nicolet-Yamaska was captured for the Conservatives in 1957 by the late Paul Comtois, who later became federal mines minister and lieutenant-governor of Quebec. He died in January when fire razed his official residence.

The Liberal candidate, Florian Cote, a 37-year-old farmer active in agricultural organizations, has based his campaign largely on Liberal farm programs and an alleged Conservative split.

10,000 Perish From Starvation

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—More than 10,000 persons starved to death in 35 villages checked between last November and April on the small island of Lombok, figures showed today.

Dr. Arbain Yusuf, provincial health director for the island, said the figures were the result of a detailed study in only 35 of more than 150 villages in the island's famine belt.

Yusuf's report appeared to give new credence to a student claim from the island that more than 29,000 people died in the same period throughout the whole famine belt.

Lombok, with a population of 1,500,000 people, also is seriously hit by disease.

However, only half the island is short of food. The northern part of the island has two crops of rice a year and the people are hoarding it from those starving just a few miles away.

Yusuf already has predicted 100,000 people will be facing starvation by December unless aid comes soon.

By January, he said, 80 per cent of them will be dead unless given help.

Key reason for the starvation of Lombok is the lack of water in the south. The south relies on rain to grow its one crop a year but last winter's rain was light and the crop small. All that food now is nearly gone and there will be no more until next May when the next crop is harvested.

The north, however, gets water from the mountains. But the northerners use it all for their crops and none is turned in to the south.

TWINS CLINGING TO LIFE AFTER 5 HOURS SURGERY

Times News Services

TORONTO — Canadian Siamese twins Sherry Ann and Crystal Ann McGee, clinging desperately to life, were still on the operating table at Toronto's hospital for sick children after five hours of vital surgery today.

The first bulletin on the twins' progress, released this afternoon by hospital administrator John Law said the three-month old babies were both in satisfactory condition.

At that stage of the intricate operation the large medical team, led by Dr. James L. Simpson, had successfully separated the twins' fused livers and was making a start on the crucial heart operation.

The twins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McGee of Guelph, Ont., who were at the hospital an hour before the 9 a.m. operation managed slight smiles of relief as first word came of their daughters' condition.

As the teams of surgeons, heart specialists, anesthetists, after-care specialists and nurses assembled in the hospital's largest operating room, a hospital spokesman said the twins where "as strong as they will ever be" for the operation.

The normally muted hospital corridors were almost silent at tension from the drama that was beginning spread throughout the building.

The twins were born June 2.

Months of study, testing and practice preceded the operation, but there was much that could be learned only as the work went on.

Blood and other body tests had revealed some details of the twins' vital organs, but could only suggest the extent of the neurological integrations of the two bodies.

China Power Battle Aimed at Mao Ouster

CBC Faces Strike Threat

TORONTO (CP) — Cameramen and other technicians may vote early next week to strike against the CBC and disrupt television broadcasting.

Spokesmen for the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians said Friday night their 1,785 members likely would reject the majority wage recommendation of a conciliation board.

The walkout could hit CBC production centres across the country as early as next Friday—seven days after release of the report.

The board proposed three wage increases of 7½ per cent with the first retroactive to Jan. 1 and the last coming Oct. 1, 1967. The union nominee to the board filed a separate report urging a three-part wage increase totalling 28⅓ per cent over two years.

A CBC spokesman said the corporation had accepted the board's proposal.

The corporation is negotiating with four other unions: the Canadian Wire Service Guild, representing newsmen; International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees; Association of Radio and Television Employees of Canada, representing announcers and clerical workers; and the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists.

All four unions say they will not cross NABET picket lines if a strike is called.

CANADA VISIT BY LBJ SEEN

WASHINGTON (CP)—There are strong suspicions here that President Johnson may make his first formal visit to Canada next year, the country's 100th birthday.

The probable attraction, it is assumed, will be Expo 67 at Montreal where the United States will have a $9,000,000 pavilion.

His two visits to Canada—to British Columbia in 1964 and Campobello Island in New Brunswick last August—were for hours only.

SEEKING to encourage more Japanese immigration to Canada Immigration Minister Jean Marchand arrived in Tokyo today for an official four-day visit. On Monday he will meet Japanese Foreign Minister Shiina.

VENERABLE BUDDHIST WOULD HALT REVOLT

THICH
. . . church weakened

SAIGON (Reuters) — Influential Buddhist monk Thich (venerable) Tham Chau today called for a temporary suspension of the Buddhist campaign against the South Vietnamese government.

Tam Chau said in an interview that the struggle against the Saigon regime should be halted until national Buddhist conference could be called to discuss the unified church's relations with the country's rulers.

Tam Chau said the failure of the Buddhist anti-government campaign this spring had weakened the church and he hoped "there will be a reconciliation between the government and the Buddhist church."

Kenya Worried By Arms Buildup

LONDON (AP)—Vice-President Joseph Murumbi of Kenya says a Soviet arms buildup in northeast Africa threatens a stranglehold on the Suez Canal.

In an interview Friday after the close of the Commonwealth conference, Murumbi said the Russians have recently shipped a large supply of arms into Somalia, the desert republic on Kenya's northern frontier.

"These supplies are far in excess of Somalia's internal needs," he asserted. "It is obvious they are going to use them."

"The real danger," he said, "is that the Russians will establish themselves in the horn of Africa and thus win control of the Aden straits and the canal and place the oil interests of the west in the Arabian gulf in danger."

MiG DOWNED BY MISSILE NEAR HANOI

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots downed a Communist MiG in one of two dogfights over North Viet Nam Friday, but two American planes were lost in other action over the north, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

The Soviet-built MiG was knocked out of the sky by a heat-seeking Sidewinder missle in an engagement northeast of Hanoi in which three Americans were outnumbered by four MIG-17s. The pilot of the crippled MiG bailed out.

An air force spokesman said the two downed American planes brought to 375 the number lost over North Viet Nam.

Party Purge Continuing

HONG KONG (UPI)—Powerful "enemies" within the Chinese Communist Party are plotting the overthrow of Mao Tse-Tung, the official magazine of the central committee said today.

It indicated Red China was in the throes of a titanic power struggle with Mao's purge of his opponents far from over.

MAO
. . . powerful 'enemies'

The authoritative publication Red Flag repeatedly defined the "enemies" of Mao and his apparent heir, Defence Marshal Lin Piao, as "including party-holders in the highest posts."

They were not named, however.

Observers here said logically this would be the clearest indication yet that President Lin Shao-Chi and those closest to him are leaders in the struggle for power being waged in mainland China.

Lin was regarded for years as Mao's heir-apparent and his recent downgrading in favor of Lin Piao appeared to support this thesis.

The editorial was pub;ished in Peking newspapers and relayed by Radio Peking in domestic broadcasts monitored in Hong Kong.

Observers here said the editorial indicated that the youthful Red Guard movement had failed to intimidate elements within the party which had voiced opposition to some of Mao's policies.

(Soviet newspapers today carried denunciations of Mao and his "cultural revolution" by the British, Spanish, Czech and Bulgarian Communist parties. The British charged the campaign was aimed at the "deification" of Mao and wiping out opposition to his "fanatical, anti-Soviet" policy.)

HIGHEST LEVEL

The editorial in effect was an admission by Mao and Lin Piao that they still faced powerful and dangerous opposition.

Observers said it also made clearer than ever that the power struggle began at the highest party levels and obviously goes down to the rice roots.

Fishermen Mutiny

TOKYO (AP) — Four crew members of a North Korean fishing boat mutinied in the Yellow Sea, killed seven military guards on their craft and sailed into Japan seeking political asylum, the Japanese Maritime Safety Agency reported today.

YOUNGEST CONG PRISONER

Boy, 14, Booby-Trap Expert

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP)—The faces of the prisoners were mirrors of the war in Viet Nam, reflecting innocence, apathy, defiance and fear.

They had been captured by U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops driving through The Horseshoe, a Viet Cong stronghold pocked with caves 15 miles south of Da Nang near the seacoast.

The youngest prisoner was 14. His ankles were strapped together, the straps tied to a tent pole.

He stared, wide-eyed and curious, as marines of Charlie Company, 1st Battalion of the 1st Marines went about their work.

"He looks like a schoolboy who got caught playing hookey," a marine said.

The boy had attended school—a Viet Cong demolition school where guerrillas taught him how to make bombs with TNT, how to plant mines, and set up elaborate booby traps.

He was seized by Vietnamese soldiers as he lay submerged in a pond breathing through a reed. At first he denied working with the guerrillas. Then he agreed to lead marines to a cave where he said the Viet Cong had tortured their captives.

LED INTO TRAP

Instead of taking marines to a cave, however, he led them into a mine field he had laid. One marine was wounded when a mine exploded. After more questioning, the boy told of his schooling in explosives and showed the marines where he had placed a dozen mines and booby traps.

Nearby, a 20-year-old prisoner in black shirt and shorts squatted under a tent, his arms bound behind him, and glared at passersby. He accepted a cup of water but refused a cigarette.

Once his lower lip curled as if he might cry but he shook his head and thrust out his chin.

Vietnamese troops had taken him on a leash, back into the area where he had been captured, to see if he would point out any guerrilla caves or mines. He did not co-operate.

A third prisoner, a 45-year-old man, peered at his feet. His information, marines said, had led to the capture of the 20-year-old youth. Yet, the man was believed to have been the Viet Cong security chief in Ha Gia hamlet.

Now, his hands tied and his back turned to the two young prisoners, he inhaled on a cigarette put into his mouth, and rubbed a bare toe against another, appearing as contented as if he just had his morning tea.

Fight for Open Sundays to Be Resumed Soon

At least four municipalities will press for relaxation of rules governing paid entertainment on Sundays.

The fight will re-open when the Union of British Columbia Municipalities meets in Penticton Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Prince George, Surrey, North Kamloops will band together in an attempt to persaude other member municipalities to support their bid for Sunday sports and other forms of entertainment.

★

All three resolutions call for basically the same things: Sunday movies, concerts and sporting events after 1:30 p.m.

Saanich council approved this week a resolution which would empower councils in B.C. to permit fees to be charged for sporting events and other entertainments on Sunday afternoons.

Reeve Hugh Curtis said he supports the resolution going to the convention.

North Kamloops notes that the provincial government recently passed an amendment to the Vancouver charter permitting the mainland city to stage professional sports events, theatrical events and movies on Sundays.

Municipal associations in North Central B.C., the Lower Mainland and the Okanagan Valley have already endorsed the perennial resolution.

In the past the government has chosen to ignore the plea of the municipalties for equal rights with Vancouver.

Another ancient resolution expected to win endorsation from the convention concerns the opening of liquor stores and bars on election days.

Fernie and Lillooet are the standard bearers this time. Their resolutions call for an abandoning of the old law which forbids the sale of liquor during the hours of polls for civic, provincial and federal elections.

Burnaby is asking for a complete cost study by the UBCM executive to ascertain the cost of placing electric power distribution systems underground.

"The distribution of such power has never grown out of the pioneering stage," the preamble to the resolution states. "Unsightly overhead wires present an arrangement that clutters our municipalities with an ugly web of wires and lines our streets with a forest of denuded fir trees."

Alert Bay and Nelson are both calling on the provincial government to take a more active part in pollution control.

The northern Vancouver Island community is asking for a ban on all logging within 200 feet of all public lakes and streams.

★

The Nelson resolution calling on the provincial and federal governments to establish to prepare acts to look into all existing or porposed means for the disposal of sewage, air contaminants or other waste materials, is expected to win wide support from other delegates.

All of these resolutions will be secondary however to the previously announced major request to the province for the government to assume a larger share of the costs of municipal services, such as welfare, hospitals and education. Ten resolutions cover this field.

People don't grow old on sunny Saltspring, they just ripen, like the apples on their orchard boughs. Among these pippins is a pioneer lady by the name of Mrs. Anna Thompson, who started married life on Saltspring 63 years ago with a gleaming Majestic stove to help her.

Mrs. Thompson's wood-and-coal range is still bright as stove-blacking and nickel polish can keep it, even though a small forest of cedar kindling, a hillside of fir and countless cords of split alder have snapped, crackled and glowed in its roomy firebox.

It was made to last, that old Majestic; today it's good as the day the young bride cooked her first wedded meal on it.

"They can keep their modern stoves," she used to tell her friends at Vesuvius Bay. "When I lift a lid and see these flames dancing, it's like having a friend in the house."

But time does bring eventual change. Anna Thompson recently decided to accept a sister's offer and go live with her. That meant selling her house, and the staunch Majestic in its kitchen.

So sell it she did . . . for $25 to a swinging young couple who spurn gas, scorn electricity, and hope to keep the old fashioned stove in their kitchen for all of 63 years.

Yesterday morning I was loafing along Douglas when a couple of sign company men set up two ladders, hoisted a scaffold, and got to work. Between building wall and ladders was a generous passageway; between ladder feet and truck at the curb was a narrow dogtrot.

Along came two of the long-stemmed girls we raise these days, chattering like monkies. Gracefully, they pivoted away from the ladders and passed on the narrow strip.

A middle-aged man showed next, head down and in a hurry. He strode under one ladder, halted, crossed his fingers, and step by cautious step, backed into the clear. Then he too took the narrow route past.

A couple of boys followed the same course. A well-dressed business type skirted the first ladder, and taking care not to get under, edged into the building.

About this time, one of the pair on the scaffold came down for more gear. His name is Kirby Moorhouse, he lives at 327 West Gorge Road, and walking under ladders is all in his day's work.

"Most people go around," he told me, "and once in a long while, somebody manages to walk right into a ladder. That's our bad luck . . . things slide around on the scaffold, and we have to make a quick grab."

Final score: 17 past and two under, these last an elderly man and a determined husfrau with a scarf over her curlers.

Me? I went around, but not from superstition, you understand. I just scared something might fall on my head!

Even though they've blasted the pinnacles off Ripple Rock, Seymour Narrows with its boils, whirls and turbulent rips is still a killer.

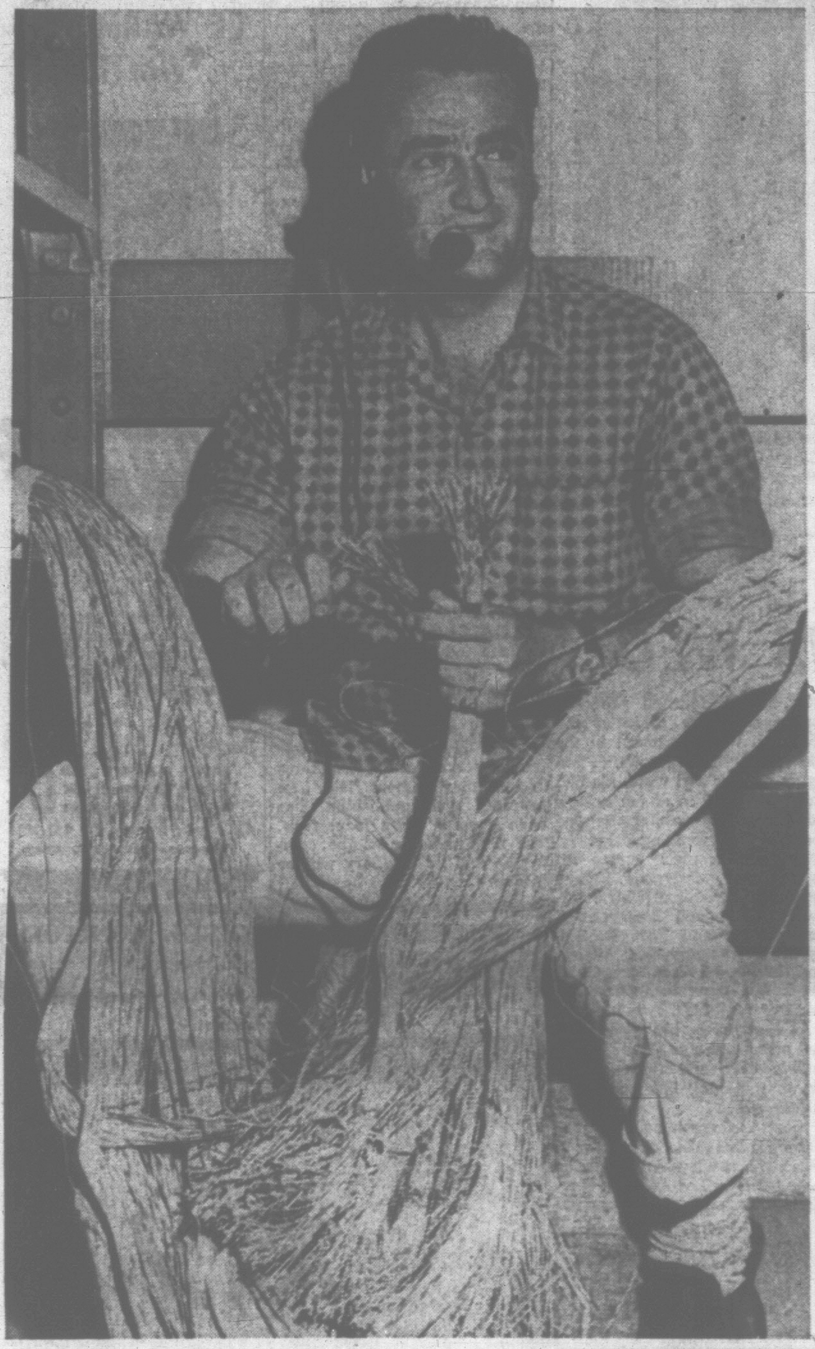
It claimed one victim this week, and as long as the coast's best-known tidal rapid continues to bait its trap with good salmon fishing, there will be others.

Every fisherman, I suppose, sooner or later makes his own decision as to how much risk is justified for the sake of good port. This of necessity, is a personal thing.

For myself, I don't think even the king of the salmon is worth a venture into waters where the slightest error in timing or quirk of tide can mean disaster.

With professional outdoorsman — commercial fisherman, logger, forster — occupational risk must be taken in stride. Most of these men regard the Seymours with the respect the pass deserves. They wait till the odds are all in their favor, then run through and clear with no loitering along the way.

That's it: and I'm off now, with packing to do, and three holiday weeks in prospect. May the sun shine bright for all of us!



DECISIONS, DECISIONS, decisions —life is just a big bowl of spaghetti for B.C. Telephone cable splicer Fred Ziegler. And if he doesn't join the right 5,400 wires you might phone the church and get the beer parlor. A demonstration of splicing is one of many wonders to be displayed at Telephone Fair next Saturday at 10 a.m. at BCT station on Quadra at McKenzie. TV telephones and space communications also will form part of the show. Bring the family — no charge.

WAGE-HOURS TALKS SET UP

Ferrymen Propose Terms

New proposals covering wages and working conditions will be taken to the management of B.C. Ferries in "the very near future," a spokesman for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild said today.

He also said one of the major items for discussion between management and the 250 deck officers and engineers will be shift schedules for 1967.

The move follows approval by what was described as "a comfortable margin" of a new arrangement between the officers and engineers and management.

GUILD ON DECK

Under this, the Canadian Merchant Service Guild will be able to have its officials sit in on discussions between both sides.

The arrangement falls short of the previous objective of the guild — collective bargaining and signed agreement. The officers had threatened to quit unless they gained normal bargaining rights.

Ferry workers, both licensed and unlicensed, are governed by the Civil Service Act and are not entitled to the collective bargaining rights spelled out in the Labour Relations Act.

Former C.O. Of '29th' Dies at 87

Lieut.-Col. William Smith Latta, commanding officer of the Canadian Army's 29th Battalion during the First World War, died in a nursing home Friday at the age of 87.

He won the DSO and two bars for his war service and was later chairman of the Land Settlement Board in Victoria.

His son, Pilot Officer John Blandford Latta, won the Distinguished Service Cross while serving with the Royal Air Force during and after the Battle of Britain.

The following year he was reported missing and presumed dead.

Born in Ayrshire, Scotland, Col. Latta came to Canada in 1895 and lived in Vancouver for many years before the First World War. He settled in Victoria with Mrs. Latta in 1919 and was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion and the Horticultural Society.

Surviving are the widow, Bertha; a son, William, of Chemainus; and two brothers, Jack of Vancouver, and Harry in New Zealand.

Archdeacon A. E. Hendy conducted funeral services in Hayward's Chapel this afternoon. Cremation followed.

Health Board Flop Won't Hurt Schools

Capital District Takeover Proposed

By JIM HUME
City Hall Reporter

There is no danger of school children in the Greater Victoria area losing public health services when Victoria pulls out of the Metropolitan Health Board in December.

Ald. Lily Wilson, Victoria's representative on the health board, termed as "nonsense" charges that when Victoria, Esquimalt and Oak Bay pull out of the metro organization in December 29,680 school children could be without health services.

"They certainly will not," she said. "Vcitoria, Esquimalt and Oak Bay looked after their children before the metro board came into being and I am quite sure they are capable of doing it again."

Fears for school health services following disolution of the metro board were expressed Friday by shool board trustee Mrs. Frances Thompson.

SERIOUS TROUBLE?

She said she was "terribly worried" about the future and felt that the Greater Victoria area would "be in serious trouble if the health board is allowed to break up."

Ald. Wilson thought the remarks unduly alarming.

"There is no danger of our children being deprived of vital services," she said. "We are talking about withdrawing from the present board organization not of abandoning health services."

Ald. Wilson also criticized Mrs. Thompson's rebuke to Victoria council for refusing to endorse a health board resolution to be presented to the Associated Boards of Health Tuesday in Penticton.

FUSS USELESS

Mrs. Thompson said the city is kicking up unnecessary fuss about a motion which only asks for a study of the Health Act, regional control of health and the power and position of the health boards in various communities.

"We are against the resolution because it calls for a study we feel health boards should not be making," Ald. Wilson said. "It's as simple as that. We feel that any such studies should be made at the municipal level or on the instructions of municipal councils.

"We just don't think the health board has any right or authority to be involving itself in matters of policy."

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich also thought talk of a collapse of health services for children unduly pessimistic.

'TOUGH TIME'

"I don't think there will be any serious breakdown of services," he said. "It's the policy-making board that is having a tough time.

"The three municipalities are talking about re-forming the board or replacing it with another organization. They are not talking about pulling out of the health service field."

Asked if he thought the Regional District of the Capital of B.C. would be a good vehicle for administering health services Reeve Curtis said:

"Without doubt.

"It would be the ideal vehicle for providing overall health services for a wide area. There would be problems to work out, of course, but none of them insurmountable."

PROVINCE APPROVES

Though provincial government officials are steering clear of the present hassle between the municipalities and the health board administration it is known they tacitly approve the threatened pull-out by the three municipalities.

It is also known they hope Victoria, Esquimalt and Oak Bay do not waver in their stand and that eventually the regional district will provide the area with strong administration.

Earlier this week Victoria expressed its intention of sticking by its notice to quit the metro organization.

The city's health committee appointed Mayor A. W. Toone to act as a liaison man between the city and the Victoria Medical Society.

The move was regarded by city hall officials as the first step to setting up an independent health board in the city if such a step becomes essential.

In the past city hall officials and elected council members have expressed the hope the province will intervene in the dispute and extend the letters patent of the regional district to permit it to take over health services administration.

Mayor Toone agreed with Reeve Curtis that the district board could provide the answer to health services administration.

Expo Girls Being Chosen

Calling hopeful hostesses.

Local girls who have applied for a hostess's position at the Montreal World's Fair, will be interviewed in Victoria Monday.

Applicants will be screened by a panel from Expo, including chief hostess, Mrs. Monique Archambault. The panel has the job of choosing 200 hostesses from among the 2,000 who have applied from across Canada.

The interviews will take place in the Empress Hotel.

The hostess with the mostest must meet the following requirements: age 20 to 35; a Canadian citizen; bilingual in French and English; preferably single with a minimum high school education.

300 Contractors to Vote On Ending Work Stoppage

By ROGER STONEBANKS
Labor Reporter

Three hundred contractors in B.C. will vote by secret ballot next week on a proposed settlement formula for the 45-day work stoppage.

But statements from the Construction Industry Joint Negotiating Committee and the Amalgamated Construction Association of B.C. left little doubt the formula will be rejected.

The government-appointed industrial inquiry commissioner, Vancouver lawyer W. E. Philpott, recommended Friday the 300 companies sign the same agreement as 200 independent contractors.

The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, which struck several companies Aug. 1 triggering the retaliatory lock-out, immediately accepted the recommendations and suggested contractors do the same.

The chief bargainer for the companies, R. K. Gervin, called the commissioner's recommendations "a complete sellout to the carpenters" and doubted th companies will accept them.

The Amalgamated Construction Association of B.C. announced it "does not recommend acceptance of this report."

Said Mr. Gervin:

"The commissioner has recommended acceptance of the union's proposal with not one change, not one crumb to the employers, not one consideration for the contractors right to manage their businesses.

"The commissioner asks us to sign an agreement which has many clauses in it which contravene the labor act."

ILLEGAL CLAUSES?

In accusing Mr. Philpott of recommending clauses in a new contract which would be illegal, Mr. Gervin said pointedly at one stage "the commissioner, who is a lawyer . . ."

The allegedly illegal clauses include:

- ● A clause requiring contractors to agree to not accept materials which the union labels "hot" because of another labor dispute;
- ● A clause putting contractors in the position of awarding to carpenters work contractors have already agreed, by contract, to give to other trades;
- ● A clause requiring contractors to condone a work stoppage where the union decides carpenters won't work with other tradesmen who don't belong to the Building Trades Council.

Mr. Gervin also said many of the 200 independent contractors who have signed the new agreement are "one-shot operators, promoters or real estate developers. Others are simply one and two-man operations which have formed a company and signed an agreement with the union."

In his report, Mr. Philpott said he was unable to bring about a settlement between the two sides. He described them as "still poles apart. They refuse to meet together."

He said his recommendations must begin from a fixed position because the union is in a fixed position since it is committed to two-year agreements with 200 contractors.

"Whether or not some of the employers claim this agreement to be a poor one, nevertheless the fact remains there are many contractors who have accepted it," he said.

'Stop Savage Action'

GRENADA, Miss. (AP) — A federal judge has made permanent his order that Grenada officials protect Negro children from "savage and senseless" attack by white men.

Judge Claude Clayton, issued his order Friday night in Oxford, 45 miles to the north. He said the violence Monday and Tuesday was "the shame of all who occupy leadership, both officials and civic, in the county and the city of Grenada."

He referred to attacks on Negro children outside newly desegregated schools by white men swinging axe handles and chains.

The ruling came after two days of testimony on the violence. In many instances, police merely watched the attacks, witnesses said.

Grenada officials would be exposed to contempt of court action by failure to obey the injunction. The possible consequences were emphasized when Judge Clayton sentenced Grenada Constable Grady Carroll to four months in prison for contempt.

Carroll had refused to accept a federal court subpoena and punched a lawyer who tried to serve it on him.

Meanwhile, civil rights leaders have scheduled four daytime protest marches in this north Mississippi city of 8,000.

Hosea Williams, a top lieutenant to Dr. Martin Luther King in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the drive now centres on adequate housing, a "living wage," and equal justice.

4 to 1 Odds Against Viet Cong

SAIGON (Reuters)—The Combined forces of five allied nations in South Viet Nam now total more than 1,000,000 men, and the buildup continued this week with the arrival of troops from the fifth foreign country, The Philippines.

An unofficial compilation of the latest figures issued by the military command here today gave the following breakdown:

United States: 308,000 men.

South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and The Philippines: 41,000.

Regular South Vietnamese armed forces: 317,000.

South Vietnamese paramilitary "regional force" and "popular force" militia: 280,000.

American-led "special forces" troops (mostly Montagnard hill tribesmen): 31,000.

National police: 55,000.

These figures, which do not include 57,000 armed South Vietnamese rural pacification workers and 70,000 men of the U.S. 7th Fleet, total 1,032,000.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces in the country are estimated at 282,000.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN INDIAN ACT URGED

VANCOUVER (CP)—Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing will be asked to consider sweeping changes in the federal Indian Act giving tribal councils more power over administration of funds and property.

Delegates to a two-day meeting of the regional Indian Advisory Council approved resolutions urging changes in the Indian Act. The delegates, elected by tribal councils and bands, represent more than 45,000 Indians throughout B.C. and the Yukon.

"We're not at liberty to say specifically what the charges are that we are recommending, but they are quite substantial," a spokesman for the advisory council said.

The spokesman said the charges deal primarily with property administration and funds, but also touch on such subjects as federal aid to Indian housing, health and welfare and community development.

RUSK WILL TALK WITH GROMYKO

New Attempt by U.S. To Contain N-Arms

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk plans a new effort in New York next week to persuade Russia to conclude a treaty against spreading nuclear weapons—without linking that issue to West Germany's role in the Atlantic Alliance.

"If the Soviet Union and others want to talk about the problem of proliferation," Rusk told a press conference Friday, "they will find that the United States is willing to go all the way to ensure that there is no proliferation of nuclear weapons."

Rusk is scheduled to go to New York this weekend for conferences with other foreign ministers on hand for the opening of the United Nations General Assembly Tuesday.

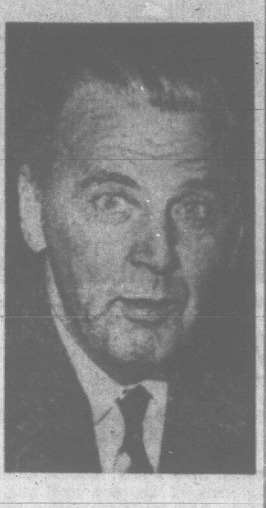
One of those he is known to be most interested in meeting is Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko. Officials say the nuclear weapons issue and other disarmament questions will be high on the agenda of any Rusk-Gromyko meeting, along with the question of peace possibilities in Viet Nam.

The United States and its NATO allies have discussed setting up an allied nuclear weapons system which would include Germany, but various plans have been shelved.

A reporter asked Rusk whether chancellor Ludwig Erhard might be told by President Johnson that Germany is not "to get a finger on the trigger" of nuclear weapons under NATO.

The secretary replied that the United States has never discussed in NATO or elsewhere "any arrangement that would involve . . . the transfer of nuclear weapons into the hands of non-nuclear powers or the transfer of control of those weapons into the hands of non-nuclear powers."

In past negotiations the Soviet Union has consistently linked the treaty proposal and the German - NATO question, contending that the United States intends to provide West Germany with nuclear weapons.



BID for presidency of Quebec Liberal Federation, at its annual convention in Montreal Nov. 18, will be made by Eric Kierans, former Quebec health minister. Others seeking post will include Marc Briers and Philippe Casgrain, both Montreal lawyers.

Viet Peace Efforts By Asians Welcomed

WASHINGTON (CP - AP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk says the United States welcomes efforts of Asian leaders to arrange Viet Nam peace talks.

Rusk was asked at a press conference Friday about a call by visiting Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos for "a continuing dialogue between North and South Viet Nam and step by step movement toward negotiated peace."

The secretary replied, "We, of course, would welcome any contacts that would elicit from Hanoi a readiness to talk about a peaceful settlement in Southeast Asia."

"It is not my impression that the government of The Philippines has found thus far a response from Hanoi. But this is one of the possibilities that ought to be kept open. All possibilities ought to be kept open."

Marcos, appearing before the National Press Club in Washington, said a negotiated peace is the only logical solution to the Viet Nam struggle.

ANNIHILATION POSSIBLE

"Victory is the ultimate aim, yes," he said, "but we must remember that there would be total annihilation of the world if there is continued escalation of the war."

Marcos also said he is gravely concerned over the apparent failure of economic reforms in South Viet Nam.

At his press conference, Rusk described Communist China as "a major obstacle to settlement" of the war.

West Germany Rejuvenates Armed Forces

BONN (Reuters)—West Germany Friday swept aside 14 of its older military leaders to make way for new blood.

A defence ministry statement said 14 senior officers in all branches of the armed forces have reached retirement age and will be replaced by younger men.

Observers said it was the biggest move made by West Germany yet toward rejuvenating the leadership of the 436,000-man Bundeswehr and a comprehensive step towards replacing the blood-and-iron tradition of the military's past with the youth and brains of the younger generation.

Six army generals, four air force generals, two admirals and two medical corps officers would have reached retirement age of between 56 and 60 by the end of this month, the ministry said.

Among them are Maj.-Gen. Hermann Aldinger, squadron general at the Luftwaffe office, Lt.-Gen. Wilhelm Meyer-Detring, commanding general of the 1st Army Corps, and Vice-Admiral Heinrich Gerlach, commander of the fleet.

At the height of the recent defence crisis—in which three top generals resigned — Defence Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel promised to inject fresh blood into the Bundeswehr.

The defence ministry is aiming to project a "civilian in uniform" image for the armed forces.

Martin To Open New Clinic

Health Minister Eric Martin on Monday will open the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society's new treatment clinic in the Gorge Road Rehabilitation Hospital.

The ribbon-cutting is scheduled for 8 p.m.

During the opening ceremony Douglas Rotary Club president George Steele will present a check for $10,000 to CARS on behalf of the club.

The CARS Clinic last year provided 3,269 treatments in the clinic, in patients' homes and in private hospitals.

CARRIERS BOYCOTT ONTARIO NEWSPAPER

WELLAND (CP)—About 40 newspaper delivery boys are boycotting the offices of the Tribune in a bid for increased wages and better working conditions.

Carrier Robert Ott, 13, said Friday the boys are seeking an increase of two cents a customer over their present five-cent level—the Tribune is 10 cents daily or 50 cents weekly—and also want the newspaper to provide free canvas bags, now sold for $1 each.

He said the boys also want permission to wait inside the Tribune office while awaiting papers in cold weather.

Commonwealth Weathers Test, Says PM on Return

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson returned from London Friday night, satisfied that the Commonwealth had weathered one of its toughest tests ever.

There were times when it appeared as though "the conference, if not the Commonwealth, was going to break up" over the thorny question of what to do about Rhodesia, Mr. Pearson told an airport news conference.

But the representatives of the 26 countries were able to work out an arrangement "which minimizes the difficulties and maximizes the areas of agreement."

ASKED ABOUT REPORT

He was asked whether he had yet received a copy of the report of Mr. Justice Wishart Spence on the Gerda Munsinger affair.

"No, I have not."

In an obvious reference to reports that the findings of Justice Spence's investigations into the relationship of the German blonde with former Conservative cabinet ministers had been forwarded to him in London, he added:

"I hope sometime someone will believe me."

He also was asked about the announcement in the Commons shortly after he left Ottawa that the medical care insurance program's effective date would be set back a year, to July 1, 1968.

The reporter who asked about this said that among some Liberals postponement of a plan that was a major party election plank was sparking insurrection.

"That's your word," Mr. Parson said in reply. He added that he knew about Finance Minister Sharp's speech postponing medical care before he left for London and had approved it.

He was questioned about another move by Mr. Sharp, asking the Steel Company of Canada to reconsider its recently announced hike in steel prices.

Mr. Pearson said because of the rapid developments, he was not informed about this step until Mr. Sharp had taken it. But he was very much in favor.

Then he spoke for several minutes about the achievements of the London conference, where he was given a major share of the credit for keeping the split over what to do about the white supremacist Ian Smith regime in Rhodesia from growing into an unbridgeable chasm.

The conference was "the most difficult, complex and the most rugged I have ever attended."

TIPS FOR HOME GARDENS

Is Your Greenhouse Comfortable Enough to Sleep In?

By JACK BEASTALL

Jack

One sees so many neglected small greenhouses the only conclusion to be reached is that the owners have not understood the basic principles of management and have, therefore, given up in disgust.

There are several conditions which contribute to failure, and the first of these is considering the glass structure as a house — using the word "house" in the sense of the home in which we live.

In the home we find a reasonably high temperature, a low ratio of moisture in the air and a complete absence of draughts, to be most conducive to our comfort and we tend to duplicate these conditions in the separate house we have for our plants.

Our main error here is in overlooking the fact that plants normally grow outdoors fully exposed to the air, the sun, the rain and temperatures which can vary over as much as 40 to 50 degrees in any 24-hour period.

Our reasons for growing the plants indoors are threefold: (1) To give them protection from the elements so as to have them in flower or fruit at a time when outdoor conditions are quite unsuited to these functions; (2) to give a little protection to plants which normally exist in a climate that is milder than ours; (3) to grow plants from parts of the world where the seasons are the opposite to ours.

Although we create an artificial atmosphere to reach these goals, we must still consider the plants as outdoor subjects, which means they are not going to thrive in a closed-up, hot, dry, glass box.

All of which means that beginners with a greenhouse fail to duplicate the outdoor conditions to which the plants have been accustomed.

The biggest error we make is in having too little ventilation. It is very difficult for the novice to compromise heat with fresh air. Even in winter when the greenhouse heater is in operation to maintain a suitable temperature, the structure must still be ventilated to maintain a circulation of fresh air.

This seems like a total waste of heat until we have had enough experience to understand that the artificial heat we are supplying is doing much more than just raise the temperature.

When you go into a greenhouse on a winter's day, the air should have the pleasant feel and buoyancy of a spring or fall day outdoors — if it has not, then the plants will suffer.

CERTAIN PLANTS

Reading in books that certain plants must have a 65-degree temperature at night and 75 to 80 degrees during the day causes most of the troubles the beginner runs into.

These temperatures are based on commercial practices where a crop has to be readied for the market to meet a specific target date, and where the plants, because of the high cost of producing them under glass, are to remain in the greenhouse for an absolute minimum of time.

Cost of production and marketing dates have no interest whatever for the amateur. The plants are grown for fun and pleasure of growing them, therefore the specified temperatures do not apply in our case.

The same plants will do quite well, and be subject to less pests and diseases, if grown at an average temperature of 50 degrees F., that is, 40 to 45 degrees at night and 60 to 65 during the day with sunshine.

DULL PERIODS

During dull periods, the temperature should always be lower than during clear, sunny periods, because growth decreases when sunshine is lacking.

And regardless of sun or cloud, a free circulation of air is essential even if a little more heat has to be used on a cold winter day to keep up the needed minimum temperature.

In the occasional periods of low winter outdoor temperatures we experience here on the West Coast, the greenhouse temperature can fall to 34 degrees overnight without any harm to the plants providing they have never been subjected to excessive heat or lack of air.

Once the beginner realizes the conditions best suited to growing plants under the shelter of glass, it is possible to ignore the thermometer and sense, or feel, whether conditions are right or not.

If, when you enter the greenhouse, you have the feeling you would like to stay there all day or all night, because the atmosphere seems perfect, you can be sure your plants are enjoying those conditions.

WEEK'S WORK

By JACK BEASTALL

Tuberous begonias outdoors in planters and beds will last in beauty until sharp frost if less water is given from now on. Dampness on and around leaves should be kept to a minimum now that night temperatures are lower.

Prepare beds and borders for planting spring bulbs — narcissus, tulip, hyacinth.

Now while soil is warm is a good time for planting delphiniums, lupins and nearly all herbaceous perennials.

Schizostylis, the Kaffir-lily, needs water and a little feeding, now coming into bloom in the garden.

Any annuals which begin to look untidy can be pulled up and put on compost heap. Prepare spaces either for bulb planting or permanent plants.

Strawberry runner plants can be moved now into well prepared new bed. They may need attention after frost during winter to see that roots are well covered with soil.

Prune loganberry vines after fruit is picked. Cut out all canes which bore fruit by removing down to soil level. Train in required number of new canes, removing the surplus.

BRIGHT yellow trumpet daffodils are favored by many planning ahead to Canadian Centennial Year garden display.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q. This spring I bought some plants called Bellflowers, but they look something like snapdragons to me. How could they have mixed them up like this? My neighbor says they are snaps but I never saw any quite like these.

A. Your plants were not mixed up. From your information, I would judge that you have the new snapdragons which came out this spring under the name of Bellflower snapdragons, and also under the name of Bright Butterflies. These snaps have open faces instead of the familiar snapping jaws.

* * *

Q. All the shrubs in front of my house are getting brown leaves. As the camellias and azaleas cost me around five dollars each this spring, I want to know if this is caused by my neighbor using weed spray on his lawn. What do you think? Sign me Wondering, Victoria.

A. With the scanty information you have given, I would hesitate to say that the trouble is from spray. First, test the soil in between the shrubs. If these are planted against the house, it is likely you will find the soil quite dry beneath the surface. Take a shovel and bring up a shovel full from three different spots.

While you may not save all the plants, you have a chance to save some if you begin to soak the soil well by setting a small revolving sprinkler in the area and letting it remain on very low pressure for several hours. At any rate, if the soil is dry, you will know your neighbor is not to blame.

* * *

Q. When do I sow godetia seed? T.S.C., Victoria.

A. Godetia is a hardy annual which may be sown now in prepared ground, and will be well advanced by spring for early flowering next summer.

* * *

Q. How far back to I cut lavender bushes? Mrs. O.B., Oak Bay.

A. Lavender bushes should be cut back about two inches in mid-August when the flower stems are cut for drying. I would now wait until early April before cutting back this amount.

* * *

Q. Where can I get advice on the best kind of greenhouse to put on my lot? G.S., Saanich.

A. The advice you need hinges on the type of plants you wish to grow. If you can give us more information we could suggest the structure best suited to your needs.

Analyst's Comments

By HAL MALONE

FIRST RACE—Donna doesn't seem to like any part of mud but on a firm track she could be the one they'll have to beat. Spuddy drew the post for his early speed. Bo Jester takes a while to get going; if Finley can rouse him in time he could be a factor. Night Rambler could show late if he gets in. But we see it . . . DONANA (Night Rambler, Bo Jester).

SECOND RACE—Except for one question, Ana Cha Tay looks good enough to repeat her mud win here. The question: will anything run with her out of the gate? Lees Time has the speed but sometimes forgets to make the turns. Murrayville, if he gets in, has shown quickness against slightly better. Arigato seems to be coming up to a good one and Casey's Dream gets closer but they both would benefit from an early speed duel . . . ANA CHA TAY (Arigato, Casey's Dream).

THIRD RACE—Most of these like to go to the front but not all have the stamina to stick it out. Feldspar, Miss Onslaught, Sans Brazil, Katsie Chief and Slippin In will probably be tooth-and-jaw out of the gate and the one in the best position when they go into the first turn could lead them a merry chase. If they knock one another off the race could be set up for Kimbrook who hasn't charged strongly enough to win. But he's dropping down and his class may carry him home . . . KIMBROOK (Miss Onslaught).

FOURTH RACE—Ordinarily a speed horse breaking from the outside isn't our dish, especially on a track with tight turns. But unless something comes alive Malheur Kitten could be winging alone. Whaang Leather showed zip last year and Dark Ginger does not come out of the gate with ankles tied together. Son of Donn could scare people if he has a late rally left and Glad Roman comes from left field, but usually too late . . . MALHEUR KITTEN (Son of Donn).

FIFTH RACE — Sid-A-Way switches to Trejos today and if Rogelio can pick his way through the traffic that could be it. Jet Copter, Dark Doll and Miracle Cross are usually somewhere close but like most of these they don't have impressive kicks. Evidently throws a good one now and then and the same goes for Mr. True Blue . . . SID-A-WAY (Miracle Cross).

SIXTH RACE—It will be interesting to see what they do with Some Standard. They took the mare off the pace last out and she closed for third. That strategy would seem to suit her better from the outside. The main speed could be Western Monarch, but he has to overcome the post. Souzem shakes them if he's at his best and Farjean comes off a win but the others aren't gems of consistency . . . SOME STANDARD (Western Monarch, Souzem).

SEVENTH RACE—All Danger was so impressive in his last—he was on the extreme outside while driving—that he has to be feared most here. Bonus Ghost, Mystic Flash and Shezadorin assure crisp fractions. The handicapper obviously thinks The Mouse has some tiger blood in him — why else 123 pounds? These are a little tougher than All Danger beat but if Cormack can save ground and do some broken-field running that may be good enough . . . ALL DANGER (Mystic Flash, The Mouse.)

EIGHTH RACE—If it stays fast—she seems to skate when it even gets cloudy overhead—Never Last may prove she was misnamed. She's proven it twice this year—on dry surfaces. Mustard Call should be the principal danger late. Ginguna has a look with these. . . . NEVER LAST (Mustard Call).

Lovely Story Returns $18

With a good crowd in attendance despite the rain the Sandown race meet got away to a good start this afternoon.

Punters were put into a happy mood when Lovely Story, with Maurice Milne in the saddle, romped home in the first race to return $18 for a $2 win ticket. Waraway was second and Hi-Ma-Dan third. Time for the six and one-half furlongs was 1.22.

The winner paid $6.20 to place and $3.40 to show. Waraway paid $3.50 and $2.60 while Hi-Ma-Dan paid $2.60. The one-two was worth $27.90.

TWINS CLING TO LIFE

TORONTO (CP) — Doctors at the Hospital for Sick Children today successfully separated the McGee siamese twins in an operation that lasted from 9 a.m. until 3:25 p.m.

Hospital Director John T. Law said in a statement at 3:40 p.m.:

- The protruding heart of one of the girls, Crystal Ann, was successfully restored to her chest and the incisions sewn up;
- The heart of her sister, Cheryl Sherry Ann, is still protruding and is covered by a plastic dome prepared in advance. Her heart cannot be restored for the time being because doctors believe such action would be fatal.
- Cheryl Ann is still in the operating room because she has not reacted as well as had been hoped.
- Crystal Ann has been returned to the hospital floor.
- Both girls are awake and alert.

China Power Battle Aimed at Mao Ouster

HONG KONG (UPI)—Powerful "enemies" within the Chinese Communist Party are plotting the overthrow of Mao Tse-Tung, the official magazine of the central committee said today.

It indicated Red China was in the throes of a titanic power struggle with Mao's purge of his opponents far from over.

MAO
. . . powerful 'enemies'

The authoritative publication Red Flag repeatedly defined the "enemies" of Mao and his apparent heir, Defence Marshal Lin Piao, as "including party-holders in the highest posts."

They were not named, however.

Observers here said logically this would be the clearest indication yet that President Lin Shao-Chi and those closest to him are leaders in the struggle for power being waged in mainland China.

Lin was regarded for years as Mao's heir-apparent and his recent downgrading in favor of Lin Piao appeared to support this thesis.

The editorial was pub;ished in Peking newspapers and relayed by Radio Peking in domestic broadcasts monitored in Hong Kong.

Observers here said the editorial indicated that the youthful Red Guard movement had failed to intimidate elements within the party which had voiced opposition to some of Mao's policies.

(Soviet newspapers today carried denunciations of Mao and his "cultural revolution" by the British, Spanish, Czech and Bulgarian Communist parties. The British charged the campaign was aimed at the "deification" of Mao and wiping out opposition to his "fanatical, anti-Soviet" policy.)

HIGHEST LEVEL

The editorial in effect was an admission by Mao and Lin Piao that they still faced powerful and dangerous opposition.

Observers said it also made clearer than ever that the power struggle began at the highest party levels and obviously goes down to the rice roots.

Swim Try Fails

DOVER, Eng. (AP) — Mary Margaret Revell, 25, formerly of Detroit, Mich., but now a London resident, failed a fifth time today to swim the English Channel. She suffered a cramp after making only four miles.

Brabham Winner

CULTON PARK, Eng. (AP)—Jack Brabham, veteran Australian triple world champion Grand Prix driver, cruised to a resounding victory in the International Gold Cup auto race today, continuing his domination of Formula One races this year.

Driving his own Repco Brabham, he covered the 110 miles in 1:06:14.2, at an average speed of 100.04 m.p.h.

Fishboat Seized

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The 68-foot fishing vessel Misty Moon of Vancouver was seized by the U.S. Coast Guard off the Aleutian Islands Friday and charged with fishing within U.S. territorial waters and in violation of the U.S.-Canadian halibut fishing convention.

Crime Increase

VANCOUVER (CP) — The number of murders, attempted murders and rape cases doubled in 1965 compared with the previous year, Police Chief Ralph Booth said in his annual report.

There were 18 murders or attempted murders in 1965, up from eight in 1964. Rape and attempted rape jumped to 47 from 24.

50,000 Evacuated

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP)—Nearly 50,000 persons have been evacuated from a section of this city flooded by 48 hours of rain totalling 12 inches.

Unions Hint CBC Strike

Reject Wage Award

TORONTO (CP)—Cameramen and other technicians may vote early next week to strike against the CBC and disrupt television broadcasting.

Spokesmen for the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians said Friday night their 1,785 members likely would reject the majority wage recommendation of a conciliation board.

The walkout could hit CBC production centres across the country as early as next Friday—seven days after release of the report.

The board proposed three wage increases of 7½ per cent with the first retroactive to Jan. 1 and the last coming Oct. 1, 1967. The union nominee to the board filed a separate report urging a three-part wage increase totalling 28½ per cent over two years.

A CBC spokesman said the corporation had accepted the board's proposal.

The corporation is negotiating with four other unions: the Canadian Wire Service Guild, representing newsmen; International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees; Association of Radio and Television Employees of Canada, representing announcers and clerical workers; and the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists.

All four unions say they will not cross NABET picket lines if a strike is called.

VENERABLE BUDDHIST WOULD HALT REVOLT

SAIGON (Reuters) — Influential Buddhist monk Thich (venerable) Tham Chau today called for a temporary suspension of the Buddhist campaign against the South Vietnamese government.

THICH
. . . church weakened

Tam Chau said in an interview that the struggle against the Saigon regime should be halted until a national Buddhist conference could be called to discuss the unified church's relations with the country's rulers.

Tam Chau said the failure of the Buddhist anti-government campaign this spring had weakened the church and he hoped "there will be a reconciliation between the government and the Buddhist church."

Arms Buildup Worries Kenya

LONDON (AP)—Vice - President Joseph Murumbi of Kenya says a Soviet arms buildup in northeast Africa threatens a stranglehold on the Suez Canal.

In an interview Friday after the close of the Commonwealth conference, Murumbi said the Russians have recently shipped a large supply of arms into Somalia, the desert republic on Kenya's northern frontier.

"These supplies are far in excess of Somalia's internal needs," he asserted. "It is obvious they are going to use them."

"The real danger," he said, "is that the Russians will establish themselves in the horn of Africa and thus win control of the Aden straits and the canal and place the oil interests of the west in the Arabian gulf in danger."

CANADA VISIT BY LBJ SEEN FOR BIRTHDAY

WASHINGTON (CP)—There are strong suspicions here that President Johnson may make his first formal visit to Canada next year, the country's 100th birthday.

The probable attraction, it is assumed, will be Expo 67 at Montreal where the United States will have a $9,000,000 pavilion.

His two visits to Canada—to British Columbia in 1964 and Campobello, Island in New Brunswick last August—were for hours only.

YOUNGEST CONG PRISONER

Boy, 14, Booby-Trap Expert

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP)—The faces of the prisoners were mirrors of the war in Viet Nam, reflecting innocence, apathy, defiance and fear.

They had been captured by U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops driving through The Horseshoe, a Viet Cong stronghold pocked with caves 15 miles south of Da Nang near the seacoast.

The youngest prisoner was 14. His ankles were strapped together, the straps tied to a tent pole.

He stared, wide-eyed and curious, as marines of Charlie Company, 1st Battalion of the 1st Marines went about their work.

"He looks like a schoolboy who got caught playing hookey," a marine said.

The boy had attended school —a Viet Cong demolition school where guerrillas taught him how to make bombs with TNT, how to plant mines, and set up elaborate booby traps.

He was seized by Vietnamese soldiers as he lay submerged in a pond breathing through a reed. At first he denied working with the guerrillas. Then he agreed to lead marines to a cave where he said the Viet Cong had tortured their captives.

LED INTO TRAP

Instead of taking marines to a cave, however, he led them into a mine field he had laid. One marine was wounded when a mine exploded. After more questioning, the boy told of his schooling in explosives and showed the marines where he had placed a dozen mines and booby traps.

Nearby, a 20-year-old prisoner in black shirt and shorts squatted under a tent, his arms bound behind him, and glared at passersby. He accepted a cup of water but refused a cigarette.

Once his lower lip curled as if he might cry but he shook his head and thrust out his chin.

Vietnamese troops had taken him on a leash, back into the area where he had been captured, to see if he would point out any guerrilla caves or mines, He did not co-operate.

A third prisoner, a 45-year-old man, peered at his feet. His information, marines said, had led to the capture of the 20-year-old youth. Yet, the man was believed to have been the Viet Cong security chief in Ha Gia hamlet.

Now, his hands tied and his back turned to the two young prisoners, he inhaled on a cigarette put into his mouth, and rubbed a bare toe against another, appearing as contented as if he just had his morning tea.

Liberals Set Sights On Three Byelections

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Voters in three rural constituencies in Eastern Canada go to the polls Monday to elect new members of Parliament.

A Liberal sweep of the three byelections would bring the minority Pearson government closer to its long-sought Commons majority. Opposition gains, on the other hand, would be a blow to the government's prestige.

It is the government's first test at the polls since the general election of last Nov. 8.

The seats at stake are Burin-Burgeo and Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador in Newfoundland and Nicolet-Yamaska in Quebec's Eastern Townships.

The Newfoundland ridings have elected Liberals by heavy majorities since the province joined Confederation in 1949 Nicolet-Yamaska has been held by Progressive Conservatives since 1957.

Campaigning has been minimal in the sprawling, remote Newfoundland ridings, but a hot five-way fight developed in Nicolet-Yamaska, a dairy farming area.

Liberals dispatched teams of cabinet ministers, senators, MPs and party organizers to the Quebec riding in an all-out bid to wipe out a margin of 5,644 votes piled up by Conservative Clement Vincent in the November general election.

Mr. Vincent resigned his seat last May to run in the Quebec election. Now agriculture minister in the Union Nationale government, he is campaigning hard for the Conservative candidate, along with many Union Nationale supporters.

Long a Liberal seat, Nicolet-Yamaska was captured for the Conservatives in 1957 by the late Paul Comtois, who later became federal mines minister and lieutenant-governor of Quebec. He died in January when fire razed his official residence.

The Liberal candidate, Florian Cote, a 37-year-old farmer active in agricultural organizations, has based his campaign largely on Liberal farm programs and an alleged Conservative split.

Hot Dogs Too Hot To Handle?

By JIM HUME
Times City Hall Reporter

After that hectic swing through the hinterlands of B.C. with NDP leader Robert Strachan the quiet corridors of city hall appear more somnolent than every.

Back at my first meeting in committee room after a month's absence — two weeks holiday and two exhausting weeks in the wake of a hurry-hurry-hurry socialist — the steady but sometimes pontifical pace at "the hall" hadn't changed much.

Hume

A decision to get on with the re-decking of Johnson Street Bridge (cost $61,000) passed through committee without a murmur.

★ ★ ★

A decision on whether council should permit the Victoria Hornets juvenile football team to sell hotdogs at McDonald Park bogged down in a morass of mustard and relish.

It was ever thus. The big ones pose few problems, the little ones seem to cause council members to boggle in their tracks.

I hope the Hornets aren't waiting with bated breath for a council decision. If they are they'll have little wind left to play their games for their questioning letter was received and filed — after a great deal of discussion.

Only Ald. Michael Griffin, father of a gaggle of boys and girls and therefore an expert on hotdogs, was in favor of letting the Hornets peddle their half-time snacks.

For the rest of the public works committee — and for city manager Dennis Young — the hotdog stand posed a serious health problem.

When would they buy the hotdogs? Where would they store them? How would they cook them?

Soft drinks would be fine, hot coffee would be fine, prepackaged sandwiches would be fine. But the lowly weiner nestling between its bun well laced with trimmings, ha, that would be almost as bad as polluting the Gorge or the waters of McCaulay and Clover Points.

And no respecting municipal administration would permit that to happen.

With a month of disuse it might be thought that the crystal ball used from time to time to fearlessly forecast the future has grown a cover of dust.

Not so.

The easy task given the sphere this week was to tell us what the future held for Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior medical health officer for the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health.

A cloudy forecast with, so far as Victoria is concerned, no reading beyond the end of December.

It should be said that if Dr. Whitbread is perturbed about the growing antagonism by Victoria council members towards his administration he is doing a remarkably competent job of covering it up.

But, and we should be polite on this, relations between the medical officer and his senior governing body, are far from amicable.

To date there is little doubt that council's growing concern has been well justified. But there is a shadow of doubt hanging over the latest rap on the knuckles administered Thursday morning.

That was when Dr. Whitbread asked permission to attend the one day health board conference in Penticton. Permission, as reported earlier, was refused almost petulantly.

★ ★ ★

Maybe there is method in the council decision to back Dr. Whitbread into line on small as well as larger issues. But Thursday's decision did smack of "I won't let you play with my ball" particularly when it is remembered that a whole flock of elected officials and city employees will be in Penticton for three days next week attending the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention.

high school principal, is opposed by a prominent Union Nationale party worker, Marc Denoncourt, 40, who is running as an independent.

CREDITISTES SIT OUT

The party vote in Nicolet-Yamaska last Nov. 8 was Conservative 11,734, Liberal 6,090, Creditiste 365 and NDP 210. The Creditistes are not contesting the seat this time, saying it is not worth the effort since it disappears in the redistribution effective at the next general election.

In Burin - Burgeo, only two candidates have entered the race. Don Jamieson, 44, a St. John's broadcasting executive and close friend of Premier Joseph Smallwood, leads the Liberals against Conservative Eric Hiscock, 45-year-old insurance agent.

Mr. Hiscock ran as Social Credit candidate last November and collected 444 votes, compared with 11,350 for Liberal Chesley Carter and 3,373 for a Conservative. Mr. Carter was named to the Senate in July after serving 17 years in the Commons.

In Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador, the NDP is making its debut in Newfoundland federal politics with candidate, Lorne Snell. He is opposed by Liberal Andrew Chatwood and Conservative Thomas Pitcher.

Last November, Liberal Charles Granger trounced Mr. Pitcher by a margin of 12,207 votes. Mr. Granger entered provincial politics last month and now is minister of Labrador affairs.

Standings in the 265-seat Commons: Liberals 128, Conservatives 96, NDP 21, Creditistes 8, Social Credit 5, Independents 3, vacant 4.

The fourth vacancy is Hull, Que., caused by the death of veteran Liberal MP Alexis Caron Aug. 31. No byelection has been called yet.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Rain and gales occurred over most of southwestern B.C. this morning as a disturbance crossed the south coast. The rain has been heaviest along the West Coast of Vancouver Island where Spring Island has had 1.15 inches. However elsewhere on the south coast the rain has been quite light with less than one tenth of an inch in the last 24 hours. Some shower activity is expected in the interior late today as the disturbance moves inland. Behind this weather system the winds will gradually subside in coastal areas and the rain will ease off to scattered showers.

Reeve Bryant Surrenders Election Post

Esquimalt Reeve Ray Bryant has informed the federal government he will be unable to continue as returning officer for Victoria.

"My added responsibilities as reeve of Esquimalt make it impossible for me to carry on as Victoria riding returning officer," Mr. Bryant said today.

"I explained my situation to Ottawa when I was approached to continue in the job."

As a consequence of the major redistribution of federal ridings which became law in July — and will automatically take effect when the next writ for a federal election is issued — appointments must be made of returning officers for all 264 ridings represented in the new house.

Reports from Ottawa indicate that 103 appointments have already been made.

The appointments will likely not be announced until the next general election.

Carvers Honored

A special award has been made to Victoria totem carver Henry Hunt for three totems carved by him and erected on the Route of the Totems.

The award, given for the best of 19 totems, was presented to Mr. Hunt at the unveiling of his third totem at Swartz Bay Thursday.

Other carvers honored in the B.C. Centennial committee-sponsored competition, designed to provide the best examples of the Indian art along the route from Victoria to Kelsey Bay, were Simon Charlie of Duncan and James Sewid of Alert Bay.

Mr. Charlie was recognized for the use of a different technique in his work — the carving of a totem around its entire girth.

Mr. Sewid was honored for marshalling a team of novice carvers to help him in his project.

"Judges in the contest were anthropologist Wilson Duff and Indian artist and elder statesman George Clutesi.

New Accountant For Securities

Earl T. Jewitt has been appointed audit accountant in the B.C. securities branch, Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced Friday.

Mr. Jewitt was formerly comptroller with the Canadian Manufacturers', Association in Toronto. He will do the accounting in the securities office, with particular emphasis on the examining of prospectuses.

10,000 Perish From Starvation

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—More than 10,000 persons starved to death in 35 villages checked between last November and April on the small island of Lombok, figures showed today.

Dr. Arbain Yusuf, provincial health director for the island, said the figures were the result of a detailed study in only 35 of more than 150 villages in the island's famine belt.

Yusuf's report appeared to give new credence to a student claim from the island that more than 29,000 people died in the same period throughout the whole famine belt.

Lombok, with a population of 1,500,000 people, also is seriously hit by disease.

However, only half the island is short of food. The northern part of the island has two crops of rice a year and the people are hoarding it from those starving just a few miles away.

Yusuf already has predicted 100,000 people will be facing starvation by December unless aid comes soon.

By January, he said, 80 per cent of them will be dead unless given help.

Key reason for the starvation of Lombok is the lack of water in the south. The south relies on rain to grow its one crop a year but last winter's rain was light and the crop small. All that food now is nearly gone and there will be no more until next May when the next crop is harvested.

The north, however, gets water from the mountains. But the northerners use it all for their crops and none is turned in to the south.

Grits Drop Vote Rule Protest

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Liberal Association said Thursday it would take no further action on a ruling which disqualified a candidate for missing the election nomination deadline by three minutes.

George Field, Liberal nominee in Yale-Lillooet, originally filed his nomination papers before the 1 p.m. deadline but was told several names were ineligible.

When he returned with the corrected papers, he was told it was three minutes past the deadline by returning officer Ken Moyes who telephoned a jewelry store for the correct time.

president, said: "We're not going to do anything about it now because there's no point to it. We don't think we would have won the riding anyway."

He said the handling of the nomination papers was sloppy because personnel used were volunteers and not professionals.

Kidnapping Admitted

OSLO, Norway (Reuters) — A 22-year-old German arrested here last week in connection with the kidnapping of a four-year-old Canadian girl in Berlin admitted the kidnapping today, police said.

Juergen Henschel of West Berlin pleaded not guilty when arrested, and said his name was not Henschel, but Friedrich Enrich. His identity, however, was confirmed Friday.

Henschel is charged with kidnapping Audrey Klewer of Montreal from her grandfather's home in West Berlin last month.

RAPE SUSPECT EXPECTED TO SURRENDER

Colwood RCMP officers said today they expect a man charged with rape Friday will surrender himself to police shortly.

The charge was laid after a woman told officers she was attacked by her male companion in a car parked off Admirals Road on the Songhees Indian Reserve Thursday night.

The suspect is known to police, a spokesman said today.

MiG DOWNED BY MISSILE NEAR HANOI

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots downed a Communist MiG in one of two dogfights over North Viet Nam Friday, but two American planes were lost in other action over the north, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

The Soviet - built MiG was knocked out of the sky by a heat-seeking Sidewinder missile in an engagement northeast of Hanoi in which three Americans were outnumbered by four MiG-17s. The pilot of the crippled MiG bailed out.

An air force spokesman said the two downed American planes brought to 375 the number lost over North Viet Nam.

Dream Car Object Of Search

Four Victoria men want help to find their hobby.

Their stock car, representing hundreds of hours of work and $800 worth of special equipment was stolen a week ago.

A modified 1950 Meteor coupe, green and blue with a yellow 59 painted on the side, is still missing after being towed from Christie Point Motors, 112 Island Highway last Saturday night.

"It really means a lot to us," said Bill Williams, 23, of 821 Seven Oaks. "If we can't find it, we're out of racing. We can't afford to replace it."

NOT KEY

The car, without headlights or windows and with an oversized front bumper, starts with a switch rather than a key.

"But it would have to have been towed away," said Williams, "if it had been started up it would have made so much noise it would have awakened the whole neighborhood."

Police have had no luck tracing the stolen auto. Williams asked that enyone who can help find it call him at GR 9-2931.

Friday Night Celebrants Face Sad Day

A Friday night on the town brought Saturday morning courtroom appearances for three men charged with driving offences.

George Morgan, 1468 Thurlow, was fined $300 and received a four-month licence suspension when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Court was told Morgan was caught by Saanich police shortly after midnight at Agnes and Blanshard where he was in an argument with three other occupants of his truck.

He told police he had "possiby" 16 beers.

Magistrate J. A. Byers passed the same sentence on a man who went through a stop sign on Vancouver St. at 8:15 p.m. Friday.

Delmar Gossel, 502 Richmond, pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

HIT AND RUN

Sentence on Mervin Kurst, 1111 Oxford, charge with failing to remain at the scene of an accident will be given Friday after an examination of his driving record.

Court was told Kurst hit a car parked on St. Patrick St., but denied being involved in the collision when checked later.

Police said he was intoxicated when questioned at his home.

Kurst, who admitted to an impaired driving conviction last April, today pleaded guilty to hit-and-run.

Reds Expected to Ease UN Peacekeeping Deficit

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Russia and Hungary are expected to make voluntary contributions soon to ease the United Nations peacekeeping deficit, UN informants say.

They anticipated the contributions would be forthcoming in the next week or two, to fulfil vague, general commitments made over a year ago. The UN General Assembly session opens Tuesday.

Eastern European sources expressed belief the contributions would be made before next weekend by Hungarian Foreign Minister Janos Peter and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Some Eastern Europeans said the purpose was to encourage U Thant of Burma to accept a second term as secretary-general and to spotlight the United States as the main barrier to his doing that.

Thant gave notice Sept. 1 that he had decided against a second term. His current term expires Nov. 3. He cited such problems as a UN deficit, poor prospects for future UN peacekeeping activities, lack of universality in UN membership and the threat of a major war over Viet Nam as influencing his decision.

The Soviet bloc and France created the financial deficit by refusing to pay disputed UN General Assembly assessments for peacekeeping purposes. They differ with the majority over how to authorize new operations in that field.

3.3 MILLION TO GAZE ON BENNETT

A painting of Premier Bennett will appear on the front cover of all editions of the Sept. 30 issue of Time magazine.

The world section of this issue of Time which has a circulation of 3,344,000, will be devoted to the four western provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

"Premier Bennett was chosen for the cover picture because he is the most dynamic of the leaders from this region," a Time spokesman said Friday.

Most of the material on Western Canada was gathered by Ed Ogle, chief of Time's bureau in Calgary.

Premier Bennett's portrait was painted by Henry Koerner of Pittsburgh.

"We must, according to the teachings of Mao Tse-tung be very able to distinguish who are our enemies and who are our friends," Red Flag quoted Lin Piao as saying.

UNITE MAJORITY

"We must unite the majority for destroying the bourgeois elements and for completely destroying those power holders who tread the path of capitalism inside the party," Lin Piao said.

"Therefore," Red Flag added, "the revolutionary masses and revolutionary youth must master this primary direction of the current cultural revolutionary struggle."

"One longtime expert of China said it was significant that the editorial referred to the intrigues in the present tense.

"This certainly seems to indicate that they have not been successful in eliminating many important opponents," he said.

STAYING IN HOT WATER
IS A MODERN ESSENTIAL

A constant supply of hot water has become an accepted thing in home, office or factory.

Gone are the days when the supply of hot water vanished when the kitchen stove went out.

Today, streamlined and thermostatically-controlled hot-water tanks make it possible to wash the dishes, take a bath or wash the floor at any hour of the day (or night, if you like bathing after dark).

There are times of course when, to the great alarm of the housewife, the supply fails.

At such times the husband usually has a bit of a tinker (foolishly) with the tank. But eventually, he sighs and calls a plumber.

Why? Because a modern hot-water tank is not just a receptacle for water. It is a complicated bit of equipment which requires skilled attention and a high degree of technical knowledge to understand.

That skill and knowledge is provided by the journeymen mechanics who today make up the vast army of plumbers and pipefitters who keep our homes and communities functioning.
